CAFES HERE ONLY 49 PCT. SANITARY, SURVEY REVEALS

Finding by U. S. and State Health Agencies Based on Visits to 5500 Eating Places.

CITY'S FOOD LAWS HELD INADEQUATE

Bredeck Announces Plan for Sanitation Classes for 50,000 Who Handle Edibles.

Sanitary conditions in St. Louis eating establishments are less than half as good as they should be, a survey by the United States Public Health Service and the Missouri State Department of Health revealed today.

A report of the survey said that local eating places were given a sanitary rating of only 49.21 per cent. "A rating of 90 per cent would represent reasonable and satisfactory compliance" with health standards of the United States Public Health Service and the State Health Department, the report stated.

Health officials said the survey was limited to the approximately 5500 eating and drinking establishments in St. Louis, and did not concern some 4000 other food dealers, such as groceries and markets.

The report said that 77 per cent of the places investigated had insanitary floors; 67 per cent had sanitary deficiencies in storage and display of foods, and 66 per cent had inferior lighting.

The investigators found that 77 per cent of the places did not employ accepted methods of cleaning plates and utensils and 97 per cent of them ignored the proper methods of "disinfection treatment" of dishes and utensils.

It was asserted that present city laws governing food handling are out of date. For example, there is no requirement that a person obtain a permit from the City Health Department before opening an eating place, it was pointed out.

Bredeck Plans Campaign.

Dr. Joseph F. Bredeck, Health Commissioner, who released the report, said he is now organizing an educational program to teach proper methods of sanitation to the more than 50,000 food handlers in the city—a program recommended in the report. He said the sanitation classes would consist of four hours of instruction to each handler.

Dr. Bredeck added that he plans to have introduced in the Board of Aldermen a bill setting up food sanitation laws similar to those contained in the United States Public Health Service Ordinance and Code Regulating Eating and Drinking Establishments. Provisions of this model law are in

BILL COLLECTOR IN PHONE DUNNING CASE MUM IN COURT

Harry Lee Fitch, a bill collector, charged with disturbing the peace of Leon C. Ivey, 4559B Oakland avenue, by making more than 100 telephone calls in four days last week, said he was too "ill" to testify today when his case came up before Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro, but he watched the proceedings from the adjoining detention room.

Fitch has appealed from two previous fines totaling $900 on similar charges, and his refusal to speak and thus permit identification of his voice today corresponded to his action in the two other cases. Following his arrest yesterday Fitch was identified by Ivey after the latter telephoned the collector at Newstead avenue police station.

Ivey testified that it was Fitch's voice that spoke to him on the telephone 32 times in one 45-minute period last Wednesday, and frequently during the next three days. Judge Catanzaro deferred his decision until April 25 at the request of Fitch's attorney, George McDonald, who said he wished to file a demurrer in support of his contention that a telephone call cannot be construed as peace disturbance.

TWO MILLION MORE VICTORY GARDENS NEEDED THIS YEAR

BOSTON, April 11 (AP).—Saying that "the biggest hurdles on the food front are still before us," Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, declared today there must be an increase in victory gardens in 1944, to assure that no service man or civilian would go hungry.

He said in an address that victory gardeners contributed an estimated 40 per cent of fresh vegetables grown in the United States, but that there had been a complacency in some quarters that indicated a lower rate this year.

WHY CITY HALL CLOCK STOPPED

Fiber Gear Wears Out; Timepiece To Be Repainted.

The big clock above the Twelfth boulevard entrance of City Hall, which stopped Friday night or Saturday for the first time in seven years, will be painted before it is placed in operation again, Ben Hertenstein, assistant superintendent of municipal buildings, said today.

A worn fiber gear wheel caused the clock to stop, Hertenstein said, and while a new wheel is being made, the face of the clock will be painted black and the numerals will be regilded. The clock, operated by compressed air until 1937 when electricity was substituted, should be in operation by the end of this week.

U. S. PAYS SWISS A MILLION

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—United States Minister Leland Harrison handed the Swiss Government a check for one million dollars today as "the first installment" in compensation for damages in the mistake bombing of Schaffhausen by American planes April 1, the Swiss radio said today.

JOSEPH M. DARST IN MAYOR RACE, OFFERS PROGRAM

URGES ADEQUATE AIRPORT SYSTEM

Proposes Slum Clearance, Housing Projects, Rigid Enforcement of Smoke Law.

Joseph M. Darst, who was Director of Public Welfare from 1933 to 1941 under former Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann, announced today that he would seek the Democratic nomination for Mayor.

A Mayor will be chosen in the November election to fill the unexpired term of late Mayor William Dee Becker, who was killed in the glider crash at Lambert-St. Louis Field last Aug. 1. The term will expire next April. The office has been filled in the meantime by Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann by virtue of his presidency of the Board of Aldermen.

Darst's Program.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Darst, a real estate dealer, proposed a program of slum clearance and the construction of housing facilities, the construction of an adequate airport system and rigid enforcement of the smoke elimination program.

He is 54 years old, married, and lives at 4943 Lindell boulevard. He is a graduate of Christian Brothers' College and a former student at St. Louis University. During the first World War, he was First Lieutenant of Company E, 139th Infantry, Thirty-fifth Division. He is a member of the American Legion and Forty-and-Eight.

Darst's statement, in part, follows:

"Many persons who take an active interest in civic betterment have asked me to seek the Democratic nomination for Mayor of St. Louis. In response to their urging, I have decided to become a candidate for that high office.

"Long years of experience in private business and eight years which I served as Director of Public Welfare qualify me to know the problems of our city and intelligently approach their solution. In their solution I would enlist the aid of expert leaders in every field, so that my task may be successfully accomplished. The thoughtful citizen, who is not guided entirely by party affiliation, knows that there is need now for leadership at the City Hall—new, fearless and intelligent leadership.

"No one can point to any important achievement during the last three years of Republican administration that was not planned and almost completed by the previous Democratic administration. The present administration has not even formulated any definite plan for specific improvements.

Democratic Accomplishments.

"It should be recalled that eight years of Democratic administration of the affairs of our city gave St. Louis new vitality and a real uplift. Far-reaching and substantial benefits that required intelligence in planning and courage in execution were achieved—smoke elimination, new plazas, parks and playgrounds, a well-rounded welfare program including more and better health and hospital facilities, and civil service, to name but a few of them.

"The present Republican administration came into power on the strength of extravagant promises that have not been fulfilled. It has broken faith with the electorate in almost every detail. It was going to repeal the cigarette tax. It was going to reduce the budget. In spite of promises the budget is greater than ever, notwithstanding protests of the Comptroller. Its administra-

WATCHMAN TELLS OF 'GREAT FLASH'

Discovered Flames Half-Hour Later — Food Loss Put at $50,000, Building $25,000.

Schenberg's Market, Inc., 3722-26 South Grand boulevard, one of the largest food concerns in South St. Louis, was destroyed today by fire which was believed to have been caused by lightning and which blazed for nearly four hours before it was brought under control. Two firemen were injured, one of them seriously.

Charles Chene, 3419 Winnebago street, company night watchman, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he was in front of the building at midnight when he was "blinded by a great flash of light." The flash appeared to come from behind the building. About 30 minutes later he noticed smoke breaking from the back of the building, and turned in an alarm.

Fire Chief Frank Egenriether estimated damage at $60,000, of which $25,000 represented damage to the large one-story brick building. Sam Schenberg, a vice-president of the concern, placed total damage at between $75,000 and $100,000. He said fire, smoke or water had damaged or ruined food valued at $50,000.

Street Cars Blocked.

Streams of water poured on the fire left the street in front of the market awash. In the water floated cans of food, pieces of fruit and bunches of vegetables. Despite the late hour, a large crowd of spectators gathered on the boulevard, splashing back and forth through the flood of water and debris. Street car traffic was blocked for about an hour until hose lines were bridged.

Oscar Voepel, 4469 Osceola street, a member of Engine Co. 38, was overcome by smoke and suffered a severe back injury. He was taken to City Hospital. Capt. Otto Brexler, 5545 Devonshire avenue, of Engine Co. 6, suffered a sprained finger, but returned to the fire after being treated at the hospital.

Three alarms were turned in. Firemen found the rear of the place ablaze when they arrived. In a few minutes the flames had swept through the entire building. Firemen were handicapped by the fact the building was equipped with a double roof, making it difficult to reach the fire that was roaring through the enclosed space.

Flames 100 Feet High.

For a time the fire threatened the J. & R. Motor Supply Co. building next door at 3730 South Grand. Smoke and water caused some slight damage to that building.

Egenreither said the cause of the fire could not be immediately determined. Schenberg said the fire apparently originated in a lunchroom occupying part of the rear of the building.

Lightning accompanying last night's thunderstorm struck a Fire Department signal circuit wire at Thirty-eighth and Delor streets, temporarily deadening 22 fire alarm boxes scattered over a wide area in Southwest St. Louis. Service was restored after about an hour.

ALDERMAN DUKE'S PAY HELD UP FOR MISSING MEETINGS

The salary of Alderman Edward L. Duke, Republican, of the Twenty-third Ward, was ordered withheld by Comptroller Louis Nolte today, pending a ruling by the City Counselor's office on whether Duke can be docked for meetings of the Board of Aldermen he did not attend during the session from April 1, 1943, until last March 28.

The Comptroller said he had asked the Counselor's office for an interpretation of the provision in the City Charter which calls for any Alderman who misses a sitting of the body without a leave of absence to forfeit $10 of his salary for each absence.

Nolte told George Hartman, clerk of the board, he was withholding Duke's salary after Edgar S. Nicolai, acting president of the board, said yesterday that to his best knowledge Duke was absent from all but six of the 50 meetings during the year. He was not listed as absent in the board's journal, however, nor were any of the other aldermen except Herman Novack, who is in service with the Army.

2000 U. S. PLANES RAID GERMANY

REDS TAKE TWO CRIMEA KEY POINTS

SOVIET MARINES CAPTURE KERCH, RAIL HUB FALLS TO SECOND FORCE

One Unit Pushes 19 Miles Into Peninsula, Other Advances 20 Miles—Konev 65 Miles in Romania.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—The Soviet communique acknowledged tonight that German infantry and tanks had succeeded in breaking into the Skala trap and joining up with the enemy divisions encircled there.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—Russian troops pressing forward in their reconquest of the Crimea have captured Kerch, ancient town guarding the Strait of Kerch on the east, and Dzhankoi, principal rail junction 15 miles inside the Crimea, Marshal Stalin announced tonight in two orders of the day.

By the capture of Dzhankoi the eastern wing of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Fourth Ukrainian Army outflanked the Ishuny line which the Germans had thrown up at the base of the Perekop isthmus to protect Axis forces cut off in the peninsula last Nov. 1 by the Soviet onslaught through South Russia. Its capture meant a 20-mile advance in one day by the column which had crossed Sivash Bay previously.

Ishany is in the northwestern part of the Crimea. Dzhankoi, in the north central section, is on the railway leading to Sevastopol, naval base 85 miles to the southwest, and another line running from Kerch to Armyansk, captured yesterday, and thence to Perekop.

Soviet Marines Take Kerch.

Stalin's second order of the day revealed that "troops of the maritime front" took the "town and fortress" of Kerch, to which the Germans had clung stubbornly. Kerch was a city of around 35,000 before the war.

Some quarters have estimated the Axis forces in the Crimea as high as 11 divisions, perhaps 100,000 men, but it is probable that many of these have fled by sea.

Stalin said Soviet troops had pressed onward to a depth of 19 miles westward after they had taken Kerch. Thus, with the two drives coming down from the north, the Russians had made a substantial beginning on the reconquest of the Crimea, which they can use for an assault base for their Balkan campaign.

Dzhankoi, 45 miles southeast of Perekop, was heavily fortified, Stalin said. It controls rail traffic southwest to Sevastopol, northwest to Perekop, northeast to Melitopol and southeast to Feodosiya.

The 20-mile advance to Dzhankoi was made through difficult terrain spotted with marshes and lagoons.

Advance in Romania.

Meanwhile, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian Army pressed its drive in Northeastern Romania toward the Hungarian border and Gen. Rodion L. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Army pursued remnants of the German garrison fleeing from captured Odessa.

Konev's troops yesterday crossed the Siretul and Suceava rivers and reached a point less than five miles from the rail junction of Iasi. This drive, which has carried 65 miles inside Romania, captured 180 more localities and smashed to within 15 miles of the

A fresh Russian army, opening a new offensive, has broken through German defenses at the entrance to the Crimean peninsula (1), penetrating to the rail junction of Dzhankoi, and has occupied the important city of Kerch at the eastern tip of the Crimea (2). Other forces are moving west from captured Odessa (3). In the advance into Romania (4), the Red Army has occupied Suceava.

YANKS BOMB NAZI AIRCRAFT PLANTS, BRITISH HIT RAIL HUBS IN FRANCE

English Also Attack 'Very Important' Radar and Signal Equipment Depot of Luftwaffe Near Paris.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—Nearly 2000 American heavy bombers and fighters, following up a record 4000-ton night attack by the Royal Air Force, carried the renewed onslaught against German air defenses through its fourth day today, striking at plane factories at Oschersleben and Bernburg and other targets deep in Germany.

The American force of nearly 1000 bombers and an equal number of fighters returned to England as the R. A. F. was disclosing details of the heaviest attack in the Bomber Command's history. The bulk of last night's attack was borne by 900 heavy bombers which hit five French and Belgian railroad centers. Other Lancasters dropped many four-ton bombs on a "very important" depot said to contain large stores of signal and radar equipment for use of the German Air Force. This depot is at St. Cyr, near Paris.

On March 22 the R. A. F. dropped more than 3300 tons of bombs on Frankfurt, a record weight for any aerial operation up to last night.

Air Fighting Over Reich.

American crewmen made varying reports on the aerial opposition, but they said the weather was good over the targets, permitting visual bombing in most instances. They said the strong fighter escort took "good care" of the Germans.

"It looked to me as if the Germans had their first team — the Goering boys—up today," said Lt. Col. Paul T. Burton, of New York City, a Liberator co-pilot. "They were good—but not good enough and there were not enough of them to stop us."

While the heavy bombers were "The target was open when we got over it and we dropped bombs smack in there," said Lt. Max Helderman, bombardier. "At least 70 enemy fighters came right through our formation one after another. They were the most enemy aircraft I have seen in 17 missions."

"Thirty ME-110s came in on us

HERSHEY LISTS DEFERRABLE JOBS FOR MEN UNDER 26

Those in Occupations Not Included Will Get Early Calls — Ruling on Preprofessionals.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—Selective Service headquarters today announced the official list of critical activities which will rate draft deferments for registrants under 26 years of age.

The list, issued by Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey to state draft directors, covers a considerable catalogue of work which the Government agencies consider vital to winning the war.

The listing boils down to this: If you are a physically-fit nonfarming Selective Service registrant under 26, and your work is not included in the official list, you can expect a quick call to the induction station. If your work is on the list and your employer considers you a key man, he can apply for your deferment from the draft, and get it.

The list did not include coal mining but it was announced that state directors in certain coal-producing areas are being given special authorization to defer individual registrants whose induction would result in "serious curtailment in (coal) production."

Preprofessional students will be deferred only if they can enter a recognized school of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy or theology before July 1.

Students in those professional schools, interns (provided the total period of internship shall not exceed nine months) and undergraduates in certain listed engineering and scientific courses who will graduate before July 1 also will get deferments.

State directors were authorized by telegram to recommend men under 26 for deferment when special forms are filed (form 42 A-

GEN. EISENHOWER TELLS PILOTS BIG JOB ISN'T FAR OFF

Says Men Will Fly From Dawn to Dusk Without Rest in Great Invasion.

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE, England, April 11 (AP).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a group of American fighter pilots today that they soon would be flying from dawn to dusk in a great land, sea and air offensive of Western Europe that would completely crush the Germans.

The supreme Allied commander for the western front invasion said that he would demand of the pilots everything they have, that he would drive them so hard that they would have to forego proper food and sleep for weeks. But he declared emphatically that they would knock the Nazis out.

He made his address during a busy day in which he inspected three United States air bases and presented Distinguished Service Crosses to two ace Mustang pilots and with a brightly draped bottle of Mississippi River water christened a new Flying Fortress bearing his picture and nickname — General Ike.

The medals were awarded to Capt. Don S. Gentile, 23 years old, of Piqua, O., leading American fighter ace in this theater, and Col. Donald J. M. Blakesley, 26, Fairport Harbor, O., commander of Gentile's fighter group, which has destroyed more German planes than any other group in England.

One of his stops was at a Ninth Air Force medium bomber station, where he watched Marauders take off for their third attack in 30 hours against targets in occupied Europe. He climbed into the pilot's seat of one Marauder and congratulated the plane's crew, which has flown more than 50 missions.

STALIN MESSAGE TO BENES PREDICTS CZECHO-SLOVAKIA WILL BE LIBERATED SOON

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).

PREMIER STALIN predicted the early liberation of Czecho-Slovakia in a message to President Eduard Benes of the Czecho-Slovak Government-in-Exile, the Moscow radio said last night.

The message was sent to Benes to thank him for his congratulatory telegram Saturday, following the announcement that Russian and Czecho-Slovak troops had reached the Hungarian-occupied border of Czecho-Slovakia, according to the broadcast, recorded by the United States Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service.

FCC Agents Find Axis Spies' Radio Hidden in Room in Cemetery Grave

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—The RID has taken a place alongside the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a nemesis of Axis agents in the United States.

The RID — Radio Intelligence Division of the Federal Communications Commission—has the job of ridding the air of radio messages from Axis spies in this country to submarines and the homeland.

And it is doing its work so well that such transmissions have been cut almost to zero, James Lawrence Fly, FCC chairman, said last night. He revealed the work of this little publicized Government arm in speaking at the first television premiere of a motion picture, a two-reeler entitled "Patrolling the Ether."

It showed how the RID agents tracked down an Axis radio transmission room hidden in a cemetery grave as a typical example of the type of thing the agents are up against.

"Today, the spy can use shortwave transmitters which are so compact they can be hidden in hotel rooms, garages or automobiles without attracting attention, yet so powerful they can throw a signal across the Atlantic," said Fly.

The RID men, operating long-range detectors, narrow the source of the signal down to a radius of 10 miles. Agents rushing into that area with smaller detectors, some pocket-size, locate the source precisely and capture the spies.

One transmitter was uncovered in the German embassy in Washington two days after Pearl Harbor, before it even had time to contact Germany, he declared.

Men Won't Work Overtime Unless They Can Have Coffee at Machines

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 11 (AP).—Several thousand workers at the Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyard are refusing to work overtime in protest against what they describe as a company order prohibiting coffee-drinking on the job.

Thomas J. Flaherty, president of Local 15, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, CIO, said the night shift stopped work at 3:30 a. m. and did not work the normal two hours overtime. He said the day workers, who refused to stay overtime yesterday, would do so again today unless the company granted them permission to drink coffee on the job.

The local president said the men customarily drank coffee at their machines after their regular eight hour shift, but that it did not interfere with their work.

Max L. Brown, spokesman for the company, said the union contract made no provision for such action but the management had tolerated it until the men began ordering sandwiches and cake as well, and losing as much as 20 minutes of time for which they were getting overtime pay.

Flaherty said the Navy and the War Production Board had promised steps to settle the difference.

Today's War News

LONDON—Great force of American planes, estimated at 1000 bombers and as many fighters, attacks German airplane plants at Oschersleben and Bernberg following night raid in which R. A. F. dropped record load of 4000 tons of bombs on railway centers in France and Belgium and radar equipment depot near Paris.

MOSCOW—Russian troops driving into Crimea from north capture rail junction of Dzhankoi, 15 miles inside peninsula; other forces take Kerch in attack from east; Marshal Konev's Army 65 miles inside Romania after taking 180 more localities; other Soviet forces pursuing remnants of Nazi garrison fleeing from captured Odessa.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples.—Italian troops on Mt. Marrone beat off German attacks, capture first Nazi prisoner; American and British forces in Anzio beachhead sectors engage in patrol clashes with enemy; Allied planes attack German lines of communication and enemy shipping off Dalmatian coast.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific.—Gen. MacArthur announces Japanese have abandoned Gasmata and Cape Hoskins positions on New Britain and are in full retreat toward Rabaul for last stand battle; enemy casualties since start of New Britain campaign put at 10,000, with 40,000 left to defend big base; Hansa Bay and Wewak, in New Guinea, and Woleai atoll, in the Carolines, bombed.

PEARL HARBOR—Navy announces occupation of four more atolls and an island in Marshalls group by U. S. Army forces; Ulul Island, Ponape and other positions in Marshalls bombed.

JAPS IN RETREAT TOWARD RABAUL FOR LAST STAND, MACARTHUR SAYS

Gasmata, Cape Hoskins Abandoned, Communique Asserts—Enemy Losses in New Britain Put at 10,000.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 11 (AP).—American forces control most of New Britain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. The Japanese have abandoned supply and fuel bases at Gasmata and Cape Hoskins and are in full retreat eastward to Rabaul for a last stand.

The Japanese have lost around 10,000 men killed or wounded since American soldiers and Marines opened the New Britain campaign in December with landings at Arawe and Cape Gloucester, MacArthur said.

A headquarters spokesman estimated the loss at one-fifth of the Japanese strength on the island at the start of the campaign, leaving 40,000 for the final fighting around Rabaul, enemy base which has taken thousands of tons of Allied bombs in recent months.

4679 Dead Counted.

Since soldiers of Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth Army landed at Arawe Dec. 15 and the Marines' invasion of Cape Gloucester on the western tip of the island Dec. 26, Japanese casualties have been 232 prisoners and 4679 abandoned dead, with wounds, starvation and disease more than doubling this figure, MacArthur's communique said.

Allied conquests in the Bismarck archipelago in the past few months have cut Japanese supply lines and stranded the enemy troops in New Britain. Rabaul, once a mustering point for enemy forces in the Solomons, has been hammered into near-uselessness by Allied aircraft.

The communique today said 80 tons of bombs were poured on airdromes, supply dumps and gun positions at Rabaul in the latest assault on the base.

Gasmata in U. S. Path.

Gasmata, the base abandoned on the south central coast of the island, was in the path of American soldier patrols operating from Arawe.

Cape Hoskins, on the north central coast, was within reach of a Marine force which captured Talasea March 9 after a leap-frog invasion from Cape Gloucester.

Allied aerial bombing raids from Boeroe Island, northwest of Australia, to Woleai Island in the Caroline group were reported in MacArthur's communique. Bombers dropped 408 tons of explosives in the operations Saturday and Sunday.

Australian-manned Catalina planes hit the township and waterfront at Namlea on Boeroe Island and heavy bombers attacked an enemy convoy off the north coast of the island.

Along the New Guinea coast, 69 tons of bombs smashed buildings at Tadji and Pro village around Aitape, and in the Wewak area 128 tons hit buildings, gun positions and bivouac areas. A lugger and seven barges were destroyed or damaged.

Hansa Bay antiaircraft and supply areas received 131 tons of bombs which silenced or destroyed 13 heavy gun positions. One attacking plane was lost there.

ISLAND, 4 ATOLLS IN MARSHALLS TAKEN

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—United States troops have occupied four more atolls and an island in the mid-Pacific Marshall group, raising to 18 the number of atolls occupied there, the Navy reported today.

Occupation of Mejit Island and the atolls—Ailuk, Rongelap, Likiep and Utirik—gave the American forces control of all of the northeastern area of the Marshalls and cut off Japanese garrisons remaining on four atolls in the eastern section of the Marshalls.

The Pacific Fleet announcement indicated no enemy troops were found.

Bombing of Ulul Island, 88 miles northwest of Truk, and continuation of bombing attacks on enemy-held positions in the Marshalls and at Ponape also was reported.

Canadian Air Vice-Marshal Dies.

OTTAWA, April 11 (AP).—Air Vice-Marshal Walter R. Kenny, air attache for Canada in Washington, died today. He had been in the Royal Canadian Air Force 23 years and held the Distinguished Flying Cross. He was 59 years old.

OFFER TO REPUDIATE UNION FOR PAY RISE RULED UNFAIR

Supreme Court Also Holds That Company Must Bargain Even If Labor Group Loses Its Majority.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—The Supreme Court voted 7 to 2 yesterday that it is an unfair labor practice for a company to accept an offer of its employes to repudiate representation by a labor union, provided the company would give them an increase in pay.

The board, in an order upheld by the United States Circuit Court at New York, had directed the Medo Photo Supply Corporation of New York to bargain collectively with AFL Photo Employes' Union, Local 21,814.

Medo contended that after preliminary negotiations with the union, the employes said they were dissatisfied with the union and asked the company to deal with them directly.

The Supreme Court also upheld a board order directing another company to bargain with a union which no longer represented a majority of the firm's employes.

Justice Black delivered the 8-to-0 opinion, stating that the bargaining relationship, once rightfully established, "must be permitted to exist and function for a reasonable period of time in which it can be given a fair chance to succeed." Chief Justice Stone took no part in the decision.

The board's order was issued after it ruled that the Franks Bros. Co., Lawrence, Mass., had interfered with the self-organization of its employes and had refused to bargain with the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, which at once time had been designated by a majority of the workers.

Justice Black's opinion said the board "might well think' that if it did not adopt this type of remedy, "recalcitrant employers might be able, by continued oppostiion to union members, indefinitely to postpone performance of their statutory obligation."

After a bargaining relationship has been given a fair chance to succeed, Justice Black said, the board may take cognizance of changed situations which might call for a different bargaining setup.

NAPLES CONFERENCE ON KING'S RETIREMENT

NAPLES, April 11 (AP).—Ranking Allied officials were reported reliably today to be discussing the possible retirement of King Vittorio Emanuele at a conference near the King's villa.

It was understood that at least some of the officials at the meeting had talked to the King.

The retirement of the King through the transfer of his powers to Crown Prince Umberto as his lieutenant has been proposed by Italian political leaders as a condition for the formation of a coalition war cabinet.

RUSSIANS TAKE TWO KEY POINTS IN CRIMEA DRIVE

Deepest penetration reported in this sector was at Solca, 19 miles northwest of Suceava and 35 or 50 miles from Transylvania, Konev's right wing struck westward along the Darmenesti-Budapest railway toward the Carpathian mountains and captured Radauti, one of the largest cities in Bucovina.

Drive Into the Crimea.

The new offensive in the Crimea was first announced yesterday by the Soviet high command, which said Tolbukhin's forces had cracked the German defenses on the Perekop Isthmus and farther east had crossed to the southern shore of Sivash Bay. It said in two days Tolbukhin's troops advanced 12 miles, killing 5500 enemy troops and capturing another 1000.

(Istanbul dispatches quoted a traveler from Romania as saying the Germans had rushed a score of pocket submarines to Varna and Costanta, apparently to protect convoys of small boats engaged in evacuating Axis troops from the Crimea.)

Announcement of the Crimea offensive followed only a few hours after the capture of Odessa, 50 miles to the west, the Germans' only other Black Sea port of any significance on Soviet territory. Should the Crimea be neutralized or retaken, the Nazis would have only Constanta, in Romania, which already is within range of hardhitting Soviet medium bombers, and Varna and Burgas in Bulgaria.

The Russians rolled on after remnants of the Odessa garrison, hoping to crush a large segment of the German force. One Soviet column yesterday took Alexandrogilf, six miles from Ovidiopol, as the Reds sought to annihilate the Nazi remnants along the coast. At Ovidiopol, end of an 18-mile railway from Odessa, the Germans must cross the six-mile-wide Dnestr Estuary by ferry or in small boats.

The Russians reported that in the Skala trap above the Middle Dnestr River, 1500 more enemy troops were wiped out yesterday, increasing to 20,400 the announced total of Germans killed there in the last seven days.

There still was no mention by the Soviet command of the progres of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First Ukrainian Army, which reached the Czecho-Slovakian frontier Saturday in the southeastern part of old Poland.

Charlie Chaplin Ill With Flu.

LOS ANGELES, April 11 (AP).—Arguments on demurrers to indictments accusing Charlie Chaplin and six others of conspiring to deprive 24-year-old Joan Berry of her civil rights were postponed today until April 26. The comedian was not in court, and his attorney, Jerry Giesler, said he is seriously ill with influenza.

AXIS CHIEFS REPORTED CALLED IN BY HITLER

Japan to Be Asked What Aid It Can Give Now, Bern Paper Says.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—Adolf Hitler has summoned a conference of Axis powers at which Japan will be asked what "immediate effective assistance it is able to offer Germany," the Bern newspaper Der Bund said today in an article reported to Reuters.

Other topics on the agenda were listed as:

1. Organization of the total mobilization of human and material reserves of all European countries.

2. Examination whether the German army can withdraw troops from France, Norway, Italy, Croatia, Holland and Denmark for use on other fronts.

Those called to Berchtesgaden, the article said, included Mussolini, the Japanese Ambassador to Berlin and several of Hitler's puppet premiers, including Antonescu of Romania, Laval of France, Quisling of Norway, Pavelic of Croatia and Hacha of Bohemia and Maravia.

WAR PLANT STRIKE ENDS PENDING CONFERENCE

Workers today resumed production of demolition bombs at plant No. 3 of the Midwest Piping & Supply Co., 1450 South Second street, after a one-day work stoppage precipitated by the company's refusal to accept a National Labor Relations Board ruling designating the CIO United Steelworkers of America as bargaining agent.

The protesting employes, estimated at 150 by the company and more than 350 by the union, returned to work at the request of the United States Conciliation Service and the War Labor Board.

Federal Conciliator R. L. Burton arranged for a conference of company and union representatives today. If no agreement is reached at this meeting, the dispute will be referred to the NLRB or the WLB for a final decision. The company, whose plants No. 1 and No. 2 are represented by an AFL bargaining agent, contends the three plants should be considered as a unit and represented by one union.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. AND UNION AGREE ON MOST JOB CLASSES

The arbitration hearing preliminary to signing of a new contract between the Public Service Co. and the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes was recessed late yesterday after company and union representatives stipulated for the record an agreement on job classifications of approximately 90 per cent of the 800 employes in the shop, automotive and material departments.

Spokesman said there was hope of agreement on classifications of track department employes before the hearing is resumed next Monday.

In the stipulation, maintenance workers were divided into seven job classifications, for which the present pay scales range from 58 cents to $1.19 an hour. The union is seeking an over-all wage increase of 30 cents an hour in addition to improvements in working conditions.

13 OF 100 PLANE ENGINES FAULTY, WITNESS ASSERTS

CINCINNATI April 11 (AP).—A court-martial heard today that 13 of 100 airplane engines returned by the Army Air Forces to the Wright Aeronautical Corporation plant in nearby Lockland for reinspection last September might have failed in flight because of defects.

After sharp questioning by defense counsel as to the reliability of tests which showed the engines defective, the prosecution rested and the court granted the defense a continuance until Thursday morning to expedite proceedings.

The figures were given by Melvin Hiller, an A. A. F. supervising inspector at Lockland on his third appearance at the trial of three A. A. F. officers charged with neglect and conspiracy in the inspection of engines produced by Wright.

Last week Hiller testified that the engines—the last of which was produced April 9, 1943, just after a Truman Committee hearing here—were rechecked at the request of Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson. Hiller said today that in addition to the 13 engines which might have failed, 35 were in good condition and 57 of the 100 showed poor inspection.

John C. Taylor, civilian counsel for Maj. William Bruckmann, one of the accused officers, questioned Hiller on whether certain tests applied during reinspection were considered reliable in modern practice and whether they were necessary to proper production. Hiller replied that in his opinion, they should have been used in the production line but that he did not know whether the tests generally were accepted by engineers as reliable.

Taylor asked that three bearings which Hiller described as cracked be produced in court and Hiller replied they were in the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Taylor prepared to have them brought before the tribunal.

Lt. Col. Miles H. Knowles of the Office of the Under Secretary of War earlier testified that Lt. Col. Frank C. Greulich, another accused officer, had told him in a hotel lobby that he had no report on inspection complaints by Millard T. Clark, supervising inspector of the materiel command's central procurement division at Detroit. Clark testified last week that he had given it to Col. Greulich at Greulich's request.

Maj. Walter A. Ryan, former A. A. F. district inspector, is the third officer on trial.

ST. LOUISAN IN AIR RAIDS ON ENEMY SHIPS NEAR BURMA

Sgt. Ora E. Keightley, husband of Mrs. Olive Keightley, 3446 Macklind avenue, now serving as assistant engineer on a B-24 Liberator of the Seventh United States Bombardment Group in India, has participated in some record-breaking raids against Japanese shipping south of Burma, an Associated Press dispatch said.

On one raid of more than 2400 miles round trip, the plane, March Monsoon, hit a large freighter and scored near misses on a tanker and smaller vessel.

"If the Japs want to keep their boats, they'll have to keep them out of range of our big bombers—and if they do that, shipping is not going to help the enemy in Burma," was the comment of Lt. Col. William Delahay, commanding officer of the Seventh.

Sgt. Keightley, 27 years old, is the son of Mrs. Alta Keightley of Rock Island, Ill., and the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wood, Paris, Mo., on whose farm he worked until his enlistment in August, 1939. He transferred to the Army Air Forces about three months before Pearl Harbor and has been overseas since October, 1943. He is the father of a 3-year-old girl.

OFFICER WHO SHOT AT AVILA CAMACHO BEING QUESTIONED

In Grave Condition From Bullet Wound, He Is Attended by Member of Mexican Cabinet.

MEXICO CITY, April 11 (AP).—A young Mexican army lieutenant who attempted to assassinate President Manuel Avila Camacho yesterday was in grave condition today after being woundede last night in a vain dash for freedom.

Military physicians said he was "under questioning" and being attended by Dr. Gustavo Baz, secretary of public health in Avila Camacho's cabinet, in an attempt to save his life.

There was no amplification of an official statement that "several documents from Nazi sources" were found on the assailant.

Fleeing Prisoner Shot.

Immediately after his capture, Lama Rojas was hustled under heavy military guard to the hacienda of Echegaray, a settlement within the Federal District. Three military guards said he was placed in a small cell. When large crowds gathered in the hacienda the prisoner was said to have attempted to escape by overpowering two guards and fleeing into the crowd. A single shot from the rifle of Rafael Solis, an army guard, felled him.

Mexican Senators and Deputies arranged a caucus for today and the Permanent Committee of Congress, which sits in the capital between regular legislative sessions, was reported preparing a call for an extraordinary session. The committee was said to be considering re-establishment of a law making the death penalty mandatory for murder.

Termed "Isolated Incident"

Avila Camacho, who took Mexico into war on the side of the Allies, told reporters this "isolated incident" did not represent "a division of the Mexican family." He appealed for calmness, declaring, "Let us go forward to make stronger the union of the Mexican family."

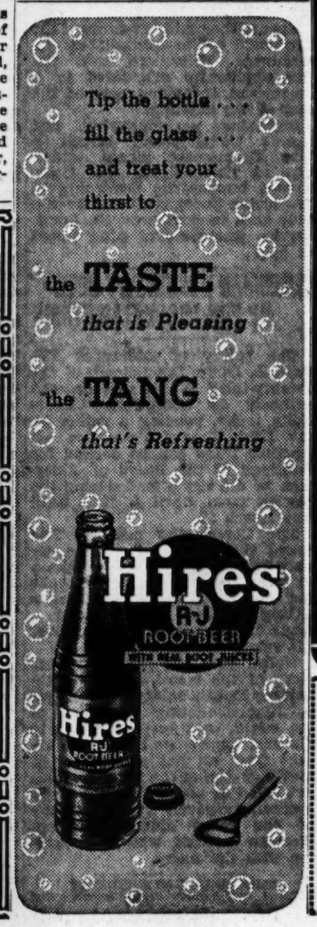

He still wore his bullet-torn coat when he received reporters. The missile penetrated the coat at the right side in front, breast high, and emerged at the left side near the breast pocket.

It was so close a call that there was speculation whether Avila Camacho wore a bullet-proof vest.

There was no immediate explanation why the young officer, a nephew of the late Gen. Samuel C. Rojas, former Mexican air force chief, made the attempt against the president. The official bulletin said he approached Avila Camacho "when he (the president) descended from his automobile in the national palace. He saluted and then fired one shot which missed." Avila Camacho and his aids overpowered him.

Son of a Puebla business man, Lama Rojas served in the military justice department, which now is investigating the incident.

ITALIANS REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS AT MT. MARRONE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 11 (AP).—Italian troops holding Mount Marrone, mile-high peak 15 miles northeast of Cassino, have repulsed small German thrusts at two points, killing seven of the enemy and taking one prisoner—the first announced capture of a Nazi by the new army of liberated Italy.

An American ambush patrol on the Anzio beachhead, meanwhile, trapped a six-man German patrol, three miles west of Littoria, killing three and wounding two. British troops two miles southeast of Carroceto on the other side of the beachhead drove off a German platoon with casualties, and other Nazi attempts at infiltration in that sector were repulsed.

(The German-controlled Vichy radio said today that American reinforcements had been landed at the Fifth Army's Anzio beachhead below Rome and declared another Allied offensive in this sector seemed imminent.)

As shelling and patrol clashes continued along the main Fifth Army front, a headquarters commentator said recent German replacements in Italy have included soldiers who lost some of their toes as a result of frostbite on the Russian front.

It was disclosed officially that American troops are in the Allied line along the Garigliano River, a sector held earlier by British units of the Fifth Army.

The Navy announced that a United States destroyer bombarded German positions around the beachhead Sunday and that an American minesweeper on patrol off Anzio shot down a Junkers 88 Saturday night.

LEHMAN'S ADOPTED SON KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE, England, April 11 (AP).—Lt. Peter Lehman, adopted son of former New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, was killed in an accident several days ago in acrobatic maneuvers in a fighter plane over his home base, it was learned today.

Lt. Lehman was 26 years old. He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force Sept. 22, 1941, after he had been turned down by the American Air Force because he was married. His wife and two children survive him.

Ex-Gov. Lehman, head of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, returned to New York last night from the Middle East. Suffering from a knee joint fracture sustained on his trip, he entered a hospital.

MAJ. GERALD JOHNSON

ANOTHER U. S. ACE LOST ON MISSION WITH MAJ. MAHURIN

Maj. Gerald Johnson, 18-Plane Victor, Lost in March 27 Action.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—Two of the leading American aces in this theater, Maj. Walker Mahurin, who downed 21 Nazi planes, and Maj. Gerald Johnson, credited with 18, are missing in action, both apparently lost on the same mission March 27.

The circumstances of their last flights were not disclosed officially, but both were in Col. Hubert Zumke's "Wolf Pack" Thunderbolt fighter group.

Mahurin, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was the third ranking United States ace in the European theater when he was lost, trailing Capt. Don S. Gentile, Piqua, O., and Capt. Robert S. Johnson, Lawton, Ok., who at that time were tied with 22 kills each. Since then Gentile has claimed 30 planes with 27 so far confirmed, and Capt. Johnson has bagged one additional.

Maj. Johnson, from Owenton, Ky., and Capt. Johnson were in the same fighter group.

SWEDES DOWN NAZI PLANE

Five United States Bombers Land in Neutral Country.

STOCKHOLM, April 11 (AP).—A German war plane was shot down by Swedish antiaircraft fire over Southern Sweden today, and crashed in flames, killing the crew.

Five American heavy bombers made forced landings in Sweden today and six crewmen parachuted from another United States plane, the Aftonbladet reported. Since Sunday 15 American bombers have landed in Sweden.

ALLIES HOLD OFF JAPS AT KOHIMA IN EASTERN INDIA

Repulse Attack Southeast of Imphal, Clash With Enemy in Hills on Edge of Plain.

NEW DELHI, April 11 (AP).—Japanese pressure continues in the Kohima area of eastern India, while farther south Allied troops have clashed with the Japanese in the foothills rimming the Imphal plain and repulsed an attack southeast of Imphal, the Southeast Asia command said today.

Kohima is only 35 miles from the Bengal-Assam railway. A communique yesterday said defending British and Indian troops threw back a strong Japanese attack that penetrated the town's outer ring of fortifications, killing 50 and taking prisoners. The communique said the enemy penetration was "eliminated."

Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal, has been under Japanese assault since last Friday. Dispatches said the motor highway between Kohima and Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam railway still was firmly in Allied possession and that supplies were moving over it for the defenders of Kohima. The road south from Kohima to Imphal was cut by the Japanese more than a week ago.

Allied patrols struck out against enemy units laying siege to the Imphal plain. They ambushed the Japanese near the Tiddim road and inflicted casualties in a number of clashes in the foothills northeast of the plain, the communique said.

In Northern Burma, Chinese forces driving down the Mogaung valley area captured Wakawng, six miles south of Shaduzup, which had been seized by American troops.

APPEAL EXPECTED IN COURT'S AWARD OF SEVER BEQUEST

Chicago Judge Gives It to St. Louis U.; Bank, as Trustee, Picks Washington U.

RIGHT OF MAKING CHOICE IN QUESTION

No Issue Between Colleges, Says Washington Head — How Selections Were Made.

Illinois appellate courts probably will decide whether the estimated $36,000 annual income of the $1,250,000 bequest of Henry E. Sever, for establishment of a technological institute in Missouri, shall be paid to St. Louis University, selected as the beneficiary by Superior Judge Joseph A. Graber of Chicago or to Washington University, the choice of the trustee, Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago.

Harry B. Wallace, president of Washington University Corporation, in a statement issued last evening, emphasized that Washington University did not initiate the legal action now pending in Chicago. He said:

"In the matter of the Sever bequest, fortunately there is no issue between Washington University and St. Louis University. The question in issue is solely whether the trustee, under the will, has the right and obligation to make the selection, or whether the Superior Court of Cook County has the power to make the selection.

"On March 31, 1944, the trustee selected Washington University and after notifying the university, filed with the court, on April 4, 1944, a full statement of its reasons for selecting Washington University.

"Four days before the trustee made its selection, the court had announced that it was selecting St. Louis University, in accordance with the recommendation in the majority report of the committee appointed by the court.

Move Waits on Decree.

Judge Graber, who has allowed a 10-day period ending next Saturday for the filing of any further proceedings, said last evening that he intended, after expiration of that time limit, to enter a decree stating that the majority decision of a three-man committee appointed by him, selecting St. Louis University, carries out the conditions of the bequest. His decree, he said, will then be subject to appeal to the Appellate Court of the First Illinois District, Cook County.

Hugh McCulloch, attorney for the Continental Bank, said, after learning of Judge Graber's announcement, that he expected an appeal from the decree, but did not know whether the appeal would be taken by the bank. Washington University is represented by Thomas L. Marshall, Chicago attorney, who said he would not announce his plans until Judge Graber's decree has been entered.

The Rev. Patrick J. Holloran, S. J., president of St. Louis University, was in Chicago yesterday, and was understood to be in consultation with counsel there.

Considerations in Each Choice.

The Continental Bank's report, filed in Superior Court last week, set forth the bank's reason for choosing Washington University as beneficiary of the Sever bequest. The bank cited historical and statistical facts as to Washington University, and stated that it was one of three Missouri institutions listed by the Engineers' Council for Professional Development as having a certified engineering curriculum; the others are the University of Missouri and Rolla School of Mines. Its collections in scientific and technological fields were declared "not to be equaled elsewhere in the State."

Referring to the majority report of two members of Judge Graber's committee, for selecting St. Louis University, the bank's statement said:

"Great weight was given by the Judge's committee to St. Louis University, because it was to create an Institute of Geophysics, which is a very restricted branch of technology; but the bulk of work in technological science is concerned with many fields other than geophysics. The trustee's action is in no way a reflection on the excellence of St. Louis University."

Washington U.'s Cyclotron.

The majority members of Judge Graber's committee, who made the recommendation on which he acted in picking St. Louis University, were Walter P. Murphy, lawyer, and William C. Zingheim, engineer, both of Chicago. The minority member, Mark W. Lowell, who favored selection of either Washington University, Missouri University or the University of Kansas City, is a vice-president of the Continental Bank.

Lowell said he was influenced in favor of Washington University by the fact that the university has, in its engineering department, a cyclotron, or atom-smashing apparatus, which is one of the largest and best of the 15 or more such devices in use in the United States. The 100-ton cyclotron, completed three years ago, cost $60,000 and was the gift of the Rockefeller Foundation. It has extended the range of research in medicine, physics, biology and chemistry.

30 KILLED, 100 HURT IN ARKANSAS STORMS

Tornadoes Strike Near Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Brinkley and Stuttgart.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 11 (AP).—The deaths in the series of tornadoes that struck Arkansas last night had mounted to 30 today, while the injured were more than 100.

The known dead were:

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Martin, Buddy and Bobby Gene Martin and Joyce Rogers, all of Woodson, Pulaski County.

Mrs. Rex Raney, 28 years old, and her two-year-old son, Pine Bluff.

Mrs. Marion Ward, 40, Harrison.

Clarence P. Trice, 72, Mrs. Fred Richenbach, 33; Lula Mae, 4, and Betty Rose Richenbach, 5 months; Mrs. Ralph Schumard, 40, all residing near Stuttgart.

Elzie McCurley and Johnnie Wilson, and the McCurley baby of Shiloh, near Brinkley.

Henry Johnson of Monroe.

The 6-year-old daughter of Will Kennedy of Duncan.

Seven Negroes living near Duncan, and three of Parkin, Cross County, whose names were not available.

Many of the injured were being treated in Little Rock hospitals, while others were under treatment at Pine Bluff and Stuttgart. At least 25 or 30 persons were believed to have been injured in the storm in the Monroe County area.

The tornadoes were followed by heavy rains in most sections. The last was reported near Brinkley at 11:30 p. m.

At least 12 persons were injured when a tornado dipped down four miles north of Pine Bluff. Pine Bluff was partly isolated today, with telephone lines down.

The Woodson community, about 15 miles south of Little Rock on the Pine Bluff highway, apparently was one of the hardest hit spots. At least five inhabitants of the Farm Security Administration project there were killed and many injured.

The stock sheds at the new Harrison stockyards were unroofed and nine houses demolished.

At Magnolia 15 persons were seriously hurt and between 40 and 50 slightly injured when a storm blew down 15 buildings at the camp occupied by conscientious objectors, and damaged outlying homes of the city. The roof was blown from the Magnolia Country Club and the city was without power.

At Camden 10 persons were injured.

RICHMOND HEIGHTS EX-MAYOR PLEADS GUILTY IN THEFT CASE

James Michael Jensen, former Mayor of Richmond Heights, charged in a Federal indictment with the theft of $327 in Government property, entered a plea of guilty before United States District Judge Richard M. Duncan today and was given a suspended sentence.

The Judge explained his decision with the comment that the records in the case and the report of the Probation Officer indicated that no sentence was justified. Jensen recently was under psychiatric observation at Barnes Hospital.

RED SKELTON'S FIANCEE 'UNDOOD' THEIR ENGAGEMENT

Will Wed Wealthy Man, Not Comedian, She Says, Calling Off Marriage.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 11 (AP).—Richard (Red) Skelton, who has gagged his way through several whodunits on the screen, was the co-star today of a mystery of his own—why did he and Model Muriel Morris call off their proposed marriage.

The pair, each 30 years old, took out a license to wed last Thursday, telling reporters they had decided on marriage an hour before. Skelton said they would wed "in a couple of days."

Yesterday Miss Morris said the wedding was off. She told reporters she intended to marry a "fabulously wealthy business man in Mexico City." She described him as a good-humored man, about 31, who telephoned her "many times, constantly."

"Is he a comedian?" she was asked. "No, I should say not," she replied.

Later Miss Morris took back the "other man" story and said she and Skelton had parted by mutual agreement and for no definite reason. Still later she intimated the previous story was correct but said "anything further will have to come from Red."

Meanwhile, Skelton refused any comment beyond, "Anything concerning this will have to come from Miss Morris."

"It looks as though they're deadlocked," said Edna Skelton, the comic's ex-wife, who remains his gag writer and manager, "and I'm determined not to get in the middle."

$119,000 IN OLD TAX LIENS ON MORRIS MULTIN DROPPED

Belated discharges of long-outlawed tax liens against Morris Multin, chain-store liquor dealer, amounting to more than $119,000, were filed yesterday in United States District Court by the Internal Revenue Collector's office. The latest of the liens was filed in 1932, and this one has been outlawed since 1938, under the Federal tax statutes. Most of the other liens date from the 1920s.

In 1934-35, the Government followed a policy of abating the taxes and consequent liens growing out of prohibition law violations. Certificates of release were issued in Multin's case by the Internal Revenue Collector's office here, but Multin appears to have neglected filing his certificates in court at the time. The releases filed yesterday were duplicates of those issued by the Collector's office in former years.

LIQUOR CHARGES DISMISSED

Charges of selling liquor to minors were dismissed yesterday in the cases of Mrs. Sophie Roth, operator of a tavern at 3849 Olive street, and Miss Betty Henrold, a waitress employed there, after Police Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro was informed by police the two minors involved were out of the city and not available as city witnesses.

SNOWPLOWS TRYING TO REACH 32 IN PASS

Woman Uses Screwdriver to Dig Way Out of Avalanche in Rockies.

BERTHOUD PASS, Colo., April 11 (AP).—Snowbound high in the Rockies by an avalanche and heavy snows, 32 persons, including three babies, waited today for their rescue and word concerning a severely injured WAVE officer who was taken down the mountainside in an Army snow buggy.

While huge snowplows chewed their way up the east and west slopes of this 11,314-foot pass, soldiers applied their Arctic training yesterday in carrying supplies to the summit. Cpls. Dick Holmes, Frank Pichini and E. Lopez, ski troopers stationed at nearby Echo Lake, snowshoed in with first-aid supplies. The snowmobile brought 15 cots, food and blankets.

The snowbound party took shelter in the summit lodge Sunday night after a snowslide swept three automobiles off the road and stalled others. One young woman, buried inside her car by eight feet of snow, dug her way upward to safety with a screwdriver.

The WAVE officer, Lt. Helen Barr Durfee of Los Angeles, gamely ignored the pain from a back injury last night while she was strapped to a toboggan, which then was placed in the rear of the Army snow vehicle. The snowmobile traveled six miles down the mountain to an ambulance waiting to carry the officer to a Denver hospital.

Lt. Durfee had been traveling with her fellow recruiter, Lt. Catherine Cockburn, Bethesda, Md., of the Spars. Lt. Cockburn suffered a severe shoulder injury.

Most spectacular was the escape of Edith Foster of Craig, Colo., a schoolteacher. She was driving alone, she said, when "all of a sudden I saw a whole bank of snow come down the mountainside." It engulfed her car, which did not turn over. She was trapped.

She shut off the motor, rolled down a window and with a screwdriver began to dig, moving the displaced snow to the car's interior. She dug until she reached the top of the snow bank.

Mrs. L. J. Kane, formerly of St. Louis, who was a victim of frost bite, said she saw about 30 feet of snow sweep over Miss Foster's car and that she believed it was at least 40 minutes after first cries for help were heard until the teacher's head popped out of the snow.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Kane lived at 6732 Oakland avenue, before moving to Salt Lake City, Utah, last May.

DEMURRER MOVE AT 5 AMMUNITION INSPECTORS' TRIAL

Joint Motion for All Defendants Argued After Government Attorneys Rest Case.

The Government rested its case today against the five former inspection supervisors of the St. Louis Ordnance Plant, who are charged with fraud, sabotage and conspiracy in failing to make the proper inspection of ammunition at the plant on Oct. 16, 1942.

Early session of the trial before United States District Judge George H. Moore was taken up today with arguments for a joint demurrer for all defendants. When the Government finished direct examination yesterday, Maj. James Dunbar Jr., Army inspector, was recalled by John L. Sullivan, a defense attorney, in an effort to show that even if some faulty ammunition was passed by the defendants, the Army in the field has methods of overcoming the resultant difficulties.

Maj. Dunbar had previously testified to the disastrous effects of misfiring cartridges, stressing the importance of a 100 per cent visual inspection of all cartridges as required by the Government's contract with the United States Cartridge Co., which operates the huge plant in Goodfellow boulevard.

Assistant United States District Attorney S. Russell Vandivort has attempted to show in testimony that the defendants, Miro Brda, Amos Bruce Phelps, Paul E. Thaller, Edmund Peter Becker and George J. Wuigk encouraged employes to by-pass this phase of the inspection.

Under cross-examination by Sullivan, Maj. Dunbar said the Army has electrical devices which it uses to eject misfiring cartridges from machine guns in airplanes, but, he added, he does not know how many of these devices are in use and furthermore, his testimony concerned Oct. 16, 1942, the date the Government contends faulty ammunition was passed at the plant.

Miss Lola Moxley, a woman inspector, placed on the stand by Vandivort at the close of the trial yesterday, said Brda had come to her on Oct. 16, 1942, and told her to "quit playing" with the ammunition she was inspecting and "get it packed." The latter expression, she said, means to put cartridges in boxes without inspecting it.

Mrs. Marian Rubleman, also an inspector in building 105, where the Government alleges inspection methods were by-passed, said Brda had instructed her to speed up her inspection, but "I got so mad, I was slower than usual." She also testified that she saw Wuigk nod approval while men inspectors took uninspected ammunition from accumulated piles and put it in boxes on skids marked "inspected."

B. H. STANAGE LEFT $107,058

The inventory of the $107,058 estate of the late Brooks H. Stanage, former assistant traffic manager of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad, who died Feb. 4, was filed in Probate Court at Clayton yesterday.

The estate included the following assets: Notes, $10,000; bonds, $33,879; stocks, $57,487; cash, $3665; goods and chattels, $613, and a stamp collection consisting mostly of Confederate items valued at $1013 were also listed. Mr. Stanage resided at 735 East Big Bend boulevard, Webster Groves.

10,000 to 15,000 Tons of Coke To Be Available for Next Winter

Easing of War Industries' Demand Permits General Use, Mayor Says—Public Urged to Buy Fuel Supply Early.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 tons of smokeless fuel a month, in addition to that being received at present, will become available immediately for general consumption in St. Louis, Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann announced today.

The fuel is coke, manufactured by the Laclede Gas Co., which has not been available for general consumption for the last three years because of the demands by war industries, the Mayor pointed out.

"We had learned," he added, "that the demand from war industries had eased, and the matter of obtaining coke for general consumption was discussed yesterday at a conference between Parker Woods, president of the M. M. Warren Coke Co., distributors of Laclede coke; Roscoe C. Hobbs, chairman of the Citizens Wartime Fuel Committee; James L. Ford Jr., chairman of the Citizens Smoke Elimination Committee, and myself.

"We are happy to report that it looks very likely that we will receive the entire production of Laclede coke for domestic users in St. Louis. This coke is not a new fuel, but has been popular with St. Louisans for 30 years. It is absolutely smokeless under all conditions and is an ideal fuel for any type or size of furnace, although it is not recommended for stoves."

Hobbs, as chairman of the Wartime Fuel Committtee, sent letters today to heads of more than 1100 business houses and industries in St. Louis requesting that they notify their employes to order coal now, "to keep warm next winter."

The letters urged employers to advance money, if necessary, so that their employes could purchase next winter's coal, and it was suggested that a statement be inclosed in pay envelopes with this information: "A coal famine threatens. There will be less coal for everybody during the coming winter."

St. Louis escaped a serious coal shortage last winter because of the active campaign to get consumers to buy their coal ahead of time, and because the winter was not a severe one, Hobbs said.

"But conditions are now much worse than they were last spring," he pointed out. "Increasing labor shortages both at the mines and among truck drivers, plus a greatly increased consumption due to the war, will reduce the supply. Furthermore, the facilities of the railroads are now taxed to the limit in hauling war goods."

A. D. Mason, district manager of motor transport, Office of Defense Transportation, said a plan worked out between representative coal dealers of St. Louis and St. Louis County and the ODT, for conserving transportation, is being submitted to Washington for approval.

Some provisions of the plan are:

Customers should give their dealers at least five days' notice on less than truckload orders, which will enable dealers to consolidate orders destined for the same general neighborhood.

Definite arrangements should be made with the customer to have someone present at the delivery point to accept delivery, thus avoiding call-backs.

Deliveries of less than two tons to one point are highly wasteful, both in equipment and man hours, and should be avoided except in emergencies.

CITY JAIL USES TOKEN MONEY TO CHECK PENNY ANTE GAMES

A new currency system, using tokens instead of cash, is in effect at the City Jail to discourage secret penny ante poker and prevent large cash reserves being built up by prisoners, Warden E. E. Hensley said today.

The fiber tokens are in denominations from one cent to $1, and may be spent at the jail commissary for candy and tobacco. A city ordinance permits jail prisoners to spend up to $1 a day. Hensley said that under the cash system, spare change of inmates showed a tendency to gravitate to the pockets of card sharps. No matter how many chips a prisoner holds now, he can cash them in for a maximum of only $1 on discharge.

HOFFMEISTER TO ASK BOARD TO LOOK INTO LEE'S CHARGES

Appointment of a special Board of Education committee to investigate charges that the board's antipatronage rule has been violated and determine whether a formal Circuit Court inquiry is warranted will be requested by Dr. Rudolph Hofmeister, member of the board, at tonight's board meeting.

A Circuit Court investigation of the charges, which were made by James J. Lee, former Comptroller of the board, has been recommended by the Public Education Association. Dr. Hofmeister said the special committee would conduct a thorough review of patronage evidence, and its recommendation would determine whether the board would petition Circuit Court for a hearing.

A resolution urging the Board of Aldermen to enact legislation prohibiting children less than 16 years old from playing pinball devices was adopted last night by the St. Louis School Patrons Alliance. The group also recommended stricter enforcement of laws prohibiting the sale of obscene magazines and the use of cigarette-vending machines by minors.

MRS. MUENCH OUT OF PRISON AND ON WAY TO ST. LOUIS

Baby Hoax Principal Going to Brother's Jefferson City Home — Plans Divorce.

Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench was released from the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va., early today and boarded a train for St. Louis. She had served six years and nine months of a 10-year sentence for mail fraud in the notorious baby hoax case of the mid-1930s.

The daughter of a Missouri minister and sister of Missouri Supreme Court Judge Ernest M. Tipton, she made no statement concerning her plans, but it had been learned by James V. Bennett, Director of Federal Prisons, that she planned to proceed to the home of her brother at Jefferson City.

Mrs. Muench's attorney, Taylor R. Young, said she had not informed him of her release, but had written to him a week ago repeating her intention to bring divorce action against her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, "at the earliest possible moment."

Dr. Muench, who received an eight-year sentence in the baby hoax case and is now living at his family home in Washington, Mo., has filed a suit for divorce from Mrs. Muench. It has been set for hearing April 26 at Union, Mo.

In a discussion of her husband's divorce action, which she contends he brought in an effort to regain his license to practice medicine, she wrote to Young: "I do not intend to let him divorce me regardless of what offer he makes. God knows I hope I will not remain Mrs. Muench very long as the name has brought me much sorrow and heartaches."

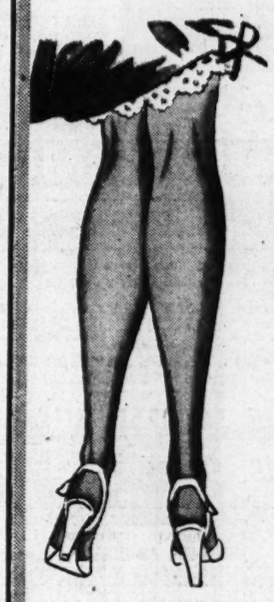

Director Bennett said Mrs. Muench's release from prison at the expiration of her minimum sentence is a conditional action in accordance with the law. She had received 1200 days credit for good behavior, but served an additional 30 days in settlement of a $5000 fine. She will be required to report to the Federal Probation officer here periodically until the expiration of her 10-year sentence in July, 1947.

The baby hoax case against Mrs. Muench grew out of an indictment charging her and others with kidnaping Dr. Issac Dee Kelley, wealthy St. Louis physician. Mrs. Muench obtained a baby from an unmarried mother and in letters to Dr. Marsh Pitzman attempted to persuade him that he was the father of the child, which she said was born to her. Wilfred Jones, attorney and procurer of the baby, is the only confederate in the case still in prison.

3 ST. LOUISANS CITED FOR HEROISM IN AIR

First Lt. Grant Reed Gets D. F. C.—Others From Area Decorated.

First Lt. Grant W. Reed, Marauder bomber pilot stationed in England, has received the Distinguisned Flying Cross for heroism during bombing missions over enemy-occupied Europe, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reed, 5022 Nottingham avenue, have learned. Lt. Reed, 22 years old, who holds the Air Medal and an Oak Leaf Cluster, has been overseas since last September. He entered the service in March, 1942.

Lt. James G. Miller II, pilot of a Flying Fortress based in England, has received his second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for completing 15 missions over Europe, his wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Miller, 126 East Bodley avenue, Kirkwood, has been informed. Lt. Miller, 28, a graduate of Cleveland High School and the Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, has been overseas since last October. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, reside at 6414 Murdock avenue.

Tech. Sgt. Ralph D. Bruns, waist gunner on a Flying Fortress stationed in England, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "meritorious achievement during more than a score of bombing missions over enemy-occupied Europe," it was announced today. Sgt. Bruns, 24, who holds the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters, is the son of Mrs. Margaret Evans, Pacific, Mo., and brother of Mrs. William Steinberg, 632 D street, Webster Groves.

Torpedoman William Edward Cole, was a member of the crew of the submarine Bowfin, which last week was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation, highest honor given a naval unit. Torpedoman Cole, 23, attended Roosevelt High School and was employed as a clerk in a drug store when he enlisted in the Navy in November, 1940. He is the son of Mrs. William E. Cole, 6006 Maple avenue.

MIDNIGHT APRIL 25 DEADLINE FOR FILING IN AUGUST PRIMARY

Tuesday, April 25, at midnight, will be the limit for filing candidacies for nominations for city and state offices, and for members of party committees, in the primary of Aug. 1. The new state voting law, passed by the Legislature in special session last week, fixed the last Tuesday of April as a filing limit, instead of the previous time, 60 days before the primary, or this year June 2.

The offices for which nominations are to be made by both parties are: State representatives, 19 in five city districts; State Senator in the Twenty-ninth, Thirty-first and Thirty-third districts; City reasurer, Coroner, Sheriff, Public Administrator, Circuit Attorney, Judge of Court of Criminal Correction, Division 2; and for unexpired term ending next April, Mayor.

MOTHER SENTENCED TO YEAR FOR ABANDONING BABY SON

Mrs. Dorothy Mary Carter, 20-year-old factory worker, was sentenced to one year in the City Workhouse yesterday by Judge Louis Comerford of the Court of Criminal Correction for abandoning her baby son, six weeks old, last August 15.

Mrs. Carter was charged with failing to call for the infant after leaving him at the home of acquaintances. Juvenile authorities said she abandoned her daughter, two years old, last year under similar circumstances, and she, too, has been placed with foster parents.

Mrs. Carter, who gave the address 3862 Shenandoah avenue, told police her husband, Henry Carter, is with the Army overseas, but that another soldier is the father of her son.

G.O.P. CONVENTION FACES OPPOSITION TO MRS. REMLEY

Those Against National Committeewoman Choose Mrs. Frances O'Meara as Candidate.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Opposition to the re-election of Mrs. Victor N. Remley of Liberty as Republican National Committeewoman, organized within the past week, probably will provide the only display of political manipulation and maneuver at the Republican State Convention at the Municipal Auditorium tomorrow.

Mrs. Frances J. O'Mara of Martinsburg, vice-chairman of the party State committee, seems to have been settled on as the candidate on whom the opposition will base its hopes of defeating Mrs. Remley.

All other questions which might have caused friction in the party have gradually been put aside.

An early campaign to defeat National Committeeman Barak T. Mattingly with Gen. Clifford W. Gaylord, State Adjutant General, collapsed quickly when Mattingly began putting pressure on party leaders throughout the State.

Dewey Indorsement Likely.

The defeat of Wendell Willkie in the Wisconsin primary a week ago and his withdrawal as a candidate for the presidency the following day, has put Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York far out in the lead, and it is expected the Missouri convention, while not specifically instructing the delegates for Dewey, will adopt a strong indorsement of him.

A perfunctory indorsement of Gov. Donnell's administration is to be expected, although for a time there appeared a possibility that candidates running against Donnell for the nomination for United States Senator, might oppose specific approval. However, they are taking the attitude today that they have no objection to a perfunctory indorsement. This may go no farther than a commendation of the record of the Republican Congressmen from Missouri and the Republican state administration.

The opposition to Mrs. Remley's re-election comes principally from some Republican women, who feel the national committeewoman has ignored them in favor of a clique of favorites, and from Mattingly supporters, although it includes a number in the anti-Mattingly faction.

Mattingly has taken no part in organizing the movement against Mrs. Remley. He has, in fact, counseled against it. However, he and Mrs. Remley have not been friendly, Mrs. Remley having taken sides with Charles Ferguson of Willow Springs, former state chairman, and a candidate for the nomination for Governor.

Mrs. Remley favored the re-election of Ferguson to the chairmanship two years ago, and thus opposed the election of Grover Dalton of Poplar Bluff, the Mattingly candidate.

No Slate for Some Delegates.

So far there is no slate of candidates for the four places as delegates at large to the national convention, although A. D. Welsh of St. Louis County, former chairman of the County Board of Election Commissioners, is virtually certain to be one of them.

The party leaders have decided to permit the women to choose one and the Negroes another. A fourth will come from the western part of the State, John T. Opie of Kansas City, a member of the Republican State Committee, and a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, being a probable choice.

Among the Negroes under consideration are Dr. J. R. A. Crossland of St. Joseph, who was Minister to Liberia under the Theodore Roosevelt administration; William A. Morant of St Louis, who was a delegate-at-large to the convention four years ago, and N. A. Sweets of St. Louis.

Leonard Limbaugh of Caruthersville will be temporary chairman of the convention, which will meet at noon, and will deliver the keynote speech.

The preconvention activities of the delegates and camp followers are centered in the Jefferson Hotel. Candidates for the nomination for Governor and United States Senator and several of the candidates for minor State positions have headquarters rooms. That is, those except Gov. Donnell, who has no headquarters, but has announced his will be a handshaking campaign in the hotel lobby.

The convention will be asked to seat the delegates chosen by the Regular Republican Club of the Twenty-sixth Ward instead of those selected by the organization headed by Committeeman James A. Murphy, according to the terms of a resolution unanimously adopted last night at a mass meeting at the Winston Churchill Tea Room, 5475 Cabanne avenue.

After terming the conduct of the March 30 meeting, presided over by Murphy, a "crime against democracy," the resolution called on the state convention "to undo this wrong against our liberties and the good name of the Republican party by seating the delegates legally elected by a great majority of the voters attending the meeting."

Supply Commissioner William R. Orthwein, leading light of the Regular Republican Club, urged the 100 persons attending the meeting to go to ward meetings and "take them apart." He asserted that the only cure for the "ills" of the party in the ward was to elect a committeeman and committeewoman at the August 1 primary election who would "run the affairs of the party in the ward in a decent, lawful manner."

3 IN W. VIRGINIA FOR DEWEY

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 11 (AP).—Three of the 17 candidates for West Virginia delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention announced yesterday their support of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the presidential nomination.

No commitment is necessary under West Virginia law, which provides for uninstructed delegations.

CHARTER GROUP REJECTS CLAUSE ON FAITH HEALING

Statement of Right to Rely on Spiritual Means Opposed as Menacing Public.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—Efforts of the Christian Science Church to obtain a specific constitutional guarantee of a right to rely on faith and prayer for mental and physical healing failed last night when the proposition was defeated in the Constitutional Convention by an overwhelming vote.

The Committee on the Bill of Rights had recommended that the section on religious freedom be amended to include a declaration that "no human authority can control or interfer with the right of any person to rely upon prayer or spiritual means for mental and physical healing." but it was eliminated after extended debate on the ground it might endanger public welfare.

Delegate Franc L. McCluer, president of Westminster College, Fulton, sounded the keynote of opposition when he drew a distinction between freedom of religious belief and freedom of religious practice.

"The Constitution guarantees every man the right to any religious beliefs that his conscience may dictate," he said. "It also guarantees the right to worship or practice his religion in any manner he sees fit, provided those practices are not inconsistent with public health, public safety or public welfare."

Opposed by Medical Men.

The declaration was opposed by the medical profession and by members of the State Board of Eleemosynary Institutions. They contended it would interfere with enforcement of quarantine, vaccination and other health laws and remove from State authorities control of the treatment of Christian Scientists in State mental hospitals.

A compromise provision, asserting that the section should not be construed to justify practices inconsistent with order, peace or safety or the rights of others, was adopted earlier by the convention, but failed to prevent defeat of the faith-healing clause.

During a previous debate on the question, Delegate George W. Kirk of Sikeston charged that the proposed clause was broad enough to legalize "voodooism and other weird religious practices." He charged that occult practitioners in Southeast Missouri were "growing rich by preying upon igorance and superstition."

The section guaranteeing freedom of the press and speech was adopted with a committee-sponsored amendment which added the phrase "by whatever means communicated" to broaden its application to radio and television. This section may be reconsidered later for another amendment requiring radio stations to keep permanent records of their programs.

Meetings Back in Capitol.

The convention, which has been meeting in the State Supreme Court building during the special session of the Legislature, resumed its sessions in the hall of the House today. Thirty rooms of the Governor Hotel rented for offices for delegates during the special session will be given up this week and delegates again will speakuse legislative offices at the capitol.

The convention had been using the outside quarters since the special session was convened March 15 so that its work would not be interrupted. The cost of the extra quarters and furniture rentals for the month was about $3500.

JOSEPH M. DARST IN MAYOR RACE, OFFERS PROGRAM

tion of civil service has been hypocritical. It promised low-cost fuel, to catch the votes of poor citizens who were paying dearly for smoke elimination, beneficial to everybody. . . .

"The time has now come to weigh this administration's record in judgment. . . . We cannot stand still. Failure to progress means decay, and the record proves the complete failure to progress of the present administration.

Full-Time Job.

"If the citizens of St. Louis see fit to elect me as their Mayor, I will devote all of my time to the position. I will not have any time for state politics or ward politics. Instead, I will enter office with definite plans for making our city a better place in which to live and work, and a safer and cleaner place in which to rear and educate our children.

"In proper time I shall offer a detailed platform. . . . Our city must be rehabilitated. Slum areas must be cleared and replaced with modern housing facilities at reasonable rentals. Adequate airports must be built to keep St. Louis second to none in air transportation. Smoke must be eliminated, as it was prior to this administration, without favoritism to any big consumer; but at the same time, smokeless fuel must be provided at a price that all can afford to pay.

"Thus I offer my services to the city in which I was born and reared, hoping the voters may see fit to lect me to serve them as Mayor and co-operate with me in my program for the betterment of St. Louis."

How FOLGER'S COFFEE introduced a neighbor

RICH AROMA OF FOLGER'S COFFEE WAS AN INVITATION TO DROP IN

Mrs. Virginia Reese, of Kansas City, Kansas, tells how Folger's introduced her... and how she introduced Folger's.

Dear Sirs:

While Folger's is sold at most stores, our neighborhood grocer did not carry it so we induced him to stock Folger's. When we prepared our Folger's treat, evidently its rich aroma ascended the stairs of our apartment building and carried a friendly invitation to drop down and try a cup.

At any rate, our upstairs neighbor came down to introduce herself, saying that the delicious fragrance of our coffee was too good to endure longer. Could she please ask the name of our brand. That was one new customer for Folger's. So we believe we introduced a great experience in good taste for many people who trade with our grocer.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Virginia Reese

WHY FOLGER'S MAKES LOYAL FRIENDS

Friendship flourishes over steaming cups of hot rich Folger's Coffee. There's deep pleasure and heart warming cheer in every swallow of this richer, more vigorous flavored coffee from tropical mountains. You taste Nature's lavish goodness in that Folger flavor . . . the rich coffee goodness that only brilliant tropical sunshine and rich volcanic soil and drenching tropical rains can put into coffee.

For the Folger people blend choice coffees from a volcanic mountain region in the tropics so ideal for coffee it's known as the World's Coffee Paradise.

No other coffee in the world has that delicious miracle of flavor you enjoy in Folger's. That's why Folger's Coffee makes friends so fast—and makes such fast friends! There's a mountain of flavor in every spoonful of Folger's!

21 BILLION DOLLARS IN HANDS OF PUBLIC; DOUBLE 1941 TOTAL

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—Americans as a whole have more than twice as much cash in their pockets as they had in the last year of peace.

A Treasury statement yesterday placed money in circulation on March 31 at $21,086,721,952, or $152.96 for every person in the land.

That's $263,136,420, or $1.74 per capita more than a month earlier and more than double the $76.11 average at the end of September, 1941. A year ago the per capita figure was $119.41.

Gentile Says Nazi Pilots Are Tough As Fight Starts, Then Lose Nerve

U. S. Ace Asserts Enemy Apparently Lacks Experienced Flyers — Tells How He Ran Up 30 Victories.

By GLADWIN HILL

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, April 11 (AP).—Capt. Don S. Gentile of Piqua, O., the leading United States Air Force ace in the European war theater, makes the job of mowing down Nazi planes sound as easy as picking birds off a fence.

In an interview he said he believed the Germans — apparently short of experienced fighter pilots —are sending up novices with one veteran to lead them through combat.

The Germans always seem to fly in twos or fours, strung out in a line, and they keep right behind the leader, no matter what happens," said the dark, handsome, 23-year-old Mustang pilot who has destroyed 20 planes in the air, with claims of three more pending, in addition to seven destroyed on the ground.

Capt. Gentile willingly acknowledges his debt to his wing man, Lt. Johnny Godfrey, 21, of Woonsocket, R. I., who has 16 kills himself.

Godfrey flies behind him, either to the right or left. Gentile keeps tab on him by asking every few seconds over the radio phone: "Are you still with me, Johnny? Are you still with me, Johnny?"

Any German flyer who understands English can hear them calmly plotting his doom.

"You break to the starboard," Gentile will call out, "and I'll hesitate and if he follows you around, I'll follow him and we'll have him right between us."

They like to tackle the tail end man in a German fighter formation first—it is hard for him to play the German game of follow-the-leader and see what is coming up behind at the same time.

"If we get him, we tackle the next one and just keep moving up the line," Gentile said. "Sometimes you can pick off all of them right up to the leader before he knows about it."

The individual German pilots are often "pretty violent" at the start of a tangle, he said, but after they are under attack for a few minutes many "seem to panic."

"They'll break off all of a sudden in a dive to get away—like all they wanted to do was get home," he said.

Gentile's favorite position for attack is on the tail of a German —"and a little to one side, to avoid the slip stream."

He says that while some of the flyers aim for the enemy pilot, others just fire at the enemy plane. He always aims for the German's engine, the most vulnerable point, "giving it plenty of deflection." He figures that if the bullets miss the engine they will hit farther back on the plane.

Gentile Entered R. A. F. After U. S. Air Force Rejected Him.

LOS ANGELES, April 11 (AP).—Capt. Don S. Gentile gained his first combat experience as a member of the Royal Air Force because the American Air Force had rejected him.

Hugh C. Barnwell, Gentile's civilian flight instructor, remembers the 23-year-old Piqua (O.) ace as a "crack flyer" even during his training for the R. A. F. at Glendale airport in 1941.

"At that time," Barnwell said, "he was pretty much in the dumps because he couldn't get in our air forces—no college education."

Gentile transferred to the United States Air Force from the R. A. F.

LT. COMDR. VARDAMAN GETS LEGION OF MERIT

Former St. Louisan Commended as Chief Staff Officer in Sicilian Invasion.

Lt. Comdr. James K. Vardaman Jr., former St. Louis banker, has been awarded the Legion of Merit for outstanding service as chief staff officer to the commander of advanced naval bases in the Sicilian invasion, a dispatch from Norfolk, Va., said today.

Comdr. Vardaman, who underwent an operation at Marine Hospital, Kirkwood, last October, for injuries suffered in the Sicilian action, was plans officer and liaison officer between the Army and Navy forces in Sicily. He led a landing party during the invasion, participating in some of the bitterest fighting of the campaign.

At various times, Comdr. Vardaman, 47 years old, was manager of the Eighth Federal Reserve district office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, president of the Tower Grove Bank & Trust Co. and head of the former Vardaman Shoe Co.

Formerly a resident of Kehr's Mill road, near Chesterfield, Comdr. Vardaman was vice-president of the Municipal Opera Association. He was commissioned in the Navy two years ago.

TEN OFFICERS OF EL SALVADOR ARMY EXECUTED

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, April 11 (AP). — Ten Army officers who participated last week in a short-lived uprising against the Government of President Gen. Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez were executed in the police barracks here yesterday.

The revolt against the rule of Gen. Martinez, who has been president of this small Central American republic for 13 years, broke out on Sunday, April 2. An official announcement two days later said it was quickly put down.

Among those executed by decree of the War Council were Gen. Alfonso Marroquin, commander of the First Infantry Regiment, whihc revolted; Col. Tito Calvo, commander of Acajutla port, and Maj. Julio Faustino Sosa, second chief of military aviation.

President Martinez, who declared in a manifesto that a group of civilians headed by Arturo Romero also had participated in the revolt, said it failed because "the people did not back the purposes of the revolution."

(The announcement of the executions did not mention the fate of the civilian group.)

Gen. Martinez was reappointed last Feb. 9 by the Constitutional Assembly for another six-year term.

for a tail attack," said Sft. Theodore A. Peterson, Cadott, Wis., tail gunner.

"I had a ring-side seat when a bunch of Junkers 88s and ME-110s ganged up on the tail of the wing on our right," reported Lt. Theodore R. Lipchiz, New Haven, Conn., navigator. "They swooped in three abreast firing rockets and 20-millimeter shells. It was a terrific attack."

"Fifteen ME-110s, their rockets blazing, roared out of the clouds over the Baltic and broke up to attack the bombers in groups of five, and the attacks were about the hardest pressed I have ever seen," Lt. Harold A. Fitterman of New York City, navigator, said.

over Germany, American Marauder medium bombers were attacking the rail center of Charleroi in Belgium and objectives in Northern France.

R. A. F. Night Attacks.

The Lancasters and Halifaxes making the night assault were disclosed authoritatively to have comprised the largest British air formation ever sent against occupied territory.

The main targets of the R. A. F. night raiders, an Air Ministry communique said, were railway yards at Ghent, Tours, Tergnier, Aulnoye and Laon in Northern France and Belgium.

Squadrons of Mosquito bombers thrust simultaneously into Western Germany to bomb Hannover and objectives in the Ruhr. Mines also were laid in enemy waters during the night operations, from which 22 planes failed to return.

force in 227 cities and 133 counties of 29 states.

Another recommendation contained in the report was that 20 more food inspectors be added to the Health Department. Dr. Bredeck said he had asked for 15 more inspectors and three more clerks, which would increase operating expenses of the department by $27,000 annually.

Milk Law Cited.

In discussing probable improvements in sanitation if proper laws are enacted, the report called attention to the standard milk ordinance of the United States Public Health Service. Before its adoption by St. Louis in 1934, milk here was given a sanitary rating only 53 per cent. Under the milk ordinance, milk has been rated above 90 per cent in sanitation since 1938.

"There is every reason to believe that the same enviable record that St. Louis has achieved in milk sanitation may be also achieved in sanitation in eating establishments," if adequate laws are properly enforced, the report said.

Wind Topples Wall; 6 Killed.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 11 (AP). — Six persons were killed and several others hurt today when a five-story wall was blown onto a bank building by a high wind. The wall was part of a building destroyed by fire two weeks ago.

BELLEVILLE FLYER SHOWS TOOTH OF TIGER HE KILLED

Capt. Arthur W. D. Fitzwater, a 40-year-old pilot of bombers and transport planes in the India-China-Burma area for the last two years, came home yesterday bringing the tooth of a 12-foot tiger he killed there.

"For some time rumors passed around by natives told of the animal prowling around our base," Capt. Fitzwater related. "I decided to try to get him if I could, and took two other soldiers with me to hunt him down. One night we spent six hours in the jungle looking for the man-eater and when I saw a pair of green eyes glaring at me, I pulled the trigger. I told my friends I had shot the tiger, but they only laughed and not being sure, we made no search. Three days later a group of tribesmen came in with the tiger which I had shot."

Capt. Fitzwater is visiting his wife, Mrs. Doris Fitzwater, 210 South Thirty-Seventh street, Belleville. A former engineer for the Illinois Power Co., he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fitzwater of Monticello, Ill. He has received the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross for meritorious performance of duty as a flyer.

Versatile Pilots of Air Transport Command, Who Fly All Over World, Say Worst Weather Is Found in U.S.

They Expect to Double 1943 Total of 110 Million Miles and Delivering of 4 Billion in Aircraft in '44—28,000-Mile Round Trip to India in 8 Days.

By RICHARD L. STOKES
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.

AS casually as St. Louisans chat of Clayton and Webster Groves, the talk in the Officers' Club flickered from Espiritu Santo and Noumea to Surinam, Agra Khartoum, Karachi, Barrackpore and Kunming, for these were pilots of the ferrying division, principal operating echelon of the Air Transport Command, and it is their job to fly the airways of the five continents and seven seas.

In 1943, ferrying division crews flew 110 million miles and delivered four billion dollars worth of aircraft to war theaters and lend-lease Allies. They expect to double both figures in 1944. In operation today they have 100,000 miles of world routes.

Since 1941 the Air Transport Command has grown from a committee of three officers into an organization of more than 85,000 men and women. Of these, more than 40,000 are in the ferrying division. They conduct by far the greatest transportation system in all history.

At the Municipal Airport near Memphis is the headquarters of the Fourth ferrying group, one of the largest of the 15 major branches of the ferrying division in the continental United States. Stationed here are 1600 officers, of whom 1000 are pilots. And 2500 enlisted men. Among them, the pilots fly 150 types of American or United Nations planes. About 15 per cent of the flyers were trained by the Army. The other 85 per cent may be described as civilians in uniform, since they were drawn from the commercial air lines and civilian pilot training schools.

Before the emergency, not a few of these men had never ventured beyond the borders of their own and adjacent states. Today they are global geographers, at home alike in the South Pacific and Alaska, in Greenland and Brazil, in the Caribbean and the Persian Gulf.

4 Principal Theaters.

Outside the continental United States, they function in four principal theaters—Alaska, the South Pacific, the North Atlantic route to the United Kingdom, and the South Atlantic route to India. At Memphis are pilots who know every theater. But the Fourth Ferrying Group specializes in the airway from Miami to Natal, and thence across the South Atlantic and Central Africa to Assam in India.

Their name for this passage is the "Fireball Express." An individual plane accomplishes the round trip of about 28,000 miles in eight days.

No other pilots are required to be so versatile. These ferrymen of the sky navigate freight transport, passenger and combat craft. Lined up on the field were samples of the planes which they drive to water ports in the United States or else deliver across the seas. Among them were four-engined Liberators and Fortresses, medium Maurauder and Mitchell bombers, Curtiss Helldiver and Douglas Dauntless dive bombers, Boston Havoc strafing planes and such ace fighter craft as the Thunderbolt, Mustang and Vengeance.

As a compact bit of deviltry, the prize was taken by the standard new-model B-25 Mitchell, which, in addition to a bomb capacity greater than that of a Fortress, is armed with fourteen 50-caliber machine guns and a 75-millimeter cannon, used as a tank-buster.

Much of Work Lies in U. S.

While the delivery of combat planes to war theaters abroad is the most romantic task of the ferrying division, its largest body of work lies within the United States. The pilots fly new planes from factories to modification centers, and thence to various airfields or ports, they carry personnel, material and mail for domestic War Department agencies. In addition, the ferrying division trains its pilots upward through four grades from small craft to command of four-motored transoceanic transports or bombers.

Finally, the Air Transport Command supervises nine foreign wings, consisting of routes or sections of routes outside the United States. Typical of these are the Pacific, Alaskan, European and India-China wings. The various regional bodies expedite and control air traffic passing through their bases, furnish services and security for transport and ferried aircraft, and provide the crews with housing, messing, briefing, weather and communications service.

Task Mushrooms.

The growth of the Fourth Ferrying Group, and of the division as a whole, is reflected by the fact that the Memphis crews made 495 domestic deliveries of aircraft a month in 1943, while in March of this year the figure was 1321. There used to be a leave of about 10 days between long trips. The rest period has now been reduced to two days. The accident rate is said to be less than a third of that of the air forces in aggregate.

Opportunity offered to ask a pair of the globe-trotting pilots what lesson had most impressed them in their new geographical experience. One reply was that weather over the United States is the worst in the world, and that a steady flyer of the home routes, summer and winter, need not fear the worst which the Aleutians and North Atlantic can offer.

The other said that grass was one of the things he had always taken for granted, and that he was thunderstruck to find huge areas in which it does not grow. "Why," he exclaimed, "in lots of places grass is restricted."

CLARK IN LETTER SAYS, 'DON'T SELL FIFTH ARMY SHORT'

General Writes Father Markoe 'We Have Never Taken Backward Step' in Italy.

A caustic reference to "arm-chair strategists (who) have no comprehension of what Italian mountains and mud and German defenses mean" is contained in a letter from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth Army in Italy, to his friend and former West Point associate, the Rev. John P. Markoe, S. J., assistant pastor of St. Malachy's Church, Clark and Ewing avenues.

"The going is tough and will, of necessity, be slow," Gen. Clark wrote in the letter dated March 24, "but we have never taken a backward step since we invaded Italy and we don't intend to start such a practice after almost seven months of pushing the Boche.

"The situation at the (Anzio) beachhead is firm. The Boche has made three all-out attempts to drive us into the sea and all he has done is lose a prodigious amount of men and materiel. We are having hellish scraps on both Fifth Army fronts but we are confident concerning the future. Don't sell the Fifth Army short."

The letter was a reply to a note of encouragement from Father Markoe, and thanked the priest for his apparent understanding of the "situation over here." Father Markoe was a West Point graduate of 1914, while his brother, Col. Frank Markoe, now serving on the Fifth Army staff, and Gen. Clark were members of the class of 1917.

WHY YANKS SALUTE WHEN PASSING BY ANZIO CEMETERY

'Lot of Good Boys Out There'—No One Suggested Gesture.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

ANZIO BEACHHEAD, April 3 (Delayed) (AP).—Maj. John P. Merrill of Los Angeles was standing in the American cemetery on this beachhead the other day, looking at the rows of white crosses.

Suddenly a motion along the little tree-lined road attracted his attention. A passing soldier had turned and given the cemetery a snappy salute. The major watched the road. Several soldiers passed by. Soon another GI came along. He, too, saluted the cemetery as he went by.

It happened several times before Merrill finally stopped one of the soldiers and asked him if anyone had suggested the salute. The boy said no, it was is own idea. He didn't know anyone else doing it. Quietly the major asked him why he saluted—"just to hear what he said."

"There's a lot of good boys out there," the soldier said simply.

HOSPITALS TO TREAT INVASION CASUALTIES READY IN BRITAIN

Some New Buildings, Many Requisitioned Mansions Supplied with U. S. Equipment and Doctors.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—New buildings furnished with hospital equipment shipped from the United States have sprung up across Britain to care for casualties of the coming invasion of Western Europe.

Large mansions also have been taken over and turned into hospitals. The layout of the big emergency medical program includes gymnasiums and other rehabilitation facilities.

The staffs include doctors and nurses from the United States and Canada as well as English Waafs and Ats trained as nursing orderlies.

Pyle Shares Breakfast of Fried Chicken

Meets Kentuckian Who Has Had Two Tanks Shot From Under Him.

By ERNIE PYLE
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WITH FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD FORCES IN ITALY, April 11.—(By Wireless).

ONE night I bunked in the dugout of Sgt. Bazzel Carter of Walling Creek, Ky., which is just a short way from the famous coal town of Harlan. In fact, Sgt. Carter's brother is a miner there.

Sgt. Carter is a tank commander. He has had two tanks shot out from under him and now is on his third. One was destroyed by bombing, the other by shellfire, but he didn't get a scratch either time.

I came to like Sgt. Carter a great deal. He is the typical man of the hills who doesn't say much until he gets to know you, and even then he talks very quietly and humbly.

Gradually we got acquainted. Sgt. Carter told me about his folks at home and got out pictures of his father and mother and younger brother. He hoped his mother wasn't worrying too much about him.

He told me how he had gone to the University of Kentucky half a semester and then restlessly quit and joined the Army before we were in the war. Now he feels that he didn't do right, because his father had worked so hard to save the money for him to go. But when the war is over he is determined to go on with his schooling.

I hit Sgt. Carter's bailiwick at a propitious time—for me. He had just that day received a box from his mother and in it was a quart mason jar of good old American fried chicken. We heated it on our little Coleman stove and ate it for breakfast. When the word got around that we'd had fried chicken for breakfast we were both the envy of the others and the butt of all "plutocrat" jokes for the day.

Deluge of Candy.

FOR once in my life I was able to reciprocate the sharing of this gift. It's a long story, but it seems that a friend of mine from Indiana University, Stew Butler, manages or owns a candy factory in Chicago which makes a bar called "Old Nick." The day before I left Washington last November to return overseas, Stew called up long-distance to say he was going to send me a box of his candy every week. Never one to refuse anything, I said try it if you want to, although I'll probably never get any of them.

So a couple of months went by and nothing happened and I forgot all about it, and then all of a sudden all this pent-up candy came pouring in, two and three big boxes at a time. Brother, do I have candy! So lately I have been taking it to the front with me a box at a time and passing it around.

I had a box along on this trip, so I gave it to Sgt. Carter and his tank friends, and you should have seen them go for it. We get hard candy and plenty of gumdrops and lifesavers, and sugar, too, but very little chocolate.

(WARNING: Having had experience with Americans' generosity before, let me urge you, too, not to start sending me candy, because very shortly I may be changing location, and it would never reach me.)

Sgt. Carter fares pretty well himself on packages from home. Three are sent him every week, one by his mother, one by his sister and one by his cousin. He gets most of them, too. They don't send fried chicken every time but there is always something to eat.

Sgt. Carter's dugout is just a bare one, with straw on the floor, a tiny electric light in the ceiling and a little shelf he has anchored into the dirt wall. He said that after he got his dugout finished and moved in he discovered a mole burrowing in the wall. So he killed it and skinned it, and the hide is still hanging on a nearby tree.

Earth-Shaking Guns.

THE sergeant sleeps in his overalls, but the dugout was so snug and warm I decided on the luxury of taking off my pants. Even so, I was kept awake a long time by our own guns. Not by the noise, for it was rather muffled down there below ground, but the vibration of the earth was distracting.

When the big "Long Toms," which were almost half a mile away, would go off in battery

De Gaulle's Ouster of Gen. Giraud 'Moral Swindle,' Communists Say

Two Members of French Committee Assert Its Head Broke Pledge to Get Commander's Consent to Move.

By JOSEPH DYNAN

ALGIERS, April 11 (AP).

COMMUNIST spokesmen declared yesterday that the abolition by the French Committee of National Liberation of Gen. Henri Giraud's position as commander-in-chief of French armed forces was a "moral swindle" in which Gen. Charles de Gaulle had broken a pledge to them.

De Gaullist circles maintained official silence on Girauld's bitter rejection of the Easter Sunday order eliminating his position and appointing him Inspector General. It was indicated the De Gaulle-dominated committee might change tactics and merely relieve Giraud as commander-in-chief, since Giraud holds that the abolition of the position was illegal.

Reported still recognizing Giraud as head of the armed forces, Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny called on de Gaulle in an effort to achieve a settlement, a reliable source said.

Communist circles charged that de Gaulle violated a promise made to two new Communist members of the National Committee, Commissioners Francois Billoux and Fernand Grenier, in issuing the Easter day order. These two were reported to have agreed to the change only on condition that Giraud's consent be obtained before publication.

Navy Commissioner Louis Jacquinot was not at the committee meeting when the decision was reached and is threatening to resign, according to these circles.

Giraud himself was reported standing firm in the contention he still is commander, awaiting de Gaulle's reaction to his written protest. De Gaulle, recently named chief of the armed forces and chief of state, holds that Giraud's separate command is now "superfluous."

KNOX SEEKS RULING IN DELAY OF KIMMEL AND SHORT TRIALS

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today he would seek a legal ruling on the postponement of the trials of Maj. Gen. William C. Short and Vice Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, charged with dereliction of duty in connection with the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

He pointed out at a press conference that both men have signed waivers of the Statute of Limitations and said that in his opinion such action made the "effect of any postponement nil."

Several months ago the Navy disclosed that Admiral Thomas Hart had started taking depositions from officers acquainted with the situation at Pearl Harbor immediately prior to the attack.

ARMY DETENTION CAMP RIOT

FORT JACKSON, S. C., April 11 (AP).—Four men were wounded, one seriously, when Army guards used shotguns to break up a riot among prisoners in the rehabilitation center here last week end, the post public relations office disclosed today.

The brief announcement said the rioters hurled coal, damaged property and massed against a guard tower before the guards opened fire. Arrangements were made to return participants in the disturbance to Federal prisons. The center was set up to rehabilitate military prisoners for return to Army units.

WILLKIE SUPPORTER TO TRY TO GET HIM TO BACK DEWEY

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11 (AP).—Rolland B. Marvin, Onondaga County Republican chairman, said today he would try to persuade Wendell L. Willkie to support Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Marvin, who backed Willkie in the latter's successful bid for the Republican nomination in 1940, and stood with him again this year until Willkie withdrew his candidacy after his defeat in the Wisconsin primary election, said in an interview he would see Willkie in New York City tomorrow.

After the Willkie withdrawal, Marvin pledged his "unreserved" support to Dewey. He said today he expected Onondaga's other delegate to the national convention, William Hinds, also would vote for Dewey. This left only one of New York State's 93 delegates unaligned with the Dewey group.

8 Civilians Get WPB Bid to Aid Reconversion

Nelson Sends Telegrams Inviting Them to April 14 Meeting.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP). CHAIRMAN DONALD NELSON has invited eight to 10 prominent civilians to serve on a new top advisory committee with the War Production Board to advise the Government on the return to civilian production, it was learned yesterday.

Nelson's action, disclosed eight weeks after the Baruch-Hancock report urged an immediate start on postwar planning, was reported in some quarters to indicate a partial reorganization of WPB around the new group, to be called the "Advisory Committee on Civilian Policy."

Nelson sent telegrams inviting representatives of labor, management, consumers, banking and finance, public opinion and agriculture to become members of the permanent committee and to attend a first meeting in Washington April 14.

One snag has reportedly developed in the failure to date of Robert M. Gaylord, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, to agree to sit as one of the management representatives. The reason for Gaylord's delay or refusal was not divulged.

Some of the others said to have been invited are Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Presidents William Green and Philip Murray of the AFL and CIO, respectively, and Eugene Meyer, publisher of the Washington Post, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

The committee will have an important part, Nelson's telegrams reportedly said, in the advance planning that must precede the industrial reconversion and restoration of civilian production when Germany collapses.

He said the committee would be expected to guide WPB on the strategies and policies to be pursued in resuming civilian output, as well as the problems of plant shutdowns and unemployment resulting from present and expected curtailments in some fields of arms production.

ORDER ISSUED TO CURTAIL USE OF NAPHTHA IN AUTOS

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—The Petroleum Administration for War took steps yesterday to curb what it termed the spreading use of cleaning naphtha as an automobile fuel in violation of rationing restrictions.

The agency issued a new order providing that consumers and service stations cannot include in their naphtha quota any product which, prior to 1942, was sold as motor fuel.

Acting Administrator Ralph K. Davis said the use of naphtha in automobiles has been on the increase, particularly in the Midwest "where a number of dealers have adopted the practice of including some types of gasoline in the base volume upon which their naphtha quotas are computed."

Vatican Fleet Story Squelched.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—The Berlin radio said today Fascist authorities had confiscated the Rome newspaper La Tribuna for publishing a report that the Vatican was about to acquire a merchant fleet of its own to supply the Vatican and Rome itself with food.

Neutrals' Behavior One of Chief Topics in Stettinius-British Talks

Discussions Under Way on Postwar Frontiers and Atlantic Charter Expected to Clear Path for Decisions.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
The Chicago Daily News—St. Louis Post-Dispatch Special Cable. Copyright, 1944.

LONDON, April 11.

SWEEPING discussions, affecting the current position of the "naughty neutrals," the geographical frontiers of postwar Europe, reinterpretation of the Atlantic Charter and other equally weighty matters, have begun between the members of the American mission headed by Under Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and British Government officials.

It is evident that this mission—first of its kind since beginning of the war—is bent on highly serious and important work and that its lack of a formal agenda will serve to assist rather than hamper it.

Following Secretary of State Cordell Hull's Sunday night speech, the position of neutral states is in the limelight, and before Stettinius leaves it is probable that drastic action will have been taken in regard to several of them. The great offenders are Spain, which continues to send wolfram to Germany; Argentina, which continues to smuggle goods to Germany and entertain Axis spies, and Turkey, which continues to trade with the Axis at the same time that its army is operating with American equipment.

Questions for Decision.

Among questions to be decided by Britain and the United States before further action can be taken are, first, whether the Allies are in a position to furnish Spain with foodstuffs if it stops its wolfram shipments and is, consequently, cut off from Axis supplies, and secondly, whether the United States is prepared to furnish Britain with meat if sanctions are applied to Argentina and shipments from that country stop as a result.

The position of Sweden, another great furnisher of war materials to Germany, is distinctly different but is expected to be reviewed again. Sweden contends, quite correctly, that its trade with Germany has been conducted in full agreement with the Allies and that it has fulfilled its agreements on such key materials as iron ore and ballbearings. It has just announced that iron ore shipments this year are to be reduced to seven million tons against the 10 million last year and against a German request for 11 million this year. Ballbearing shipments are to be reduced by half, whereas the Germans had asked for a 100 per cent increase.

At the same time, the fact remains that the German war industry is nourished by Swedish ore, without which it could really not function. Due to the manpower problem, it would be practically impossible to maintain the German armaments industry on the low-content Lorraine ore which requires about twice as much coal and labor to transform into pig iron as Swedish ore, which runs above 70 per cent iron content.

This fact, plus the more important fact that Germany is now not in a position to react strenuously, indicates that Sweden may be required to take fresh and more drastic decisions.

Postwar Frontiers.

Postwar European frontiers will be discussed in great detail by the Stettinius mission, one of whose members is Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University and internationally famous geographer, who played a prominent part in settling the frontiers after the last war. It is strictly understood that nothing will be agreed to here which would require the advice and consent of the American Senate, but British and American views can be aired and the way prepared for eventual agreements of the most fundamental importance.

Throughout the conversations the Russians will be informed through their embassy of the subjects being discussed and of any decisions which in the slightest way affect the Soviet Union. Stettinius will see the representatives of other Allied governments, but it is indicated that he will simply do a good job of listening and then reporting what he hears to Washington.

One slight matter which he will consider here is the current status of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, former American ambassador to the smaller Allies, who recently was converted into a Lieutenant Colonel on Supreme Commander in Chief Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's staff and now acts as liaison officer between the supreme headquarters and the countries to which he had been accredited.

Our only representative to these countries now is a charge d'affaires. As it was the United States

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Steps Toward Better Citizenship

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Many citizens of St. Louis who responded to the appeal to attend ward meetings for the election of delegates to the State and district conventions were surprised and shocked by what they saw. Like your thoughtful correspondent E. F. M., they had not realized the complete control which the committeeman holds in his ward. The demonstrations of this control, ranging from smooth-running steam-rollers to gag-rule by a minority, were naturally disillusioning and disheartening.

Voters should realize that the long-established power of the political machine cannot be overcome in a moment. Only the first step was taken by the voters who attended the meetings on March 30. But great good may come of it. Citizens came to realize the domination which they have accepted unknowingly, and it was an important beginning.

But a more important step is to follow. That is concerted action of citizens at large to elect committeemen and committeewomen who will represent them, not exploit them. Committee members are to be elected in all wards of the city next Aug. 1. Those voters who saw the misuse of political power on March 30 should begin at once to get in touch with the leaders in their wards who are interested in good government; to form groups around these leaders; to help them find suitable candidates—not an easy task; to plan vacations so as not to be absent on the day of the primary election; to be sure that their friends and neighbors are registered.

If this is done, a revolution will take place, for the will of the people is more powerful than the will of the politicians if it is geared to action. G. C.

Benefits of the Smoke Law

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I would like to say a few words to those who are opposed to the smoke ordinance.

A few years ago, every morning there was a heavy pall of smoke about the city. There still is smoke, of course, but not as much. This reduction of smoke is due to the fact that we have not been burning fuel that causes all of that smoke, dirt and grime. I think it is better for the health of all St. Louisans to do away with the smoke.

I think that everyone would be proud of a St. Louis that would be free from all smoke, dirt and grime, and of a St. Louis that would be a healthier place to live in. Come on, St. Louis, let's all co-operate. MARY SIMORA.

An Example of Good Will

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

St. Louis experienced another red letter day when people of different races and denominations assembled at the Ambassador Theater for Good Friday services. The Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis is to be commended for its efforts to bring about a better understanding between the races.

Dr. Love, who brought the message, left a challenge with all those who heard him. He said "Christ's cross can only become glory" when individuals, races and nations are willing to surrender their prejudices and hatreds.

Somnambulists in Wisconsin

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The overwhelming vote for Mr. Dewey in the Wisconsin primary leaves me shocked and stunned. It is incredible that a man can receive such support from men and women who have no idea whatsoever of Gov. Dewey's views on foreign and domestic issues. In a year when our country is at a crucial stage, when all America is calling for a sound foreign poicy, it is unbelievable that people will choose a "candidate" who has not even announced himself as seeking the Republican nomination; a man who even now declines to comment on the Wisconsin vote.

Mr. Dewey may have a number of sound thoughts on the problems of today. Perhaps the voters of Wisconsin are intuitive and can already anticipate Mr. Dewey's platform. However, it would seem that the votes in Wisconsin must have been cast by a group of somnambulists led by the lethargic "Old Guard" G. O. P.

Let us hope the type of voting displayed by the Republicans in Wisconsin will not be typical of all G. O. P. votes.

E. B. SEATON.

A Word for the 4-F's

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Since all the talk about the drafting of the 4-F's is rising again, I should like to say a little in behalf of these men. Many are going to be only too glad to be taken into some branch of the service. Then they won't have to be looked on as "one of those 4-F's."

However, many of these boys will be rejected again, and they will have to face the old problem of not being able to participate in any of the battles that make up a war.

I am appealing to the public to think twice before condemning a person for not being in some branch of the service.

So how about it, Mr. and Mrs. America? Remember all our 4-F's aren't laughing because they managed to stay away from the battlefront.

A River Lesson From TVA

The frustration in river development which the Missouri Valley is experiencing, for want of a national water-resources policy, is not an isolated phenomenon.

It might be reasonably supposed that in view of the Government's successful experiment in the Tennessee Valley, at least the more obvious principles which have met the test of practice would be made the subject of national policy, automatically applicable whenever the development of water resources is under consideration.

Yet the same perplexities that bedeviled river development, before TVA provided the answers, are still being allowed to hold back our future —on the Missouri River in the Middle West, on the Colorado River in the Far West, on the Sacramento River in the Pacific Northwest and on the West River in New England.

It is not enough to learn, as the United States Government has done through TVA. What has been learned must be made further applicable and must be applied. In the vast laboratory of the Tennessee Valley, the nation has learned—and should use elsewhere—at least these fundamental facts:

First: that development of a river demands one agency and one plan big enough to do all that needs to be done.

Second: that within the broad framework of action which Congress designs, the decisions to be made are engineering decisions, and should be entrusted to engineers.

Third: that the job must be run by men in shirt-sleeves on the spot, not attemped as a remote-control operation by men in white collars in Washington.

Yet although these principles have been established and should be generally known as the workable way of getting things done, the old perplexities persist—needlessly and harmfully.

Here in the Missouri Valley the making of plans is being frustrated by the multiplicity of agencies working on phases of a single problem —the Army Engineers, the Reclamation Bureau, the Department of Agriculture, the Federal Power Commission—and by the conflict between the states that are interested in irrigation and the states that are interested in flood control.

In the Sacramento Valley, there exists the same tug-of-war between the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau.

On the Colorado River the problem is international—having to do with the distribution of water between the United States and Mexico for irrigation.

On the West River a dispute is raging as to whether flood control and power production are compatible—although the correct answer is purely in the realm of engineering and no amount of lay discussion will contribute a single useful fact.

As Rodney L. Brink wrote in the Christian Science Monitor with reference to the Colorado River dispute: "A fair-share basis can be computed and probably agreed upon by impartial engineers. Elected officials will always represent the selfish interests of their constituents."

When shall we have an end to this fatuous business of letting politicians play at engineering?

The lack of a standard water-resources policy is hindering development of the regions of the United States. It is also hindering development of a foreign policy for natural resources. Until we can solve, at our very doors, such a small-scale problem as sharing the waters of Boulder Reservoir with Mexico, how can we expect to do well with the larger and, in distance, more remote problems involved in making over the world?

A start will have been made, and an auspicious one, whenever Congress adopts a fixed policy toward the development of rivers. The need for it at this moment is very great.

Absenteeism Among the Aldermen

When a member of the Board of Aldermen misses a meeting without a leave of absence, the City Charter provides that he shall forfeit $10 of his $1800 annual salary. That's the rule, but it is disclosed that the penalty has been applied at the recent session to only one member —Herman Novack, in military service for more than a year. Others who don't show up for meetings are just considered present, and the fiction has meant that Alderman Duke gets his full pay, though he appeared at only about six meetings this year, according to Edgar S. Nicolai, acting president of the board.

Mr. Nicolai acknowledges that there has been "loose enforcement" of the rule. It's worse than that. There has been an imposition on the taxpayers, on the members who conscientiously attend meetings regularly and on the Alderman who is a soldier in Italy. It is indeed high time for tighter enforcement of the pay-for-feiture provision, as Mr. Nicolai says, to stop the placing of a premium on aldermanic disregard of duty.

A New Soviet Press Policy

Three of the episodes that have caused concern in the other Allied countries over Russia's course in recent months originated with statements in the Soviet press. These were the rumor of British peace discussions with German emissaries, the attack on Wendell Willkie for his New York Times article on boundary claims and the assault upon Vatican foreign policy.

If an American or a British newspaper had published such articles, there would have been little thought of associating their ideas with the Government, but it was generally understood that the Soviet regime kept its press under such close supervision that anything appearing in it was an official, or at least an officially sanctioned, expression.

This was true for years past, but an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow now reports that it is no longer so. "Editors and writers are now permitted to express their own point of view, it was revealed," the correspondent says. He quotes a Soviet official as saying that Russian writers now are expressing what they think, and that "the Kremlin is too busy at present winning the war to survey every item published in the press." The three articles which perturbed foreign observers were written without any official connection, the reporter says.

If this declaration is accepted on its face, it should go far toward allaying the doubts and fears roused by the three articles. If it turns out to be a shrewd piece of policy-making after the event, it constitutes an official disavowal of the three disturbing articles. In either event, the statement is an encouraging sign for relations between Russia and other countries.

Mr. Hull's Plan

Secretary Hull's plan for a bi-partisan congressional committee on foreign policy is a gesture both of grace and good sense. Our relations with other countries cannot indefinitely be expressed merely through such resolutions as those of Senator Connally and Representative Fulbright. Sooner or later, the fundamental question of policy—whether or not the United States will join with other nations in a world system of collective security—must pass the Senate test of ratification by a two-thirds majority.

As fresh in Washington as the ghost of any great failure is the memory of a proud and desperate Wilson taking to the people themselves the case for internationalism, and still meeting with bitter defeat. This administration, leaning heavily on the Secretary's influence in Congress, does not intend to see American co-operation toward effective peace-keeping once again sabotaged by a little band of bitter-enders.

What November will bring is still in the undealt cards. What the American people want has been expressed in the House of Representatives and in the Senate, and it transcends all political issues. A bi-partisan committee on foreign policy, working closely with the State Department, can best translate the popular demand for workable peace plans on an international scale into practical reality.

What Mr. Hull envisages is a method by which Congress will act as a constitutional collaborator in the making of policy, instead of as a curb on its logical development. It will be an encouragement to those allies who fear an American return to the blind "normalcy" of isolationism. It will be, at home, the application of a sound principle of democracy.

Shoongum

The Algerians have a word for it. They refer to it as shoongum. Chewing gum, that is. They like it, and experience no difficulty in calling for it. The Basic English toward which they appear to be working is not an attenuation of the language of an English-speaking adult, but the complete and unabridged vocabulary of an English-speaking child somewhere between the ages of 2 and 4.

Other words of the complete vocabulary, in case the Algerians are interested, are: Ikeem (ice cream). Chokitmiuk (chocolate milk). Gumdop (gumdrop). Other words may be added to the vocabulary from time to time, but these are really all that matter, in the deliberately-arrived-at judgment of the basic infant.

In Fairness to Australia

Senators Johnson of Colorado, Wilson and Bridges spoke hastily about the Australian Government's decision to withdraw 90,000 men from the Army within the next 12 months.

Long before Pearl Harbor, the Aussies and New Zealanders were into this war up to their eyes—long, too, before it spread to their own front yard. Gens. Wavell, Alexander and Montgomery commanded them in the seesaw battle of North Africa, half the world away from their homeland, and found them the stanchest and bravest of fighting men. The rakish tilt of the Anzac campaign hat, worn with confident arrogance, is familiar to veterans of the Italian venture. These men have fought brilliantly in the New Guinea campaigns, and without due credit in this country.

Despite casualties, 12 per cent of the Australian population of slightly more than 7,000,000 is in the armed forces. On a population basis, this is the equivalent of an American fighting force of 16,000,000 men, or 5,000,000 more than we now have. Yet Australia must base, clothe, feed and supply two armies, her own and ours, and cope with a revolutionary industrialization undreamed of in the '30s.

It takes man power to do the job—men to use plows and lathes, harrows and welding torches. That man power, to bolster a drained labor market, is being withdrawn from the army. The plan is to make the best possible use of veterans who have passed their usefulness in the kind of jungle fighting ahead in the Pacific theater. The move is further justified by the current emphasis on naval strategy, and by the replacement of many withdrawals from the ranks of unskilled workers and draftees who have just come of age.

There is a bloc of careless opinion in this country which seizes upon every opportunity to charge that we are fighting for any and every cause except our own. It is contributed to by the suggestion that Australia is slacking in her job, or that her interests and ours are not identical.

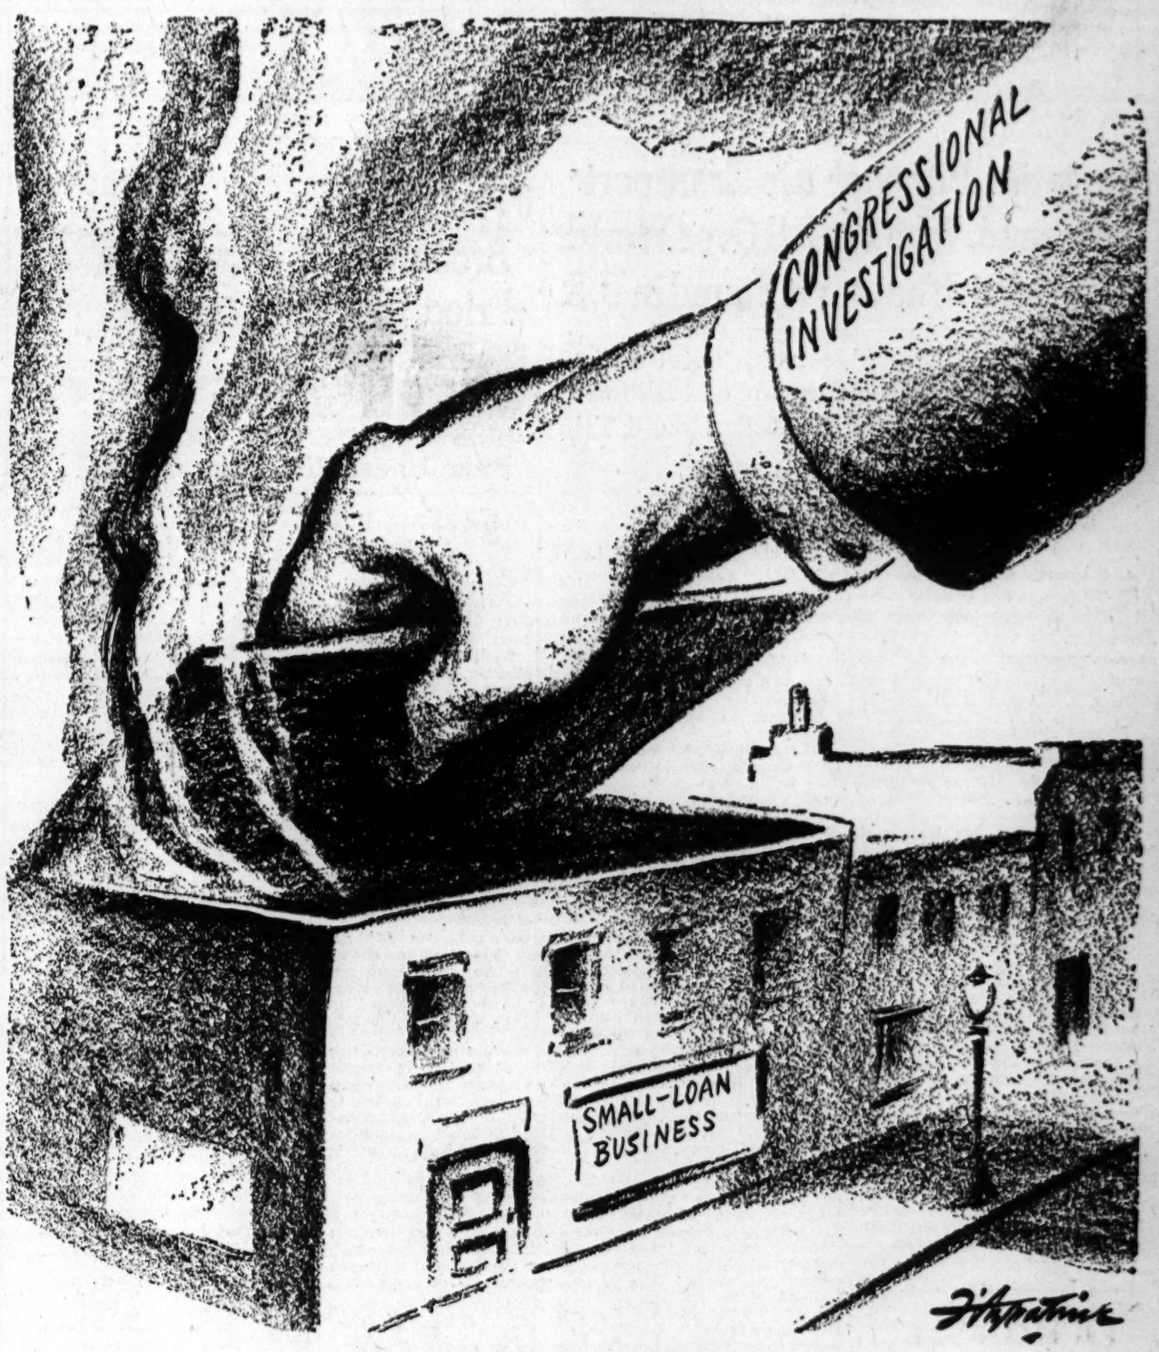

Truth Is a Sword

There was fury and alarm when American bombers dropped thousands of copies of the "Sternenbanner"—Stars and Stripes in German —on Berlin. The press, the radio, official spokesmen sweated in a frenzy of denunciation. Himmler, the terrorist, decreed from 20 years of imprisonment to death to all who read its news. Again the Nazis showed themselves to the people in all the ugliness of insecurity.

Hans, the German Everyman, drubbed almost to insensibility by years of propaganda, can still, surely, put two and two together. If a "Sternenbanner" came fluttering down to him, he looked at it. He found a message of President Roosevelt, a picture of Eisenhower, factual reports on Allied air power and editorial comment. To him, if he is a loyal Fuehrer-follower, it was simply Allied propaganda. Yet Himmler's drastic penalty makes it something, else. Truth, perhaps? Is that what the leaders fear?

There is self-betrayal in the Nazi panic. Truth is the weapon that can terrorize, not the man in the street, but the animal behind the mask. May the Allies use it well.

Temperatures up to 130 in the shade are reported in Iran by a returning St. Louis officer. This inevitably brings up the old vaudeville stand-by: "But do you have to stay in the shade?"

ABOUT TIME IT WAS LOOKED INTO

American Labor Pains

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Sidney Hillman should have kept CIO Political Action Committee out of the ALP fight in New York, writer says; result is that left wing and its Communist-controlled candidates have captured organization; alliance gives new opening for Dies to raise Red scare.

Freda Kirchwey, Editor and Publisher, in The Nation

One of the first engagements of the coming presidential campaign has been fought and decided in New York. By a large majority, the left wing of the American Labor party in that State has captured the party organization; the right wing has withdrawn and is deciding whether or not to start a party of its own.

The issue was control of the party by Commmunists and near-Communists. The retreating right wing charges that the victory of the left has established such control; the left denies it.

The struggle is an old one, but a new element was injected by the intervention of the CIO Political Action Committee headed by Sidney Hillman. Mr. Hillman's willingness to co-operate with left elements infuriated the right-wingers who were waging a losing battle without this added handicap. They claimed that ever since the Communist party had been forced off the State ballot, party members had been "colonizing" in the ALP; with the coming dissolution of the Communist party, its members intended to take over the ALP, converting it to their own uses.

The "Right" Attacks Hillman

Hillman countered with the argument that the CIO committee could hardly be expected to rule CIO unions out of the race even if some of them were run by men charged with Communist sympathies. He denied, however, that the election of the left-wing slate would increase the power of the Communists; on the contrary, he insisted that the ALP stood a better chance of avoiding out-and-out Communist control by accepting the co-operation of the Political Action Committee and the unions which supported it. He based his campaign on a strong appeal for united labor and progressive action in behalf of the New Deal and Mr. Roosevelt's re-election.

But unity was not furthered by Mr. Hillman's efforts. The fight was a bitter one; long-standing factional lesions were widened, personal rivalries accentuated. The major split in the ranks of labor was more sharply defined.

Intervention Held an Error

The Nation has believed from the beginning that Hillman should have kept the Political Action Committee out of this struggle for power in the American Labor party. His arguments for intervention were strong in logic but weak in political and human terms. He knew how deeply rooted were the fear and hatred of Communism which animate the right wing.

These emotions are too strong to be debated. Hillman and his chief lieutenants wanted to make peace; they did not want victory followed by schism. But their attempts at appeasement were doomed to fail. The right would accept nothing less than total rejection of the Communist-controlled candidates; and this Hillman could not concede without repudiating some of his own CIO unions. He might better have stayed out of the fight and then, after the primaries, co-operated with the ALP, whoever won.

By his intervention, he has involved the Political Action Committee, before the major campaign has even opened, in a second-front engagement that should have been avoided. The fight in New York has provided a handy supply of ammunition for reactionaries—from Mr. Dies up—looking for fresh "proof" that Communism and the New Deal are synonymous and that the CIO, a New Deal creation, is only a branch of the Communist party. This proposition will be worked for all it is worth, and much more.

A Defense of the Conservation Amendment

From the Henry County (Mo.) Democrat.

The Constitutional Convention, in considering some measures to change the Conservation Commission of Missouri, is treading on dangerous ground. The delegates should be cautious about altering a system which has become a model for other states.

When the conservation system first came in we indorsed it, believing that this system offered the fish, game and natural resources of Missouri their last chance for survival. This was the belief of the other supporters of the measure when it came before the voters. Whether or not it would work out was problematical, but its supporters believed that any system would be better than the partisan political system that had been in effect.

The Conservation Commission has done a splendid job, and its work has been lauded by most Missouri sportsmen.

There have been times when we disagreed with the measures of the commission on minor points, but we have learned that many of our ideas about fish and game were based on superficial knowledge, and that a broad and basic yardstick must be applied to fit all cases over Missouri.

The fact remains that, even prior to the induction of men into the Army, gasoline rationing and ammunition shortage, game had increased in Missouri fields and fish were thriving in the streams.

A group of local fishermen who annually fished the lower White River say that their catches have doubled and trebled, and many smaller bass struck at the lures, proving that fish are on the increase. Similar reports come from the Niangua River, the Osage River and the many other beautiful streams visited by local fishermen. The same is true of quail and other game.

There have been some complaints about the Conservation Commission—most of which are based on the desire of greedy politicians to put the Fish and Game Department back into the political patronage bag. In the old days, natural resources suffered as the Fish and Game Department was kicked back and forth, a mere political football.

We suggest that the Constitutional Convention content itself with a hearty indorsement of the present Conservation Commission and let it go at that.

Sherlock Holmes Lives Again In Book by 40-Odd Admirers

"Profile by Gaslight: An Irregular Reader About the Private Life of Sherlock Holmes." (Simon & Schuster, New York).

Sherlock Holmes is probably the most famous character in the world of fiction. Although he was not the first of the great private investigators (Poe's suave Dupin antedated him by some years), he set the pattern for a field of literature that has dominated the reading of Americans and Englishmen for more than half a century.

He has had hundreds of imitators since he first emerged from his snug Baker street lodgings in 1887 to clatter away through London's fog-shrouded streets in a hansom cab, hot on the trail of an evil-doer. The imitators have all been of lesser stature. Who would seek the counsel of Philo Vance or Lord Peter Wimsey or Dr. Thorndyke or Nero Wolfe if he could interest the monumental Holmes in his plight?

Holmes symbolizes the private detective: the sensitive aquiline nose, the curved briar pipe reeking of the strongest shag, the fore-and-aft tweed cap, the weighted stick, the inexhaustible accumulation of exotic knowledge, the uncanny power of deduction, the love of the chase. None of those who have come after him have approached his classic eccentricity.

Beside Holmes' utter seriousness, Lord Peter Wimsey's epigrams are dissolved into childish prattle; his absorbed abstinence dismisses Wolfe's gormandizing as a disgusting gluttony; his taste in art and music has a stolidity that leaves the delicate Philo Vance trapped in simpering dilettantism. Holmes stands alone in his whims and crotchets and disarming vanity.

Holmes' admirers may wander away occasionally to observe the antics of the Vances and Wolfes and Thorndykes. But they always return. There is no resisting the electric call: "Come, Watson, come. The game is afoot."

Thousands of readers have found it hard to believe that the masterly sleuth did not once actually walk the brooding, gas-lit streets of nineteenth-century London. Others liked to pretend that he lived and died like other men. Among them are the 40-odd contributors to this study of the many-sided specialist.

Their compendium is a superb piece of tongue-in-cheek scholarship. Rex Stout asks, Was Dr. Watson a woman? Dr. George F. McCleary asks, Was Holmes actually a narcotic addict? Was the Holmes who returned three years after the seemingly fatal encounter with the sinister Moriarty an impostor? Did Holmes have serious trouble with his teeth? Did he have a coat of arms? Where actually was 221B Baker street?

These are canny questions, and the answers are ingenious—bits of deductive reasoning worthy (almost) of the master himself. BERTON ROUECHE.

Campaign Biography of Bricker

John W. Bricker was born in a log house on a farm in Ohio, the "mother of Presidents." In youth he learned "the stern creed of hard work, frugality and thrift." At college he was serious-minded, yet popular. As a young lawyer, he had a simple, frugal home. He took to politics as a natural privilege and responsibility. As Governor of Ohio, he stood for economy and budget-balancing. He is against Federal encroachment. He made a record in office as "an efficient, sound, progressive and far-sighted administrator."

These are among his qualifications as a candidate for the presidency as presented by his biographer, Karl B. Pauly, in "Bricker of Ohio: The Man and His Record" (Putnam). The campaign is really on.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Dewey's Great Friend, Dulles

NEW YORK.

YOU sometimes learn more about a political candidate from his friends than from the man himself. One of Gov. Dewey's intimates is a man whom the average American has never heard of—John Foster Dulles.

When Dewey speaks of his friend, Dulles, it is with affection and admiration. Dulles is his closest adviser on foreign policy and, if Dewey should be elected President, he would probably name Dulles as Secretary of State.

I went to see Dulles to get some idea of his views. He is senior partner of Sullivan and Cromwell, which is perhaps the richest and most powerful law firm in downtown New York. To see him, you go to the nineteenth floor of a building in Wall Street. You step into a handsome foyer done in the dignified tradition of the eighteenth century. Dulles' private office is at the head of an Adam stairway going to the twentieth floor.

While he has played an important part in the direction of some of America's greatest corporations, Dulles' dominant interest is foreign relations. His grandfather was Secretary of State under Benjamin Harrison and he grew up in an international atmosphere. At the age of 19, he was secretary to one of the delegations at the 1907 Hague Peace Conference.

Dulles' Influence.

Apart from his friendship with the Governor, who is 14 years his junior, Dulles has an important influence on foreign policy. He heads a group with the imposing title of "The Committee of Direction of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace," which was established by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ.

In a recent statement, the commission urged not only a general world organization and the regulation of armament, but a far-reaching program of financial and economic adjustment. The basic choice, said the statement, "must be made between international organization designed merely to perpetuate by repression the particular structure of the world which will emerge from the war" and an international order which, "in addition to such use of force under law as is a requisite of order, discharges tasks that are curative and creative."

When Dulles talks about these things, it is with reasonable common sense. He is skeptical of what can be done by arbitrary fiat—by the stroke of a pen.

That, in his opinion, was the error of the 1919 peacemakers—and he was one of them. They leaned too heavily on a formal treaty. Any world organization, Dulles believes, must begin with fundamental realities, such as the friendship existing among English-speaking peoples around the world.

A Quick Learner.

Above all, Dulles holds that we can show the way to a decent world order only if we continue to set a dynamic example of what democracy can do. Here, in his view, Roosevelt has failed.

His tone is one of scholarly seriousness, his few public speeches are dull. But when he speaks of Dewey, his face kindles. The Governor, according to his friend, is a quick learner.

Whether as the result of this friendship or on his own, Dewey is on record for positive international collaboration. In three or four speeches in the first half of 1942, he went a long way. And he is especially proud of the foreign policy plank in the Republican State platform which he drafted. That plank said:

"The United States must be prepared to undertake new obligations and responsibilities in the community of nations. We must co-operate with other nations to promote the wider international exchange of goods and services, to broaden access to raw materials, to achieve monetary and economic stability, and thus discourage the growth of rampant nationalism and its spawn: economic and military aggression. As a further safeguard, we must join with other nations to secure the peace of the world, by force if necessary, against any future outbreak of international gangsterism."

The isolationists dancing around Willkie's political corpse will find that hard to swallow. Moreover, I believe Dewey will stand by it.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Effects of Willkie's Defeat

THE defeat of Mr. Willkie in the Wisconsin primaries and the withdrawal of his candidacy will cause disquiet, not only here, but abroad.

Mr. Willkie probably represented the largest area of agreement within the American electorate as a whole that anyone is likely to achieve. That is a different thing from agreement within a political party. He had a large following among liberals, who normally would vote against the Republicans. Had he been a candidate, the campaign would not have been acrimonious, and at home and abroad no fear engendered that foreign or domestic policies would be set adrift.

Both Are Rift-Healers.

When one is fighting a bitter foreign enemy for total victory, what one needs at home between parties is peace without victory. Two men have recognized that—the President and Mr. Willkie. Both have tried to heal factional rifts by creating a common ground of agreement in the area between them.

President Roosevelt, for his part, has regretfully discouraged many of his most enthusiastic supporters by moving to the right. His present administration is neither New Deal nor even Democrat. Important administration posts, notably Army, Navy and WPB, are in the hands of Republicans. Against the criticisms of the progressives, he has supported the conservative Cordell Hull in the State Department.

Mr. Willkie, for his part, has tried to move his party to the left, away from bigoted nationalism in foreign affairs and toward a progressive social outlook in domestic affairs. That attitude would have made it possible to change an administration with a minimum of friction, passion and fear, neutralizing factionalism and creating a middle ground.

The Whole Loaf.

Now, in so decisively rejecting Mr. Willkie, Republican party membership seems to be content not with half a loaf or even three-quarters of a loaf, but to want the whole loaf.

The jubilation amongst the McCormicks, Pattersons, Gerald L. K. Smiths, et al, is not gratifying. A Willkie candidacy would have given them little to say. Since their attitudes discourage our allies and comfort and encourage our enemies, that would have been a distinct asset.

Nor could the party have rejected Mr. Willkie out of fear that he would lose them the elections. I doubt whether any other candidate would have taken more votes from Mr. Roosevelt, presuming that he runs again. Indeed, the pressures now upon the President to run will be enormous, for rightly or wrongly the withdrawal of Mr. Willkie will be considered a triumph for the Republican diehards, and liberals will feel that, without the President as a candidate, they will be effectively disfranchised. I say "rightly or wrongly," because it is not clear to what extent the rejection of Mr. Willkie really is a triumph for the Republican super-duper nationalists and social reactionaries.

There are many variables recorded, I think, by the vote.

Mr. Willkie has been trying to purge the party. Now, parties do change, but purges seem to be against the American temper. When the President was at the pinnacle of his popularity and power, he tried it, with unfortunate results. Previously, Theodore Roosevelt had tried it and failed. And Mr. Willkie was trying it before he was in effective control.

War Breeds Nationalism.

Also, in his speeches, Mr. Willkie has given a confused impression. Verbally persuasive in his criticisms, their content seemed to evaporate upon analysis. It sometimes seemed—incorrectly—that he was more solicitous for our Allies than for the United States.

Now, all countries become more nationalist, not less, during a war. This is one of the unfortunate accomplishments of war, which often threatens future peace. Mr. Willkie knows this, and it concerns him. But, in emphasizing internationalism, it is not wise to sponsor a sort of chauvinist altruism, but rather to advance the sound common-sense reasons why vigorous participation in world affairs is to our interests. Mr. Willkie occasionally seemed willing to subordinate our own welfare to other countries—as when he called for a second front in 1942, which would manifestly have been disastrous then.

Boring From Within.

The Republican party is in thorough need of liberalization. But there are numerous forces within it, working for that end, in a quiet way. Whether or not they win out, they are rather more likely to do so by plodding inside work than by outside fireworks.

Also, developing public opinion will influence policies. Curiously enough, I believe that most Americans are for what Mr. Willkie is for, though not exactly in Mr. Willkie's way. In this he suffers from the same reactions which have afflicted the career of the President. The New Deal would have been more popular if its means had been less calculated to get in people's hair.

So now, though the Republicans have broken their most liberal candidate, it does not necessarily follow that they will shelve his ideas. He has been a way-opener and a fighter willing to sacrifice himself for his cause. Unfortunately, way-openers usually do pay by personal sacrifice. Their cause may win, while they lose.

CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION HEAD PRAISES JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—The war time policies of the Justice Department "constitute a landmark in the history of liberty," John Haynes Holmes, chairman of the American Civil Liberties Union, said in a letter made public yesterday by Attorney General Francis Biddle.

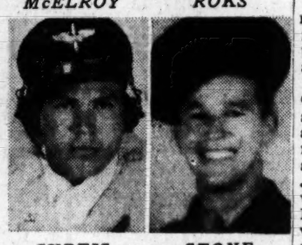

Holmes wrote Biddle that he had created "a precedent which may well serve to save our democracy in some great crisis that may yet come in the future."

He said his letter was prompted by Biddle's annual report to Congress, which stated that the Justice Department "has been guided by the broadest conception of freedom of speech and of the press ever embraced by the Government in wartime."

E. R. OLMSTED, NURSERYMAN, APPOINTED CITY FORESTER

Elbert R. Olmsted, tree surgeon and nursery owner, has been appointed City Forester to succeed Ludwig Baumann, who died Feb. 16, Park Commissioner Palmer R. Baumes announced yesterday.

Olmsted, who lives at 4708 Cupples place, received a grade of 92 per cent and was second on the list of candidates taking the civil service examination to fill the post. Baumes stated that he picked Olmsted from the top three because he considered him the best qualified for the job, which consists of the supervision and care of city-owned trees and shrubs in the parks and between sidewalk and curb throughout the city.

Starting salary for the position is $235 per month with a maximum of $310 after five and one-half years. The appointment takes effect April 16.

'GALILEE MEMORIES' AT SCOTTISH RITE

Cast of 150 Gives Spectacular Showing of Passion Play by Abeken.

By JACK BALCH

"Memories of Galilee," a Passion Play by Rodowe H. Abeken and John J. Kessler, was presented last night at Scottish Rite Cathedral by the authors in collaboration with Scottish Rite. The play, which will have its final showing tonight, had a cast of over 150 non-professional players, including the Scottish Rite Choir of 45 male voices. Abeken arranged and directed the play as well, and Kessler conducted the choir. E. Prang Stamm was organist. Oscar H. Jost was associate organist. While no handclapping or other signs of approval was allowed, the audience of 3000 was, it often appeared, highly moved.

In nine "episodes," with many musical interludes, "Memories of Galilee" moved from "The Last Supper ("Now when the even was come, he sat down with the 12") through scenes in the garden of Gethsemane to Calvary.

It was as a spectacle rather than a play, to comment on "Memories of Galilee' in purely dramatic terms, that the showing seemed most effective. No expense had been spared, evidently, in costuming or sets, and the lavishness of scenes in which masses of people moved across the stage in what appeared authentic Biblical clothing and makeup, compared favorably with "movie" products, noted for lavishness.

In addition to its spectacular effects, the production impressed with the organization that had gone into it. To move large masses of people across the stage and to weave individual actions into the larger actions was a major job of direction that much rehearsing had satisfactorily solved. It might be said, also, that the stage at Scottish Rite, extraordinarily deep and wide, lent itself well to such movement.

On the red side of the ledger, dramatically speaking, there was somewhat too much slowness in the pace. Obviously, the theme of this play is not one that can be tuned up and simply let go. Yet the actors, including the man who played the Galilean, spoke in natural voices. So why not add stage realism to the department of pace?

With the slowness of the pace there was also a sense of too much gesticulation. Obviously, again, there is a need, for a large theater and a large audience, for broad gestures on the part of the cast. Yet, because of fine accoustics, some of the gesticulation might have been dispensed with.

The best job of acting, I thought, was done by Ernest R. Claus as "The Blind Boy." Robert Clark Duffin's Jesus was dignified. Frank C. Parisel as Judas Iscariot was effective, but was made to work too hard. Some of the others faltered at times. On the whole, it was an effective production, the third annual presentation of its kind.

Jesuit 60 Years

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer

THE REV. M. I. STRITCH 60 YEARS A JESUIT

The Rev. Michael I. Stritch, S. J., 82 years old, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his entrance into the Society of Jesus with a private mass yesterday morning and a dinner with the other members of the community at St. Louis University last night.

Father Stritch's career has been that of a teacher. His rich brogue and lucid thought and expression were familiar to generations of Jesuits whom he taught philosophy at the university over a period of 30 years. In that time his discourses on social and economic and religious questions frequently drew overflow crowds to the Cathedral and College Church here, and to churches in Detroit and Omaha.

"I recall one series of lectures on marriage, which I gave 15 years ago in the College Church," the priest told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I had given them some advance publicity during some previous talks, and when the time came, I had to repeat the same lectures three times weekly to take care of the crowds."

Father Stritch entered the Jesuit Order at Florissant in St. Louis County in 1884 from Cincinnati four years after coming to this country from County Galway in Ireland, where he was born. He taught at colleges in Milwaukee and Detroit, and, after completing his philosophical and theological studies here and at Woodstock, Md., was ordained in 1889.

As a priest he taught humanities and philosophy at Detroit and Milwaukee before coming to St. Louis in 1912 where he has remained since. His fame as a lecturer and labor arbitrator at Detroit preceded him to St. Louis, and after he arrived he was invited to join and appear before numerous social and professional societies here.

"People are inclined to compliment me on my years of self-sacrifice," he smiled. "I do not understand them. The years could not have been happier. The Society has taken care of me and granted me the opportunities to do the things I like most to do. If I could have planned it, I would not have had it different."

Walter Delmar, Writer, Dies.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Walter Delmar, New York correspondent for British newspapers and author of several books on travel, died yesterday. He was 81 years old. His books include "The Romantic East," "Round the World Through Japan" and "India of Today." A surviving sister is Mrs. Paul Blackwelder of St. Louis.

C. of C. to Hear British Consul.

A. Swinton Paterson, British Consul in St. Louis, will address the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting at Hotel De Soto tomorrow. His subject will be how Great Britain is preparing to meet postwar economic problems.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, April 11.—Morton Cooper, ace of the Cardinal pitching staff, hurled three hitless innings against the Browns here this afternoon as the spring city series was resumed, but the big righthander was tagged for four runs in the big Brownie fourth inning.

Cooper walked the first batter in each of the first two innings and with one out in the fourth he filled the bases by passing three men in succession. Mark Christman then doubled for the first Brownie hit, driving in three runs, and Catcher Frank Mancuso followed with a triple over Musial's head, scoring Christman with the fourth run of the inning.

The Cardinals presented their regular lineup of the first game, played Saturday, while the Browns presented Mancuso behind the plate, Christman at third base and Gene Moore in right field.

The field was a little heavy, although the infield was in exceptionally good condition.

Jones of the American League and Sears of the Nationals were the umpires.

Pitcher Newman Shirley of the Browns underwent his seventh pre-induction examination today at Jefferson Barracks and for the seventh time was rejected.

CARDINALS—Verban singled through the box. Hopp hit into a double play, Stephens to Gutteridge to McQuinn. Christman threw out Musial.

CARDINALS—M. Cooper popped to Christman. Verban flied to Kreevich. Hopp hit to the roof of the rightfield pavilion for a home run. Gutteridge threw out Musial. ONE RUN.

FOURTH — BROWNS—Kurowski threw out Epps. Stephens walked. So did McQuinn. Moore also walked, filling the bases. Christman doubled to center, scoring Stephens, McQuinn and Moore. Christman took third on a passed ball. Mancuso tripled over Musial's head, scoring Christman. Sundra popped to Kurowski. Gutteridge drove deep to Litwhiler, FOUR RUNS.

Three St. Louis Boxers in National A. A. U. Semifinals

BOSTON, April 11 (AP).—The Midwest enjoyed a comfortable edge today as the 32 survivors of the opening day rounds of amateur milling moved on toward the climactic semifinal and title battles of the national A. A. U. boxing championships at Boston Garden.

Paced by the ever-dangerous Cleveland team, which placed six of its seven contestants in the semifinal brackets, the Midwest in all had 15 representatives while the East presented the nearest threat to its supremacy with a total of 12 survivors of the first day of the strenous grind. St. Louis had three semifinalists.

The St. Louis survivors were Nick Saunders, 118 pounds; Curtis Filer, 160 and Curtis Smith, 135. Saunders won from Mario Zullo of Chelsea, Mass.; Filer defeated William Barne Jr., Lincoln Park, Mich. and Smith gained victory over David Staples of Washington, D. C.

Five St. Louisans Lose.

Five Mound City representatives fell by the wayside. Alvin Freeman lost to Mike O'Leary of Denver in the 112 pound class; Phil Alberti, St. Louis 126 pounder, was defeated by Horace Tabbone, Riverside, Ok. Indian School; Alonzo Karr lost to Frank Sweeney, Washington, D. C.; Frank Muche of Cleveland won on a technical kayo in two rounds from Joe Shephard, St. Louis 135 pounder, and Robert Mohler, 147 pounds, was eliminated by Anthony Celentano, U. S. M., Davisville, R. I.

Oklahoma's three survivors, two of them Indians, were the lone representatives of the Southwest while the South and Far West had one survivor each to round out the bracket of 32 which will be shaved down to eight champions by the end of tonight's 24 bouts.

The South, however, seems to have a chance to cop a title with its lone survivor in the person of Eddie Gettys, of New Orleans, who was beaten in the 135-pound final last year and is trying his luck now among welterweights.

Outside the talented Joe Gannon of Washington, D. C,, a smart and hard-hitting 147-pounder, Gettys seemed to have the field to himself after the survivors in that class were surveyed in action in the opening day bouts. Cleveland's only casualty, Frank Cordy of Niles, O., was eliminated in that class in the quarter-finals.

Cleveland Team Favored.

Each of the surviving Cleveland representatives is dangerous and gave evidence once again that the Ohio city team would cop the team prize. Two of them gained the semi-final bracket in the 135-pound division when Joe D'Amato of Warren, O., originally entered as a feather, turned up overweight and moved up to the lightweight class to qualify along with rugged Frank Muche.

In the flyweight class Jack Darthard of Kansas City looks like the likely finalist against Cleveland's Rudy Molinaro while Joey Salcone of Warren, O., probably will carry his team's hope in the title bout against Virgil Franklin, an Indian from the Riverside School in Anadarko, Ok.

Ray Standifer of Cleveland and Vance Bassler of the United States Navy, now at Harvard University, were the light-heavyweight stick-outs, while Sgt. Eddie Sims, U. S. A., another Clevelander, seemed the best heavyweight, despite the tremendous advance reports concerning Jack Thorne Jr. of Newark, N. J.

The soccer tournament sponsored by the Missouri Soccer Association which will get under way tomorrow afternoon has attracted 37 teams from seven districts.

On the South Side six teams from the Cleveland High district will play at Carondelet Park, as well as two squads from McKinley High district. The Buder district of three teams and the Southwest High district will play at Sublette.

Eleven squads are scheduled to play in the Walbridge School district of the North Side division, 11 teams to play eliminations at Penrose and Fairgrounds Parks. Neighborhood Association of five teams will play at Murphy Park and Sherman Park contingent of five at Sherman.

Semifinals must be played by Saturday and the finals the following Saturday. The four district survivors on the South Side and three on the North will enter into another elimination to determine city finalists.

Bagby to Report for Training on May 1

ATLANTA, April 11 (AP).—Pitcher Jim Bagby, 17-game winner for the Cleveland Indians last year, says the Maritime Commission has informed him that he will be called for training about May 1.

He was scheduled to have been sworn into the Merchant Marine this week. Bagby has been working out with Atlanta of the Southern Association.

Victory Open Set June 8-9

The Victory Open tournament, feature of the St. Louis wartime golfing program, will be held at Sunset Golf Club, June 8 and 9. James R. Kearney Jr., president of the District Golf Association, announced at a meeting last night at the Forest Park Hotel.

The district high will be held at Westborough, but the date is still pending; the Cornie-Schnecko two-man event will be held at Westborough June 17; the four-man interclub event is scheduled for the St. Louis Country Club June 24, the annual father and son tournament is set Oct. 1 at Glen Echo, and the senior meet at Triple A, Oct. 8.

Kearney announced that the District Association is taking over the Champion of Champions event to be held at Triple A Oct. 15.

The annual junior district meet is being held in abeyance until it is learned how much interest there is in the event. It was formerly a large meet, attracting as many as 150 entries, but only 12 competed last season.

American Ass'n For a Tighter Territory Rule

The American Association, at its annual spring meeting here today, prepared a resolution asking Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis to clarify the 10-mile baseball rule, relating to the encroachment on franchise territory of clubs in organized baseball, and especially those in the association.

Owners of this Class AA minor league are concerned with tryout camps or clinics held by major league teams which last year in one or two instances were held within 10 miles of an American Association franchise. The 10-mile rule, which has been in effect for many years, forbids an outside club from playing a game in a club's home territory. The A. A. would also restrict tryout camps, schools or clinics within the home circle by any other club.

George M. Trautman, president of the circuit, presided at the meeting at Hotel Chase. He said that all owners expressed optimism over the coming season. All reported rosters which were virtually filled with men 4-F in the draft, veterans or teen-aged rookies. The club heads all said more interest had been shown toward the coming openers than in several years.

The association voted to play an all-star game on July 25 and it will be dedicated to M. J. (Mike) Kelley, 68, president of the Minneapolis club, who is celebrating his fiftieth year in baseball. The game will be played in the city leading the loop on July 5 against a star team composed of players from other clubs.

Trautman said nothing was discussed about the status of players who hope to play part time, but clubs voted for a limit of two ladies' days each week and four night games a week. This will be the forty-fourth season for the A. A., which was founded at a meeting in 1901 in St. Louis. The same eight cities still comprise the circuit.

Attending, besides Trautman and Kelley, were Al Banister, Columbus, president; Donie Bush and Al Slensker of Indianapolis; Bill DeWitt of the Browns, representing Toledo; Bob Tarlton, St. Paul business manager; Rudy Schaeffer, Milwaukee business manager, and Roy Hamey, Kansas City business manager. Louisville was not represented.

Veteran Basketball Referee Denounces Officials' New Laws

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP).—He didn't exactly say so, but one of these days Nick Kearns, veteran cage official, may decide to picket the National Basketball Committee as "unfair to organized (and unorganized) referees."

Kearns, who has refereed Big Ten games for more than 20 years, was outspoken today in denouncing the committee's recent rules changes allowing a player five instead of four personal fouls a game and outlawing so-called goal tending by tall boys.

Kearns fumed that the new regulations place too heavy a burden on officials. "In the last few years," he went on, "coaches already had doctored the rules so as to put 90 per cent of the burden of a game on officials. Now they've gone ahead and raised it to 99.9 per cent."

Strike of Grooms at Jamaica Track Ends

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—After a brief strike of grooms that converted yesterday's first race into a no-betting walkover affair for Star of Padula, all seven races were expected to be run without interference today at Jamaica race track.

The grooms won their request for $5 for each horse led to the paddock plus an additional $10 for a winner when the State Racing Commission approved a track-sponsored plan of increasing the purse for each race by $100. The increase, effective today, applies only to purses up to $5000 at all New York tracks.

To avoid any legal conflict, it was determined that the $100 would be classified as a trainers' award. A definite scale as to how the $100 will be split among the trainers was not immediately determined, but a spokesman said the trainer of each horse would receive at least $5. The trainer, in turn, would pay the groom.

Chandler, Bonham to Join Yanks

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Spud Chandler and Ernie Bonham, who between them pitched 35 winning games for the world champion New York Yankees last year, will be back with the Bronx Bombers when the baseball season opens a week from today.

The news that Chandler, who won 20 and lost four, and Bonham, who won 15 and lost eight, will rejoin the team before the end of week, was a tonic to Manager Joe McCarthy. The 34-year-old Chandler and the 30-year-old Bonham both had been certified as acceptable for military service. However, neither has been called up and under the latest ruling of selective service, restricting the drafting of those older than 26, may be able to play for a short time.

Chandler, who turned in an earned-run average of 1.64 as well as beating the Cardinals twice in the world series, is expected to join the team tomorrow at either Atlantic City or Plainfield, N. J. Bonham is expected to report Thursday in New York.

Other major league news:

Chicago Cubs—Five rookies to start against White Sox Thursday: Don Johnson, 2b; Bill Schuster, ss; Tony York, 3b; Andy Pafko, cf and Billy Holm, c. Bill Nicholson, slugging outfielder, expected to bat third instead of cleanup.

Pittsburgh Pirates — Infielder Pete Coscarart expected to start third season with team against Cleveland at Indianapolis. Coscarart, who previously said he'd stick to war job at Escondido, Cal., reported yesterday. Max Butcher blanker Cleveland, 6-0, with five hits.

Cleveland Indians—Three players on casualty list: Mickey Rocco with foot injury incurred in volleyball game; Joe Heving struck on leg by line drive in batting practice; and Oris Hockett with sprained shoulder.

Detroit Tigers—Team broke camp today at Evansville, Ind. Six exhibition games drew only 5674 fans, one-third of turnout for five games a year ago. However, Tiger officials said inclement weather cut crowds. Pinky Higgins reported.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Bobby Bragan, who used to play shortstop for Phillies before turning to catching, may play third for Dodgers this season. He reported yesterday and was promptly put on the hot corner.

Philadelphia Athletics — Louis (Bobo) Newsom arrived in the Athletics' training camp — the exact day he promised Connie Mack he would report. Bobo went directly to the ball park for a talk with Mack. He did not put on a uniform, and did not sign a contract. Newsom repeated his previous assertion that he had no financial disagreement with the Athletics.

Philadelphia Phils — Southpaw Ken Raffensberger pitched a three-hit game to guide the Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Braves. Except for a wild throw by Charley Letchas, giving the Braves an unearned run, the willowy lefthander would have had a shutout. The Phils leaped on Al Javery for two runs in the third inning and racked up another in the sixth against Rookie Ben Cardoni.

Al Smith to Hurl Indians' Opener

CLEVELAND, April 11 (AP).—AL SMITH was waived out of the National League five years ago, but today he is the Cleveland Indians' mound ace and Manager Lou Boudreau's choice to hurl the season opener against the White Sox at Chicago April 18.

At 35, a man isn't supposed to be much of a pitcher, but consider Smitty's accomplishments last year: He notched 17 victories and was beaten only seven times. Three of the triumphs were shutouts, two were two-hitters and two others were four-hitters. The aging lefthander made the American League's all-star team without the vote of his own manager and at the close of the season the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association designated him the club's most valuable player.

Phones Granted To Publisher of Racing Data

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP). — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court reversed a State superior court decision today and directed the Pennsylvania Utility Commission to authorize the Bell Telephone Company to provide telephone and teletype service to the Pennsylvania Publications, Inc., which publishes horse racing information.

The telephone company gave Pennsylvania Publications notice of termination of telephone facilities after the Public Utility Commission upheld its refusal to serve a "scratch sheet" publication.

In the high court opinion, Justice James B. Drew said that wire companies are limited to lawful service — "however, such companies are not justified in refusing service to persons engaged in legitimate enterprises merely because such subscribers may furnish information which may enable others receiving it to use the same illegally."

He said that the appellant is engaged in a legal business — "horse racing is not prohibited by law in Pennsylvania and there is nothing in our legislative history to indicate it is contrary to public policy."

"Furthermore," he said, "there is nothing inherently wrongful in horse racing . . . many lovers of horses never place a bet . . . while opposed to gambling, they have a deep interest in developing and racing horses."

50,000 at Opening Of English Racing Season; Orestes Loses

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—The racing season opened yesterday at the Windsor track—26 miles up the Thames from London—and a record-breaking crowd of 50,000 saw Dorothy Paget's Derby favorite "Orestes" lose by a neck to "The Solicitor.

Many fans tapering off England's four-day Easter holiday paid $40 to $50 to cab drivers to take them to the track.

The press of the crowd at one time broke the entrance gates and many women fainted. More than $400,000 was bet on the 10-race card. The daily double paid $800 to 20 bettors who had placed $2 on "The Solicitor" and "Harroway."

Police Soccer Clubs in Title Game, Friday

Championship of the Police Juvenile League will be at stake when the First District and Twelfth meet Friday night in a special soccer program at Public Schools Stadium. First and Twelfth won the division titles in the Police League and have been waiting almost two months for a chance to face each other in the championship playoff.

The Junior title game will precede the exhibition match between Royal Air Force players from Lambert Field and the El Reys, champions of the Municipal League. The program begins at 8 o'clock.

There will be a band of bagpipers, flags, drum and bugle corps and other trimmings to make it a big night, according to the committee's plans.

More than 2500 free tickets have been distributed to school boys who have been attending the grade school and police juvenile soccer clinics, but in order to meet expenses, the commission has boosted the admission charge for adults to 60 cents. At Fairground Park, where there is no charge for ground rental, the charge for playoff games is 30 cents.

All funds raised at the gate will be turned into the Missouri commission treasury, earmarked for use ONLY for junior soccer. Thus far the very successful junior instruction movement has been financed by voluntary subscription and the future of the plan is jeopardized by lack of funds to pay for equipment.

Another doubleheader program has been set for next Sunday at Fairground No. 1, with the Schumachers, open intermediate champions of the Muny League playing the Blessed Sacrament eleven, C. Y. C. intermediate champion, in the feature. The C. Y. C. junior finalists—St. Johns and James—will meet in the opener. The program begins at 2 o'clock.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Derby Still the One Best Guess.

IF YOU'RE looking for color, you'll find it in the dictionary . . . But not in the Kentucky Derby . On the other hand, if you fall for brain teasers and like to guess 'em, the seventieth running of the Kentucky classic ought to give you goose pimples . . . The race, some four weeks distant, finds drab still its prevailing color tone.

The hangover standouts — most of the good ones beat one another—of last year's juveniles haven't started as yet, to show us how they fared during the winter . . . And the nags that have copped this year's three-year-old features weren't such red-hots as two-year-olds.

On what has developed in 1944, you'll have to decide between three winners of the current campaign, all victors in spring so-called "derbies" . . . First came Stir Up, which won the old Florida Derby, now known as the Flamingo Stakes . . . Then came multi-millionaire William Helis' Olympic Zenith, which captured the Louisiana Derby . . . Recently Challenge Me won the Arkansas Derby.

The best performance was the Challenge Me victory, which saw the winner do 1⅛ miles in near track record time . . . Stir Up's race was nothing to boast about and Olympic Zenith required 1:54 to do nine furlongs on a track reported as "fast."

IT WILL take the Wood Memorial or some April competition to tell whether there'll be a horse of high derby quality fit and ready for the May 6 test . . . Pukka Gin, Platter and Occupy still are regarded as best in the winter books.

If there's a Count Fleet in the Derby Field he'll have to drop out of the skies and furnish the biggest surprise in years. . . . The candidates all seem to be of the mine-run type, thus far.

Count Fleet Looks Fine in Workouts.

WHETHER Count Fleet, the wonder horse of last year, will be able to carry on in the marvelous form he displayed as a three-year-old, is of course still a guess. . . . The famous son of Reigh Count-Quickly, by Haste has been in training at Belmont under Don Cameron's direction. . . . His workouts have convinced the trainer that the "Champ," as the stable hands call him, will be ready to take up where he left off last season when injured.

The Count already has won almost exactly the total won by the famous racer to which he has been compared—Man o' War—$249,760. . . . That's $295 more than Big Red won in his 21 starts made during two campaigns. . . . . Singularly enough, that's exactly the number of races in which Count Fleet has started.

The Count is not a handsome horse to view. . . . He seems rather ungainly in conformation. . . . His running style is likewise unimpressive. . . . But when he steps out he really burns the track.

"There's a colt nobody would buy for $4000, so we kept him," commented Trainer Cameron at Belmont. . . . I liked the way he moved and the first time I clocked him in a workout I walked away talking to myself. It was popeyed time. . . . And he's had us popeyed ever since."

He, like Man o' War, is that kind of a horse.

Real Class in the Handicap Group.

IN THE field of handicap racers, there will be plenty of the "color" so lacking among the three-year-olds. . . . Not in years have so many good ones reported as ready for the races, this early.

Besides Count Fleet, Alsab is in again. He hasn't been hot since he hurt himself in his last race of 1942, and raced indifferently last season. . . . Florida veterinarians barred him from starting this year. . . . But Sarge Swenke, his trainer, says he's fine.

Shut Out, ninth-ranking money earner of all the world, is ready to show he's no in-and-outer, as he seemed last season. That good old bargain horse. Marriage, has beaten the best in his time.

Also available for the big $50,000 races (there are eight of them for this class of thoroughbreds) are Market Wise, Four Freedoms (here's a live one this season), Rounders, Devil Diver, Ocean Wave, Slide Rule, Attention, Sun Again and the two really fine mares, Stefanita and Mar-Kell.

In that bunch is the making of plenty of fine racing—and some mighty tough picking for the experts.

Fit and Ready?

COUNT FLEET, great three-year-old of 1943, winner of six straight races before he was injured, last year. Called "another Man o' War," he is reported recovered and ready for the races by Don Cameron. He has been training at Belmont race track.

COLONEL ADMITS GUILT IN BRIBE SUPPLY PLOT

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Lt. Col. Edward Gordon, 47 years old, former officer in charge of the supply division, second transportation zone, Army Service Forces, and Arthur M. Donnelly, 53, pleaded guilty yesterday in United States District Court to charges they conspired to solicit and accept bribes and to extort money from shipbuilders who were under Government contract.

Gordon, of New Rochelle, N. Y., will be sentenced April 24, and Donnelly, of the Bronx, N. Y., on May 8, by Judge Alfred C. Coxe. A third defendant, Irving Cohn, president of the Interstate Contracting Co., of New York, will face trial May 8.

The indictment charged Gordon enlisted the aid of Donnelly and Cohn in a scheme to demand money from shipbuilders who sought, or were operating under, Government contracts for construction of Army and Marine vessels and equipment.

THREE ROBBERS SENTENCED FOR ESCAPE FROM CITY JAIL

Paul Grandinetti and William C. Ivory, two of five men who escaped from the City Jail Feb. 20, were given prison terms of three years and two years, respectively, in Circuit Court yesterday when they pleaded guilty of breaking jail. A third man who figured in the escape, James Jenkins, was sentenced to two years when he also pleaded guilty.

Ivory's term for jail breaking was made to run consecutively with a five-year term for armed robbery for which he was under sentence at the time he escaped, while Grandinetti will serve his three-year term for jail breaking concurrently with a four-year term for armed robbery, Judge James F. Nangle ruled.

Jenkins was directed by Judge James E. McLaughlin to serve one year of his jail-breaking sentence concurrently and one consecutively with a 10-year term imposed for robbery before the break. His wife, Emma, and mother, Mrs. Inez Reifschneider, have been indicted as accessories in the escape. Stanley Stodulski, the fourth man in the escape, was sentenced to five years in prison on a plea of guilty last week, the sentence to run concurrently with a five-year term for burglary and robbery imposed since the break. Lester Freeman, alias John Whorton, is still at large.

LT. W. P. MOELLER HOME AFTER 66 MISSIONS IN BOMBER

Lt. William P. Moeller told yesterday of 45 combat and 21 search missions as pilot of a bomber in the South Pacific area. His plane was hit 10 times by antiaircraft fire, once he was forced to make a crash landing when gasoline was exhausted, and another time the four motors of his plane stopped just as he was above a Japanese target.

"I dropped to 10,000 feet, and finally got the motors to work again and returned safely to my base," said Moeller.

Lt. Moeller, 26 years old, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Paul Moeller, 1013 Olive street, Belleville. He entered the service three years ago and was overseas 18 months. He has received the Air Medal and nine Oak Leaf Clusters.

EX-ST. LOUISAN BAGS PLANE, ONE OF 4 ATTACKING BOMBER

Staff Sgt. Harry W. Herwig, formerly of St. Louis, has been credited with shooting down one of four German fighter planes destroyed by a single Liberator bomber returning from a raid on Seyr, Austria April 2, a dispatch from the Mediterranean area said yesterday. The Liberator, badly damaged, crash landed in friendly territory.

Sgt. Herwig, 23 years old, is a son of Mrs. Catherine Fonda, Mount Vernon, Ill., and the husband of Mrs. Thelma Herwig, of Granite City. He was born in St. Louis, attended Central High School, and lived at 1922 Dodier street until the family moved to Chicago six years ago. He was living at Charleston, Mo. when he enlisted a year and a half ago.

Derailment Ties Up the Alton.

Traffic on the Alton Railroad between St. Louis and Chicago was held up four to five hours today when two freight cars were derailed and blocked both of the double tracks at Lexington, Ill., 13 miles north of Bloomington. The company said no one was injured. The wreck occurred about 1 a. m. and the track was cleared by 8 a. m.

Football Cards Get First Pick Of College Aces

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP).—There may be a difference of opinion as to who should pick the first player in the draft of college grid stars when owners of National Football League clubs gather here next week.

Harry Thayer, general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, dropped a hint that club owners might not be in agreement when he said yesterday that "some opposition" has developed to giving Ted Collins, owner of the new Boston franchise, the coveted first choice.

"If Collins does not intend to operate the franchise in Boston until after the war, some of the National League owners do not see any reason for him getting first choice," Thayer said.

Collins, manager of vocalist Kate Smith, has already indicated that he intends to name Angelo Bertelli, former Notre Dame back, as first choice.

When the club owners meet to select their men from the latest crop of sollegiate stars they will draw in this order: 1, Chicago Cardinals; 2, Brooklyn Dodgers; 3, Detroit Lions; 4, Philadelphia Eagles; 5, New York Giants; 6, Green Bay Packers; 7, Washington Redskins; 8, Chicago Bears; 9, Pittsburgh Steelers; 10, Cleveland Rams; 11, Boston.

After a conference with Earl (Greasy) Neale, head coach of the Eagles, Thayer said they had agreed on the men they want from the player draft but added "we can't reveal who we want at this time."

"The Eagles are after ends, guards and backs," Thayer said. Neale, he added, is going to New York today or tomorrow for a huddle with Coach Steve Owens, of the Giants. "Who knows? Maybe we can swing a deal for a player or two."

WINCHELL FILES LIBEL SUIT

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Walter Winchell, newspaper columnist and radio commentator, has filed a $250,000 libel suit against Representative Clare E. Hoffman (Rep.), Michigan, in United States District Court.

The action, filed yesterday, charges Hoffman held Winchell up to "public scorn, hatred, ridicule, contempt, shame and disgrace" last March 16 in an article concerning Winchell's status as a Navy Lieutenant Commander, published in the Marcellus (Mich.) News.

NEUTRALS ONE OF CHIEF TOPICS IN STETTINIUS TALKS

that started the wartime fashion of accrediting Ambassadors to all the smaller allies, this sudden decision by Washington was taken as a distinct slap in the face. It now requires reconsideration and will get it from Stettinius.

One of Stettinius' most complicated tasks will be to discuss the Atlantic Charter and to determine on a modern interpretation of that document. Obviously, it cannot be applied to Germany and Japan; neither can it be said to have been applied to the Arabs of North Africa. Definite decisions along this line will have to be taken in consultation with Russia and other allies, but we cannot consult them until we know our own minds, which is not exactly the case at the present moment.

Paper Defends Turk Chrome Shipments to Reich.

ISTANBUL, April 10 (Delayed), (AP).—The pro-Nazi newspaper Cumhuriyet declared today there was no reason why Turkey should not continue to ship chrome to Germany.

"The Allies have found an excuse for not sending war materials to Turkey and then they complain because we send chrome to Germany in exchange for our needs," an editorial said.

The Berlin radio said today that Franz von Papen, Germany ambassador to Turkey, has arrived in Istanbul from Ankara and "will give a very great reception in the next few days."

salvo, the earth on which we were lying four feet below the surface would tremble and jerk as though it were in an earthquake. But once asleep I never awakened, even though they said later that bombers were over during the night.

Sgt. Carter gets up at 6 every morning, and the first thing he does is slip out and start the engines of his tank, which is dug in about 20 feet from his dugout. This is a daily practice just to make sure everything is in readiness for a sudden mission.

After breakfast he showed me all through his tank. It's so spotless you could eat off the floor. He is very proud of it, and had me sit in the driver's seat and start the engines to hear them sing. I was proud, too, just because he wanted me to.

ACCUSED OF FALSELY GETTING GASOLINE FOR ANOTHER'S CAR

A criminal information charging Lawrence McCaslin, an ironworker of 208 North Sixth street, with making false statements in applying for supplementary gasoline, automobile tires and inner tubes for an automobile that was not his, was filed yesterday by the Office of Price Administration in United States District Court at East St. Louis.

The information alleges that the automobile which McCaslin claimed as his own, was in reality owned by Lawrence Drewer of Collinsville, who entered a plea of guilty of mutilating tires on the car last summer and was fined $100.

SIX PASSENGERS INJURED IN HEADON TRAIN COLLISION

Six passengers suffered minor injuries today when a Wabash passenger train en route from St. Louis to Omaha collided head on with a freight train about one mile west of Gallatin, Mo.

The engine and first baggage car of the passenger train were derailed. None of the injured passengers required hospitalization. The passenger train left St. Louis at 8 o'clock last night. The collision occurred at 2:20 a. m.

WLB DENIES UNION REQUEST

The Regional War Labor Board at Kansas City denied a request today by the CIO United Steel Workers, local 1055, for a written union shop clause in its contract with the St. Louis Car Co.

The board directed, however, that the present oral agreement, which provides that after a 40-day probationary period all employes must become members of the union, be maintained. The agreement has been in effect two years. The union won union dues check-off, and a 5-cent an hour premium for second shift work.

W. T. TUFFLI ESTATE $92,659

Executors of the estate are his widow, Mrs. Cora D. Tuffli, 470 Crofton avenue, Webster Groves, and the Mercantile - Commerce Bank & Trust Co.

NLRB ASSIGNS GUFFEY HERE

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—The National Labor Relations Board yesterday announced appointment of William F. Guffey Jr. as regional director of its St. Louis (Mo.) office. He succeeds Ross Madden, transferred recently to the board's Baltimore office.

Guffey, formerly a Zanesville (O.) lawyer, has been with the board for six years. Since June, 1942, he has been the principal trial examiner working out of Washington, D. C.

LONG-PULL EARNINGS, STOCK BUYING FACTOR

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Buyers continued to show a decided preference for rails in today's stock market while giving the cold shoulder to many industrial leaders.

As in the preceding session, investment demand seemed based mainly on long-pull earnings prospects. The Russian war picture brightened sentiment to some extent but the Indian situation still was a source of apprehension marketwise. Thoughts of a nearby second front in Europe remained as an argument against broadening commitments in most departments.

Of the 864 issues traded in today, 331 were higher, 289 lower and 244 unchanged. Thirty-eight made new 1944 highs and seven new 1944 lows.

Shares at New Peaks.

Favorites were up fractions to more than a point near the close but losers of as much were widespread.

At peaks for 1 to 7 years were Union Pacific, Southern Railway preferred, Great Northern and Sinclair Oil. Front-liners included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway common, Delaware & Hudson, Atlantic Coast Line, Du Pont, Boeing and Western Union "A". Laggards were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and Goodrich.

Trend on the Curb.

Supported in the curb were Aluminum of America, Carrier Corp. and American Cyanamid "B." Electric Bond and Share and Glen Alden Coal slipped.

Ability of carrier securities to attract bidders was attributed to a variety of reasons. The railroads, it was contended, will have few serious reconversion problems when the world conflict is concluded. Large-scale debt reduction has put the majority in their best financial shape for many years. Net income, in addition, while well under that of last year, was viewed as encouraging from the standpoint of dividends and in relation to levels at which transportation issues generally have been selling.

REPORTS BY CORPORATIONS

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Robert E. Woodruff, president of the Erie Railroad, said at the annual stockholders' meeting that Erie's net income in the first three months of this year was estimated to have dropped 23 per cent from the same period last year.

Gross revenues were 10 per cent higher in this period, he said, but expenses increased around 21 per cent. Under the present tax law, he added, it was doubtful whether Erie could earn as much as $2 a share on the common stock this year. Last year's net income equaled $3.13 a share.

On the basis of the 1944 tax bill and the existing tax base, Woodruff said, Erie can earn $1.03 a share on the common stock before excess profits taxes become applicable.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—The report of International Paper Co. and subsidiaries for the year ended Dec. 31 disclosed net profit of $8,413,807, equal after dividend requirements on the preferred stock to $2.07 a share on the common stock. This compared with $7,814,319 or $1.74 a share in 1942.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP).—The Pennsylvania Railroad's estimated gross earnings for March are $85,546,000, M. W. Clement, president said, following the annual stockholders' meeting. This figure is 8.4 per cent higher than in March, 1943.

Estimated passenger revenue is 16.9 per cent higher than during the corresponding month last year and freight revenue is up 6.5 per cent, he added.

BOND MARKET TRENDS ARE MIXED EARLY

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Rail issues were generally higher in today's bond market and other corporate groups showed minor price variations in the late trading.

Carrier loans up a point or more included Boston & N. Y. Air Line 4s, Boston & Maine 4½s, Central Pacific 1st 4s and 5s, Western Pacific 1st 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s of '81, Northern Pacific 4s and N. Y. Central-Michigan Central 3½s.

Foreign dealings were mainly in South American bonds and prices were irregular. United States Governments held about even with the quotations of the previous day.

Late profit selling erased a part of the gains in some of the rails but a fair number closed around the highs. Burlington 4½s finished at 95⅞, up ¼, North Western 6½s at 95¼, up 2¼, and Rock Island 4½s of '52 at 48⅞, up ⅞.

In the Associated Press bond averages the 20 railroad bonds, the 10 foreign and 10 low-yield bonds all were at new high points for the year thus far. The 20 rails closed at 87.4, up .3; 10 industrials 105.3, unchanged; 10 utilities 106, up .1; 10 foreign 66.1, up .1, and 10 low-yield bonds 115.2, up .1.

Sales amounted to $10,259,900.

DIVIDEND MEETING RESULTS

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co. has declared an extra dividend of 25c and the regular quarterly dividend of 25c a common share, both payable May 1 to holders of record April 21.

Mercantile Stores, Inc., has declared dividends of 50c a common share, payable April 20 to holders of record April 15, and 50c a common share payable June 15 to holders of record June 1. Payments last year were $1 a share on June 15 and $1.50 a share on Dec. 10.

PERE MARQUETTE REPORT

CLEVELAND, April 11 (AP).—Increasing by nearly one-third the revenue freight tonnage handled last year as compared to 1942, the Pere Marquette Railway Co.'s gross operating income for 1943 was $55,052,804, an all-time high, the road's annual report disclosed today.

"Reflecting principally the impact of higher taxes," the report continues, "net income of $3,619,520 in 1943 was only $50,454 above the figure for 1942, notwithstanding the fact that operating revenues rose to a new high . . . exceeding those of 1942 by 24.2 per cent."

In 1942, the road's net earnings were $3,569,066, on gross operating revenue of $44,311,307. Net income last year was equivalent to $8.04 per common share, against $7.93 per share in 1942. No dividends were paid.

Net debt reduction accomplished in 1943 was $7,292,504, or 10.43 per cent.

U. S. TREASURY STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—The position of the Treasury April 8: Receipts $138,492,974.44; expenditures $355,339,188.22; net balance $14,970,111,602.67; total debt $186,914,522,910.53.

Weekly Bank Changes.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—Checking accounts in banks in 101 leading cities increased $212,000,000 during the week ended April 5, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

Demand deposits were up $208,000,000 in New York City banks and $65,000,000 in the San Francisco district, although they declined $111,000,000 in the Chicago district.

"Commercial, industrial loans" fell $90,000,000 during the week and total loans were off $248,000,000.

March Steel Production.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—March steel output aggregated 7,804,704 tons, compared with 7,186,482 in February and 7,672,522 in March, 1943, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported today. The record month was October, 1943, when 7,819,061 tons were made.

The industry operated at an average of 98.4 per cent of capacity last month, against 96.9 in February and 100 in March a year earlier.

"The chief factor holding down production," the organization said, "is a growing deficiency of man power, which is being made up by the employment of 50,000 women and by the lengthening of working time of remaining employes."

Construction Awards Off 56 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Construction contracts awarded during the first three months of 1944 in the 37 Eastern states totaled $47,867,000, a drop of 56 per cent from the $1,083,876,000 recorded for the corresponding period last year, the F. W. Dodge Corporation reported today.

St. Louis Clearings.

Local bank clearings for April 11 were $18,900,000. Debits to individual accounts for April 10 were $45,700,000.

GRAINS TURN LOWER IN WAKE OF CROP REPORT

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP).—Late nervousness developed in rye today after the grain pits had reacted only nominally to a Government crop report. Rye led the way downward.

Little buying interest was shown as selling of rye developed after a previous buying flurry. Wheat, in the face of a somewhat higher crop forecast than expected, was easier throughout the trade. Oats started with some vigor but faded, and barley felt the pinch of the selling of wheat and rye. Wheat selling was attributed to Southwestern interests, with some buying of July contracts credited to distilling interests.

Selling of September wheat was attributed to a house with Southwestern connections, with absorption of July offerings by commercial interests. Trade reports that the Government intends to speed livestock marketing by reductions in support prices resulted in profit taking by some longs. The rye market was quiet, and there was little trading in oats.

SLUMP IN CORN ON FARM; BIG WHEAT CROP

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP).—Marked improvement in winter wheat prospects due to good rains was noted by the Agriculture Department in estimating a 1944 crop of 601,759,000 bushels on the basis of April 1 conditions, or 72,153,000 bushels more than last year's production.

The most important change during the winter was in Western Kansas and the adjoining wheat sections in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado, where precipitation offset a moisture deficiency of last fall.

Nebraska was regarded as still in the balance, survival of the weakened plants being more uncertain and the outcome depending more on subsequent rainfall than in the territory from Kansas south.

The crop producing areas of the country, however, have had the wettest March since 1922, the department said, adding that either frequent rains or sonws have delayed farm work in nearly all states. Only in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and in the northern two-thirds of California the winter drouth has not been relieved, and prospects for crops and ranges are quite uneven "and locally discouraging," the report said.

A seeded yield of 12.8 bushels of winter wheat per acre is indicated as of April 1, a half-bushel above the 1943-42 average and a bushel less than last year.

It is estimated that slightly more than 15 per cent of the winter wheat acreage will not be harvested for grain. This is a much more favorable outlook than in December, but is indicative of loss of more acreage than occurred a year ago when about 10 per cent of the planted acreage was not harvested for grain.

Meanwhile, reduced grain stocks on farms on April 1 from last year are in evidence due to the feeding of record numbers of livestock and poultry.

A record disappearance of 882,551,000 bushels of corn from farms the first three months of this year caused a 19 per cent shrinkage in corn stocks from last year.

April 1 corn stocks on farms were estimated at 1,113,549,000 bushels compared with 1,374,748,000 a year earlier. Wheat stocks were set at 217,684,000 bushels against 825,387,000 a year ago; oats 418,255,000 bushels, compared with 504,869,000 in 1943 and soybeans 40,428,000 bushels compared with 54,350,000 bushels last year.

COTTON RALLIES INTO NEW SEASONAL HIGH GROUND

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Cotton rallied into new seasonal high ground today on aggressive trade and commission house buying which met only scale-up hedge selling and liquidation.

The market was favorably influenced by the War Manpower Commission order making 48-hour week mandatory in the textile industry which traders believe would stimulate consumption of cotton. Further reports of unfavorable early crop conditions also brought in new buying in distant futures. Near months moved up on heavy mill price fixing against Government textile awards.

Textile Market.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP).—Lack of goods prevented substantial sales in the cotton textile market today. The trade received a War Manpower Commission order placing the industry on a 48-hour week favorably, a step dictated by the heavy rate of Government textile buying which has created a scarcity of goods for the civilian market.

Offerings in the wool goods market were limited as mills concentrated on Government contracts. Activity in the clothing and garment trade continued active.

The rayon goods market was quiet.

Steel Rate Unchanged.

Steel ingot production by St. Louis interests was reported estimated at 79.4 per cent of capacity for the current week, unchanged from last week.

ERROL FLYNN LOSES ONE-BLOW FIGHT TO MARINE CAPTAIN

HOLLYWOOD, April 11 (AP). —It was Errol Flynn versus Capt. Dan Topping in another of Hollywood's celebrated one-punch fights Saturday night, it was disclosed yesterday.

The abbreviated battle took place at Sonja Henie's home after a birthday party for the blonde ice-skating star, wife of Capt. Topping, and Flynn, who took a brief count, was inclined to minimize the incident.

He said it occurred after most of the guests had gone home. Flynn, Miss Henie, Capt. Topping and the actress' mother were all in the library.

"It must have been a one-sided argument, because I wouldn't argue with Dan," declared the tall movie actor. "Anyway, I guess he hit me and I went down. He'd have to do a lot more before I'd hit him back."

The argument, whatever it was, was quickly patched up, Flynn said.

"After all, Dan is one of my best friends," declared Flynn. "If he can't hit me when he feels like it I don't know who can."

'Thoughtful Non-Use'

Ways to Utilize an Old 2-Cent Stamp

By Charles Fisher

WE meant to hoard a lot of things in our house before the new luxury taxes became effective last week; jools and precious furs and a gross or two of pink Morocco pocketbooks.

One thing or another intervened, however, and all we seem to have in any quantity, to speak of is 2-cent stamps. The trouble with us seems to be that hoarding is a luxury we can't afford. We should have saved up for it years back.

BUT THE 2-CENT STAMPS in themselves are something of a problem. Some day, we know, the box full will be bid for madly by collectors, but meanwhile what is going to happen to our investment? We must have at least a dozen 2s, and the only way to get them into circulation is to plunge and buy another dozen 1s. It sounds like sending good money after bad to us.

It might be better on the whole to let the letters they should have carried go unwritten and simply destroy the stamps, one by one. Thus, you could tear one up instead of mailing a note reading:

"DEAR GEORGE: We had a swell time at your house last night. I'll get the $7.40 it cost us to play bridge with your deck over to you as soon as possible. I'd send it now, but I haven't got a 3-cent stamp to my name. Your pal, Harry."

It's a very pretty economy. Another stamp might be destroyed, instead of being pasted on a message like this:

"DEAREST STELLA: I know you haven't been able to get a 'phone yet, so I'm writing this note to invite you and Bill and the seven children over to dinner next Sunday. Don't worry about points; we'll make ours stretch somehow. You know the hole your darling little Billy made in the plaster when he threw the soup bowl at the cat last time? Well, that's all fixed now and we've had the furniture re-upholstered where the twins were playing Superman. We're dying to see you all again. In fact, my Tom said it's a shame you'll never see this letter, but there isn't a 3-cent stamp in the House. Love, Mamie."

AND WE CANNOT help but suggest the destruction of still another stamp instead of this note to the local rationing board:

"Dear Sirs: I've just heard that the Mooklegooks across the street get more gas than we do. Well, you big lugs, if that's the way you feel about it you can take your gasoline and your car stickers and choke on 'em. I'm hereby turning in all my ration books. From now on we will walk, and live on nuts and berries. Pfooey to youse! Hector L. Ginglemumpf. P. S.: It's a good thing I haven't got a 3-cent stamp handy, or else I might send you this letter. H. L. G."

THERE SEEM TO BE more advantages in the situation the more closely it is examined. In fact, by thoughtful non-use of a dozen stamps, a family could contrive a very pleasant couple of months for itself: Burying, one after the other, mendacious thank-you notes for plastic cheese knife anniversary gifts; acceptances to invitations for instrumental concerts given by precocious little ones of 10; and promises to settle the entire bill by the next mail.

Perhaps a dozen stamps aren't even enough. Come to think of it, we might be in the market for more right now. We're willing to study offers, but the price has got to be right.

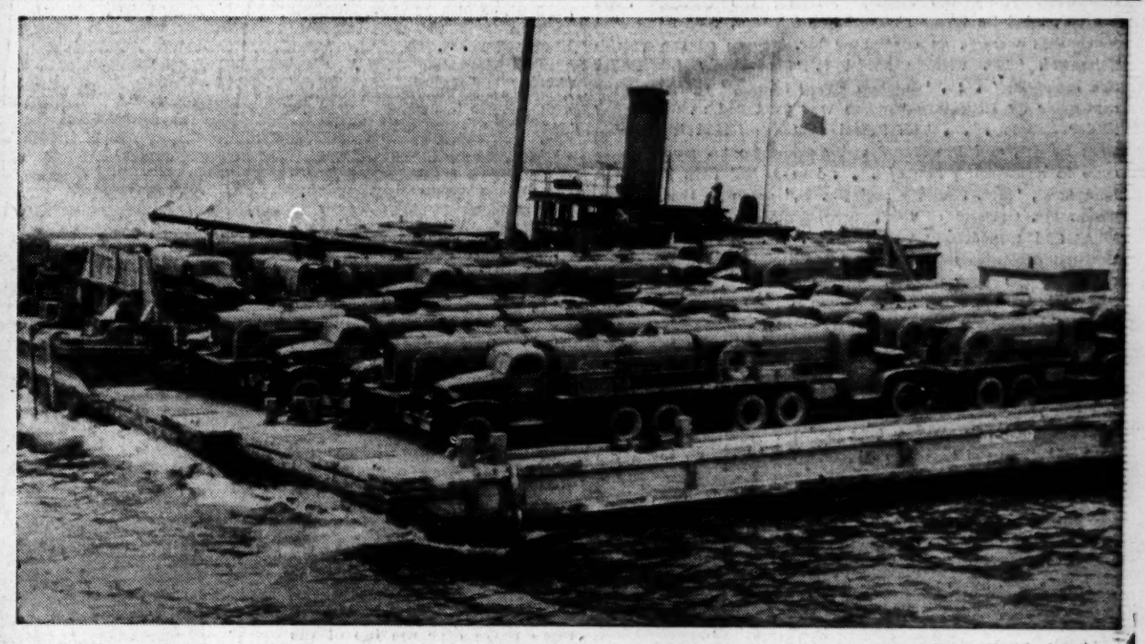

"I HOPE YOU DON'T MIND . . . WE LIKE TO HANDLE THE VALUABLE THINGS OURSELVES!"

BROADWAY

By WALTER WINCHELL

THE Show-Shops: "Follow the Girls" was the big scheduled event as this report rhumba'd to press. The suburban reporters embraced it. More anon . . . Earlier in the week "Only the Heart," starring the talented June Walker, tried its wings at the Bijou Theater, where the first journalists weren't as cordial as Mr. Rascoe of the World-Telegram. That witness found it "absorbingly interesting and satisfying" . . . "Chicken Every Sunday" (based on the best-seller by Rosemary Taylor) was produced at the Henry Miller temple . . . The initial audience found it crowded with laughs, and the News' critic called it: "A goofy cavalcade in a boarding house" . . . Zoe Akins' first play in a long spell, "Mrs. January and Mr. X," came to the Belasco, where Mr. Garland of the Journal-American voted it "wise, witty and wonderfully well acted" . . . The Ringling and Barnum & Bailey's Circus furnished the big excitement and attracted the best notices. Ernestine Clark, petite, pretty and 20, is the No. 1 hit . . . "Public Relations" arrived at the Mansfield Theater—where it suffered in agony.

THE MAGIC LANTERNS: "See Here, Private Hargrove" (a third MGM socko) is the biggest laff show in the cinema cathedrals. Robert Walker (of the Mme. Curie picture) is the person in it to yip about . . . "Cover Girl" lived up to all the advance raves. You seem to be enjoying a Ziegfeld Follies, not a film. Gene Kelly, Ritta Hayworth, Eve Arden—plus Jerome Kern's music, make it the big-time production Ziegfeld would have loved to sponsor . . . "The Lady and the Monster" (after many over-written adverts on the radio about its shudders, etc.) isn't that good. The ad-writers probably never saw it.

THE INTELLIGENTSIA: When the Herald Tribune changes Moscow correspondents (which is not frequently), only the man leaves Moscow. Behind him he leaves a lease on a comfortable apartment, grocery requisitions, an old fur coat and a second-hand sedan. All these must remain in the name of the newspaper . . . Paul Porter heard that George Jean Nathan, the critic, laughed during a new show . . . "The curtain," obesrved Paul, "must have hit some actor on the head!" . . . Sophie Tucker's autobiography will be Doubleday-Doran'd. The title: "Some of These Days," naturally . . . In one London humor mag there is a cartoon of a British officer walking with a WAC. The caption: "Say Pam, can you get your teeth into the idea of middle-aisling it with me?" . . . Sid Sheldon sends a $10 check for the Red Cross for the Tootsie Roll gag, which his press agent sent to a magazine without his knowledge . . . The Overseas Press Club is fed up and will start fighting for the many newspaper and radio men at the fronts, who are not allowed to wear campaign ribbons.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE C-215: Henry P., aged 35, is a chemistry teacher in high school. "I've been reading your psychology column regularly," he recently wrote to me. "It has done me a lot of good already, for I am a quiet, introvert who never had many friends. My students don't seem attracted to me, either, and they seem to shun my courses, though I feel that chemistry is the most interesting subject in the curriculum. Dr. Crane, how would you recommend that I go about the task of trying to popularize chemistry?"

HAVING HAD plenty of chemistry courses in high school, college and medical school, I can speak with a certain amount of experience. Chemistry should be most fascinating even to the average high school students. But most of our educational courses have been evolved by brain trusters who stay far away from real life situations. The courses treat of theories or deal with far-away situations like cracking hydrocarbons in the oil industry or the making of T. N. T. Even the college graduate who has had several chemistry courses, is thus stumped when his mother wants to know the answers to simple household problems such as how to remove ink stain from the table cloth or get chewing gum off the seat of a boy's pants.

THE WAY TO TEACH chemistry, or any other subject, is to start with concrete situations in the life of the student, whether they pertain to the kitchen or farm, office or factory. What are the common acids around the house in the foods used by the housewife? What are the alkalis? How could a student set up a modest chemistry laboratory if he were marooned on a desert island with a few glass or porcelain containers but no acids or alkalis immediately at hand? The average chemistry student in high school couldn't even become a good moonshiner, for he wouldn't know how to make ethyl alcohol if deposited on a farm. If a child swallowed some acid from a discarded auto battery, the average person in the home wouldn't know what to use to neutralize it.

ASK THE AVERAGE chemistry student what's in the juice of poison ivy? Ask him why apple juice will jell but not cherry juice. Ask him why acid fruits like lemons or grapefruit reduce the acidity of the body. See if he can explain such simple questions. Can crankcase oil be used to dilute paint? What is whitewash? What can you use to paint the basement walls so they will not "sweat," or drip water. If you chemistry professors will give your students a practical quiz like this, you'll be surprised at their dearth of useful chemical knowledge. Ask your students, moreover, if they can take a sample of soil and tell their mothers what kind of fertilizer it needs. Ask them why olive oil is digested by the body as a food but mineral oil is not. Ask them what happens when milk sours or butter grows rancid. Then can they tell you how to sweeten that rancid butter? See if they can inform you how to make a tree spray for codlin moths or insecticide for potato bugs or cockroaches. They will flounder around in embarrassment, no doubt, but of course they can tell you how to crack hydrocarbons or produce T. N. T., which knowledge not one in 10,000 high schoolers will ever have occasion to use!

Economical Menus For Tomorrow

By Meta Given

WHETHER Sally Lunn put sugar in her famous little baked items or not is not going to change our idea of what qualities we want in the bread we call Sally Lunn today . . . There is a yeast as well as a quick type of Sally Lunn, but the latter is the best known one. The mixing of this bread comes in between that of plain muffins and cake, but there is less sugar used. In fact, some recipes call for no sugar. If fruit is added, of course sugar is required for palatability. Baking may be done in muffin pans or in a shallow cake pan and then served cut in squares, rectangles or pie-shaped pieces as the shape of the pan requires. And to make it most pleasing, serve warm at least, and preferably hot.

Sally Lunn.

Two tablespoons margarine, three tablespoons sugar, one egg, separated, one cup sifted all-purpose flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup milk, one-half cup cubed cranberry jelly.

Cream the margarine, add the sugar and cream thoroughly. Add the egg yolk and beat well. Sift the flour, measure and resift with the baking powder and salt. Add the flour mixture and milk alternately, beginning and ending with the flour. Beat well and pour into a greased nine by nine inch pan. Bake at 400 degrees for five minutes. Sprinkle the cranberry cubes over the top of the batter and continue baking another 15 or 20 minutes or until golden brown. Serve immediately or while still warm. Four generous servings.

MENUS FOR WEDNESDAY.

Breakfast.

Luncheon.

Cream of tomato soup, boil three and one-half cups canned tomatoes, three sprigs of parsley, two whole cloves, small piece bay leaf, one small onion, two teaspoons sugar, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, for five minutes; rub through sieve, combine wth two and one-half cups thin white sauce; beat well and serve immediately. Vegetable salad, one cup coarsely grated carrot, one-half cup diced celery, one bunch radishes, two tablespoons slivered green pepper, one-third head lettuce, French dressing; Sally Lunn (see recipe above); apple sauce, frozen or home canned.

Dinner.

Braised veal steak, one pound sirloin, cut three-fourths inch thick; dip into beaten egg, combined with one tablespoon milk—then into fine dry bread or cracker crumbs. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Season with salt and pepper. Add one-half cup hot water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for one and one-half to two hours until tender. Add more water as needed during cooking. Make gravy from residue. Parsley potatoes, two pounds potatoes; buttered fresh peas, two pounds peas; cabbage salad, three cups finely shredded cabbage, one-half cup shredded pickled beets, one tablespoon minced green pepper, seasonings, mayonnaise; whole wheat rolls, eight bought; fresh pineapple, one fresh pineapple, sliced, peeled and diced, add sugar to taste, allow to stand several hours before serving; jam cake, half of remainder.

TODAY'S PATTERNS

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday

WE HAD children in the White House with us over Easter, and the youngest members of our family have acquired a little white Easter bunny. To the children who read my daughter's story about "Scamper" in the White House several years ago, there will be no surprise in the fact that this new bunny was promptly named Scamper. He was brought by some Waves as an Easter gift to Fala. I was a little afraid that even Fala's education might not have eradicated his natural instincts as far as rabbits are concerned, so their meeting was brief, and the bunny now resides in a box of his own.

We all attended the early Easter morning services at Arlington. This is always a very impressive ceremony to me. We walked out to the unknown soldier's tomb which, in a time of war, has a particularly poignant meaning. As the sentry walks up and down guarding the tomb, he must be thinking today of all the boys all over the world who will be represented in this war in this symbolic manner.

Here one should, without question, rededicate oneself to the effort to lay foundations on which peace may be built by the generation that fights the war in the immediate postwar period. These young people will undoubtedly have to rebuild this torn and tattered world. The process will be painful and will call for boldness, self-sacrifice, courage and vision.

As each step is taken in this rebuilding process, we will see a peaceful world being shaped, or we will see the steps that lead to war being carved out again by personal and national greed and self-interest.

I am doing a broadcast today in the Treasury Department's grandmother series. I thought I was doing pretty well with 13 grandchildren, but one of my co-grandmothers on this broadcast is far ahead of me. Like other grandmothers, I have been giving my grandchildren war savings stamps for birthday and Christmas presents ever since the war began, but since this is a special occasion, I think the youngest grandchild will have a bond of her own to mark it.

I must confess, however, that for the youngest members of my family I often try to have either a book or an inexpensive toy in addition to the savings stamps. Just lately I have been sent a charming little book called "Poffet and Pete," by Mrs. Margaret M. Pearson of Sidney, Australia, who has illustrated and printed the story herself. I gave it to one of the younger grandchildren.

Your Stars -o- By Marion Drew

Sun in Aries.

General Tendencies — Much clearing-up of old conditions seems evident for tomorrow. There may be some inspirational ideas, or "hunches," as they are usually called, and these will be generally reliable. But be sure to use all opportunities to finish with care all those left-over details which may seem uninteresting just now. You will gain in accordance with your preparations for the reception of more recent plans.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

There will not be many months which you can call really settled during the course of your coming 12 months. Affairs will seem tangled and many plans will be suddenly reversed. Perhaps your best method of meeting this condition is to map things out in a general fashion through May and June, then trust to luck later. Don't plan during December.

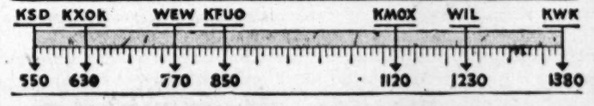

Tomorrow's Watchword.

This seems good to me: "The public buys its opinions as it buys its meat, or takes its milk, on the principle that it is cheaper to do this than to keep a cow. So it is, but the milk is more likely to be watered." So, do not take even my warnings and admonitions without combining them with a little of your own conviction, too; the result will be more suitable to your circumstances.

One-Woman Cleanup Squad.

Nothing for the Bride.

DES MOINES. — The State Board of Social Welfare has advised a 70-year-old woman it can't send out the state's money as wedding presents.

The woman wrote the board saying she was leaving the assistance rolls because she was being married, but wanted the board to send her one more check as a marriage gift.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I N A few weeks I am to be married, but wonder if I am making a mistake. I thought I knew Jim pretty well, but now that I have seen more of him I wonder. That is, more of him around where other people are. For since we've become engaged he wants me to know all his family and his close friends, be fond of the things he's fond of, etc., and I feel the same way about him knowing mine. But I find I can't care for his family. I never feel at home with them, and he has habits I'd like to break him of. There are things about him I think should be changed. Can I work on them after we are married. They aren't serious really. Or had I better break the engagement? I hate to do this so short a time before the wedding. People are sure to talk and to wonder. LOLLIE.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

If you feel this way about your fiance now you had better not risk that marriage. If you marry the poor innocent chap and then tell him everything about him is all wrong, from his family to his brand of tobacco, you will both be in for it. Never marry anyone with the idea you are going in for wholesale, drastic changes. You can't go around and cheerfully exterminate his family and closest friends. They will remain on earth as long as you will, to plague you. Heredity and environment got in their licks with Jim long before you ever met him, and all the king's horses can't pull him apart now and make him over, to say nothing of little you. Weakness of character, personal habits, family connections, friends of long standing you should be sure you can accept, without taking too many tucks in your intended. No engagement should be unalterably final. It would be better, it seems to me, for you to sacrifice a little pride, overlook a bit of possible gossip about you, than to enter into a marriage with a man about whom you have so many misgivings.

Dear Martha Carr:

THERE SEEMS about to be a break in our family and I feel I can't bear it, we have all been so close. My husband has found out that my mother has been going out with another man. This man pretends to be a friend of my dad's, is married himself and has a swell wife. He and mother are both in their fifties. This has been going on for a year, but a person hates to admit such a thing when it happens to one of the persons she loves most. Daddy is so good and trusting and works so hard, and I fear there will be terrible trouble when he finds out. What can I do? DESPERATE.

Because of the occupation of this man, which I did not print, it could well be that he is simply polite, goes out of his way to be friendly to your mother, because her husband is an old friend. The whole thing may be perfectly innocent. One can't always judge by appearances, you know. But even if it is only this, and your mother is being talked about, I think you would be doing a kindness to let her know it. If you put it to her in that way, that perhaps she doesn't realize how long she lingers talking to this man, how often they have been seen sitting together, or conversing, or walking home together since both go the same way, she might get to thinking. For the sake of two families, then, which she surely does not want to involve in a scandal, I am sure your mother will see to it that nothing more goes on which can endanger her reputation.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM ENGAGED to an Army officer stationed in Texas. We miss each other dreadfully and he wants me to go to his camp and be married. Mother is going along with me, and both families are delighted about the wedding. Mother is very anxious to make my wedding cake herself, and take it along with us. Do you think this will be all right? What kind of clothing shall I take with me? I expect to remain as long as my husband is stationed there. L. R.

If she wants to bake the cake herself and take it along I see no reason why your mother should not do so! Providing of course, that you pack it carefully so it will not be crushed and will remain fresh. In addition to whatever you intend to wear to be married in, take along the usual spring and summer clothing you would be using here at home. If you are still there in the fall your mother can send you whatever you need. My Guide for the Bride will be helpful to you. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will mail it to you.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

ACCORDING to established custom, wedding presents are sent to the bride alone, even though given because of the bridegroom. When the wedding present is a war bond (as an increasing number of today's wedding presents are) and is to be sent to the bride before the wedding day, the bond should be registered in her maiden name—Mary Jones. This is because legally there is as yet no Mary Jones Smith (her future name).

There is, however, the exceptional instance when a devoted relative of the bridegroom's who is giving a generous amount, naturally wants to include him. In this case, either the bond is presented after the ceremony on their wedding day and in that event may be legally registered:

Richard Lee Smith

*(The prefix Mrs. is a legal requirement making him co-owner with her. Or it would be quite proper and not unusual to divide the amount and give one bond to her and one to him.

DEAR MRS. POST: Is it incorrect to divide the check in actual amounts when several couples are out in a restaurant? Some of our friends always suggest dividing the total check equally and my husband thinks this is very unfair to some of the couples, who order very moderately.

Answer: It is certainly not incorrect, for each to pay for his exact order. The only difficulty is that now, when every restaurant is short-handed, it is unfair to ask for three or four separate checks at one table. Therefore, whether the diners choose to pick out their own items and settle their accounts with whoever is the banker, is something that they alone can decide. When there is very little difference between each amount, dividing the total by the number of men is undeniably the simplest way for each to settle his share. But if one is very extravagant and another obliged to be frugal, it is hardly fair to the latter.

Hypnotism Accepted As Science

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE average citizen probably thinks of hypnotism as more or less in the same class as palmistry, phrenology, spiritualism, table tipping and crystal gazing. As a matter of fact this is unfair. Hypnotism is a perfectly real, proved scientific possibility. Anyone can hypnotize and anybody can be hypnotized. Essentially the hypnotic state can be caused by the rhythmic stimulation of a single sense.

Put a rooster on the floor with his eye glued to a straight chalk line and pretty soon he will fall over in a trance. He has had his sight rhythmically stimulated. Or put a person in a dark room, in a condition of relaxation, and ring a little bell every so often and the trance will result from the rhythmic stimulation of the sense of hearing. Rhythmic touches or stroking of the face and arms will do the same thing.

In the hypnotic state the subject is very suggestible and his judgment is suspended: he will do things that he is told, although they are ridiculous. Sometimes he can do things that he cannot do voluntarily in the waking state.

SEVERAL MISCONCEPTIONS about hypnotism are that one can be hypnotized against his will: that is not true, although when a subject has been hypnotized several times he goes into a trance very readily. Also it is not true that the hypnotist can steal the will of the hynotized subject. That is a holdover from the old novel Trilby by George du Maurier.

Hypnotism has been used in medical treatment for many years. There is currently a revival of it led by a New York psychologist, Mr. Andrew Salter, who has written a book What Is Hypnosis? (published by Richard R. Smith, New York).

Mr. Salter has had a great deal of success in treating patients with nervous troubles — nail-biting, stuttering — and also alcoholics. He appears to be particularly successful with patients who are troubled with general shyness. He has had success in 19 out of 20 patients sent to him.

There is nothing surprising about this as it has been known to the medical profession for years. A Dr. Esdraille, at about the time surgical anaesthesia was introduced (1845-1850), claimed that in India where he practiced he had been performing surgical operations on natives for years, without the use of any drug for anaesthesia—merely hypnosis. He came to England, however, and found it did not work on the less susceptible Anglo-Saxon personality.

THE NEW PART of Mr. Salter's thesis is that autohypnosis is possible and that the subject can make suggestions which he carries out in the hypnotic trance "exactly," says Mr. Salter, "as I would give them and with the same effect if not better." Through inducing hypnosis upon one's self by autohypnosis and self-suggestion it may be possible for soldiers to be freed of fear and to feel no pain when wounded. Mr. Salter has trained "three physically and mentally healthy adults to remain completely insensible to pain and the sound of gun fire in the waking state." They can turn this state on and off by themselves. Mr. Salter is trying to persuade military authorities to allow autohypnosis in the armed forces. It will, he believes, render 20 to 25 per cent fear-free in battle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Answer: (1) By eating one-fourth as much as he does. (2) He can't.

H. H. S.:—Have read a book by a Russian on "Middle age is what you make it" who says that middle-age folk do not need alkalinizing. They need all the acid they can get. Others say take bicarbonate: it won't hurt you: Who shall decide when such authorities disagree?"

Answer: Who called them authorities? The Russian sounds like a fake. Soda bicarbonate won't hurt you at any age. But that it changes your chemistry is something else. The human body is neutral in reaction from birth to death, and preserves its neutrality fiercely. When you really get acid or alkaline you are in real trouble.

The Case Against War Marriages

Rector of Little Church Around the Corner Tells Why Most of Them Fail

By F. A. Behymer

IF Dr. Randolph Ray, rector of New York's Little Church Around the Corner, were inclined to be facetious, which he is not, he might say one war at a time is enough. He is against war weddings. His position is that war is one thing and that marriage is something else, and that they shouldn't be mixed, lest the marriage that is supposed to be made in heaven become the hell that war is known to be.

Dr. Ray's conclusions, soberly drawn, are based on a vast experience, for there have been more than 50,000 weddings in the Little Church during the 20 years that he has been its rector. His views are seriously set forth in a book, "Marriage Is a Serious Business" (Whittlesey House, New York), with timely reference to the war weddings that he discourages, and why.

Broadly speaking, he discourages wartime marriages because he is convinced that the vast majority of them are hurried, impulsive affairs to which little thought has been given, and in which people are marrying on the slightest acquaintance. He marries them if they insist and if there is no other impediment, but he dissuades them if he can, pointing out the danger of war weddings. But it seldom does any good.

"Except your own," the rector cuts in.

Yes, except his own, but listen: "When I met Jane, I fell in love with her at once, but I made up my mind I would not marry her while the war was on. Then I spent 18 months on Guadalcanal. Living in that hell, I made up my mind that if I lived long enough to get back, and she would marry me, I would have a few weeks of happiness."

There it was, and it was something deeper than it sounded. It was, as the wise rector knew, the urge for self-perpetuation. It was something that could not be lightly dismissed. Still——

In this as in all the war marriages, the day of peace will come. "Then the uniform will be gone and the hysteria of war. The stranger will be a husband. If his interests and tastes, his culture and sense of values, his attitude toward life, his religion and his background are similar to his wife's, they will have a fair opportunity of coming out all right." If these favorable conditions are not present, look out. Therefore Dr. Ray advises that before a war marriage is performed, four questions should be considered and answered honestly:

Do you really know each other?

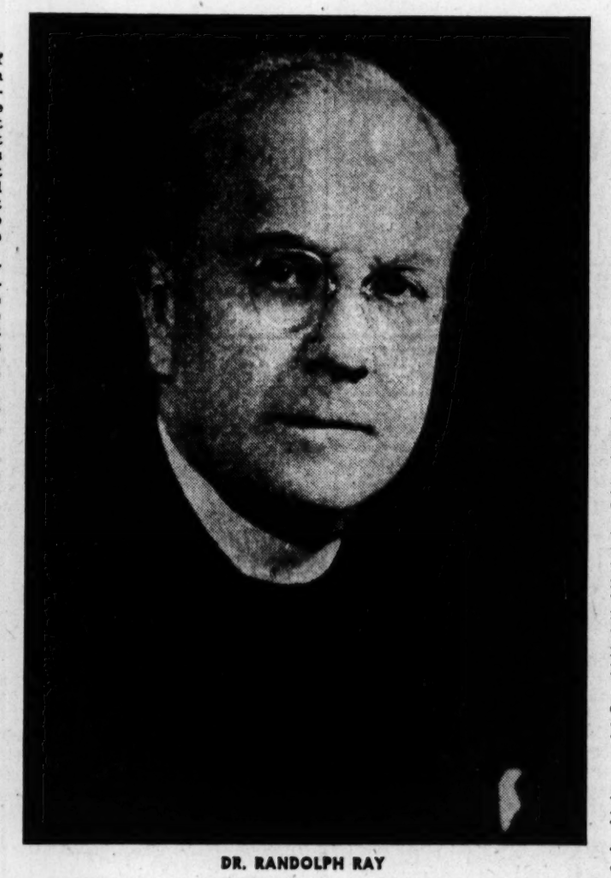

Have you similar backgrounds and interests?

Are you both really in love?

Does the girl realize that when her husband returns he may be a stranger to her?

The need of asking such questions, and the answers that they evoke, confirm Dr. Ray in his opposition to war marriage as a rule—"because it lacks so many of the requirements of an enduring marriage." He particularizes:

"It is performed in haste, often with little knowledge on either side. In peacetime there is a chance for adjustment. In wartime there is little or none. Instead, there is separation. The man is sent away to new lands and new experiences. The woman remains behind, alone, not sharing those experiences. Instead of a close link being forged between them, a gulf is dug, across which it will take infinite patience and intelligence and good will to build a bridge.

DR. RANDOLPH RAY

With a story the rector points up this danger—

In the last war a young couple married just before he was shipped to France. He returned, impatient to see his wife, eager to go home and begin at last their life together. The girl met him at the pier but not as he expected. When he took her in his arms, she drew away from him coolly.

"What's the matter?" he asked in surprise. "Let's go home so I can talk to you."

"What do you mean?" he demanded, dazed and unbelieving.

"I have not been true to you," she said. "I am sorry to let you down like this, but I can't help it. It is impossible for us to go on with our marriage. I want a divorce as soon as possible."

But he did not kill the other man. The next day he shot and killed himself.

In another case it was the other way around. They were married during the war and the man was sent to England. "When he returned everything seemed to be all right, and he and his wife were apparently perfectly happy. Then one day an English woman appeared at the door with her marriage certificate and her baby. And another war marriage went on the rocks."

Wars increase weddings. In 1942, following Pearl Harbor, 1,800,000 marriages were performed in the United States. At the Little Church alone, where much dissuasion is exercised, there have been more than 2000 military weddings. Dr. Ray fears that, as in the last war, these marriages will often end in divorce. There are exceptions, of course. There are times when Dr. Ray thinks that a couple who have known each other only a little while will make a go of it, and marries them. If the woman is between 25 and 30 he feels better about it, for he believes that, both in peace and war, the odds are in favor of the woman between those ages.

War marriages are easy, if not at the Little Church then somewhere else, but Dr. Ray reminds that while it is easy to get into a war marriage it is not so easy to get out, for the Federal Government, to protect the war husband's interests, has decreed that his wife cannot divorce him, whatever the provocation, without his consent and co-operation.

War brides know that their husbands may be killed in battle. What a war bride doesn't consider, Dr. Ray says, is that her husband may be wounded or maimed, that the life they have planned together may be altered beyond all expectation. There was the case of a beautiful woman who married a soldier in the last war. He returned to her shell-shocked, practically a mental invalid. None the less, she was bound to him, and when her parents refused to give her any assistance in what they termed her quixotic attitude, she learned to support herself and her husband.

When it comes to war babies, Dr. Ray is against them too. His case against them is that a young couple need a certain length of time to make their adjustments to one another before they are ready to adjust to a child. They need to be secure financially, and the child requires not only a mother but a father to help it to develop properly. In time of war all of these factors are wanting. In such matters, however, the rector's advice seems to have little effect. There are as many christenings as marriages these days at the Little Church Around the Corner. The reasons:

Men who wish to avoid going to war decide to have children at once, so that they may be deferred. Dr. Ray doesn't think this is as general as some Government officials suspect.

Although more marriages take place at the Little Church Around the Corner than anywhere else in the world, it is probably the most difficult church in which to be married. In a single year 500 applications for wedlock were refused because the applicants failed to give evidence of any real sincerity, or any faith or desire that their marriages would last.

Dr. Ray has five cardinal rules for a happy marriage which he offers to brides, war or otherwise:

Be kind.

Don't lose your temper.

Cultivate faith in God and in each other.

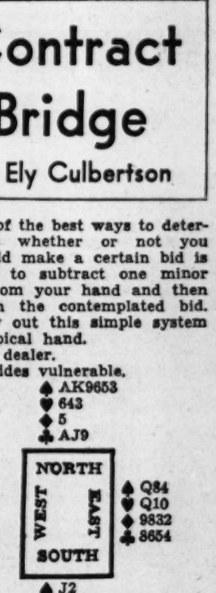

His favorite bit of advice to young couples is, "Now, don't both get mad at the same time." If, after all that good advice, the marriage is a flop, what then? Says Dr. Ray: "Personally, while I believe firmly that marriage should be a permanent relationship, I think that when people are too utterly unlike, it is criminal to keep them together. There are always exceptional cases for which divorce should be made more elastic."

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

ONE of the best ways to determine whether or not you should make a certain bid is mentally to subtract one minor honor from your hand and then to weigh the contemplated bid. Let's try out this simple system on a typical hand.

North, dealer.

The bidding, as it occurred in a prominent New York club:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	5 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

South went down one at his five diamond contract, whereas three no trump or four spades would have been absolutely cold. Subsequently, East-West won the rubber.

After his defeat, South said that he had considered his hand strong enough to contract for 11 tricks, and that he had not been too confident about making three no trump because North might well have made that bid with only one stopper in clubs. In all justice, this was a possibility, but it certainly was not the vital factor for South to consider when the three no trump call reached him. What he should have done was to make a mental substitution of the diamond jack, or even the ten, for a lower card, and to look at his hand this way:

♠ J 2 ♥ A K 7 5 ♦ A Q 10 6 2 ♣ 10 3

With this, no reasonably good player would think about jumping to five diamonds, nor about "disturbing" the three no trump contract, and thus South would have been put on the right track, which was a simple "pass." A jack more or less is not a sound basis for bidding for two tricks more or less!

Egg whites whip up more quickly when they are at room temperature. Add a pinch of salt to egg whites just before beating to get greater volume.

Creamed Chicken

Two cups cooked chicken, cut coarsely; one cup chicken stock, one cup light cream, three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, dash of rosemary, salt and pepper to taste.

Melt butter. Remove from stove and blend in flour. Return to stove, add stock and cream and stir constantly until thickened. Add seasonings and chicken. Place over hot water until chicken is hot.
